Hope Dims for 75 Men on Submarine Sunk in Channel

Craft Sends Out Faint Signals; Time Is Reported to Be Running Out

Portsmouth, Eng., April 18 (AP)—Faint underwater signals spurred a blind search today for the British submarine Affray, stuck on the bottom of the English Channel. Time was swiftly running out for any of the 75 officers and men aboard who might still be alive.

The submarine, trapped in the initial dive of a training cruise, had been under 198 feet of water for 40 hours when the Royal Navy announced at mid-afternoon it had been unable to make any physical contact with the craft. Its normal oxygen supply would last the men on board 40 hours.

A naval expert said reserve supplies might let the 75 aboard live another eight hours, but "that means by 2100 hours (3 p. m., E.S.T.) the situation inside the vessel would be extremely dangerous."

The last faint signals from the submarine were heard at 8:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., E.S.T.). Then came hours of ominous silence. There was an atmosphere of mystery about it.

Question of Escape

Why, the rescue crews asked, could not the trapped men begin coming to the surface through escape hatches, using emergency breathing gear? Why had the submarine failed to release its emeregncy marker buoy to guide rescue craft? Why, if there had been disaster, had the rescue fleet failed to find any debris or even an oil slick?

The Admiralty said the signals, from a supersonic telegraph set, were so weak that rescue ships were unable to fix the exact position of the luckless undersea craft.

The only previous signal from the sub, heard 12:50 a. m. today (6:50 p. m. EST Tuesday), had led the rescue fleet of 25 ships to the area 30 miles southwest of the Isle of Wight.

The rescue fleet which had scoured a 2,000 square mile area since yesterday morning located the affray in almost exactly the area where the sub had submerged on Monday night, at the start of what was to be an underwater training cruise.

Area Is Ringed

A large circle of ships ringed the rescue area this morning. In their center two sister submarines bobbed on the gentle swell.

The outer ring of vessels included small craft carrying doctors and nurses. Also waiting in the outer circle were salvage craft and pontoons capable of lifting the sunken sub to the surface.

It was sunny and mild on the channel this morning, but easterly breezes raised a slight swell. The Admiralty said, however, that conditions for a rescue operation were good.

Submarines of the affray class have three hatches with canvas escape chambers attached. Trapped men pass through the chambers and out the hatches, one at a time. They are equipped with portable breathing apparatus for the time necessary to reach the surface.

58 Take Physicals

Local Draft Board 19 (county) sent 58 men to Albany today for pre-induction examination. This completed the local schedule for this month and the next calls for men are expected to be received here within the next few days.

Philadelphia, April 18 (AP)—The nation's third city has adopted its ninth charter in 267 years and the first providing home rule.

Iroquois Claim Part Of State of Vermont

Montpelier, Vt., April 18 (AP)—The Iroquois Indian tribe from the Lake Two Mountain reservation in Quebec, Canada, claim they own about a quarter of the state of Vermont.

Two members of the tribe will appear before a special joint session of the Vermont House and Senate Claims Committee Thursday to press that claim.

The tribe says the section is between Lake Champlain and the Green mountains, including Franklin, Chittenden, Addison, and Grande Isle counties and the northern part of Rutland county.

Schilling Says His Plant Will Stay

Furniture Maker Assures 50 Employes Jobs Are Secure

Francis J. Schilling, Jr., vice-president of the F. J. Schilling Furniture Company, Inc, of 107 Greenkill avenue, today assured The Freeman that the company would remain in Kingston and continue to produce its present line of furniture.

On Tuesday it became known that the Schilling company had contracted to sell the building which it now occupies to the Pilgrim Furniture Company which will vacate its present plant on the site of the former Barmann Park just across Greenkill avenue. The Pilgrim plant was recently sold to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Commpany which it is reported will be used as a records storage building by the insurance company.

Schilling stated that only the building had been sold and his firm would continue to manufacture its present line of furniture. The Schilling Furniture Company gives employment to approximately 50 employes. At the present time, Schilling said, no decision has been made as to a new location.

Orchid Blooms for Mac

Glen Cove, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—An orchid named for Gen. Douglas MacArthur four years ago burst into full bloom Sunday, a month ahead of schedule. The flower is in the small greenhouse of orchid fancier Dr. H. Davis Ackerly. Neighbors have been visiting the greenhouse ever since to view the orchid's coincidental tribute to the home-coming general. Dr. Ackerly said the Douglas MacArthur orchid usually blooms in late May. "It is definitely a coincidence, anyway," he said.

Army Cuts May Draft to 40,000; To Free Reserves

Increase Among Volunteer Enlistments Reason —Reservists Are to Get Break

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The army today cut its May draft call from 60,000 to 40,000 men.

The action follows the halving of the April call which was cut from 80,000 to 40,000. Both cuts were based on the increase of volunteer enlistments, the army said.

Since January 64,000 men have volunteered for the army. This is 34,000 more than the army anticipated.

The army said lighter than expected casualties in Korea also influenced the decision to reduce the number of men needed through the draft.

To Release Reservists

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg said today the army hopes by September to begin releasing enlisted reservists who were called to duty involuntarily.

She testified before a House Armed Services Subcommittee which is holding hearings on the reserve program.

Mrs. Rosenberg added that the army also has planned to release other reservists, officer and enlisted.

She said the marine corps will begin releasing its inactive reservists in June, 1951, and plans that by July 1952 no marine reservists will be on active duty involuntarily.

The navy and air force are slated to release their inactive enlisted reservists next July.

Speaking of reservists in general, Mrs. Rosenberg said they will be "returning to civilian life in substantial numbers by October."

"Naturally, the fulfillment of all these plans is dependent on there being no deterioration of the international situation," she said.

Hit the Jackpot

Lawrenceville, Ill., April 18 (AP)—State's Attorney Philip Benefiel gambled yesterday and won 15 cents and a police court case. Glenn Parks had filed suit to recover 15 slot machines which were seized in a raid at his home last week. He contended they were just cabinets of wood, brass and aluminum and were not workable as slot machines. Benefiel walked over, put a nickel in one of the machines and pulled the handle. Four nickels came out. Magistrate Roy Walter ruled against Parks.

Legion Post Selects Slate For Annual June Elections

The nominating committee of Kingston Post No. 150, American Legion, last night submitted the name of Andrew J. Murphy, 3rd., as its selection for commander.

Three names, Sherwood Davis, Robert Ross and John Weber, were selected for the office of vice-commander.

Nominations will be accepted from the floor at the May meeting and the election will be held in June.

Other selections of the committee were: Howard Stephens, treasurer; Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., adjutant; Clarance E. Brown, chaplain; Irvin DeWitt, historian; Donald G. Moore, service officer; Charles Shultis, welfare officer; Leon Cady, sergeant-at-arms, and Thomas Maines, athletic officer.

Lester Elmendorf, Sr., was selected for trustee.

Serving on the nominating committee were: Morgan D. Ryan, chairman; Andrew J. Murphy, Jr., Roy E. Jacob, Lester C. Elmendorf, Sr., and Morton Finch.

The legionnaires voted to invite the Veterans of Foreign Wars to use the Legion facilities during the V.F.W. district convention to be held here in June.

S/Sgt. Charles Awkerman, local marine recruiting officer, recounted some of his own and his father's experiences in Legion activities.

A report on the Legion bowling team said it will leave Saturday for Syracuse to participate in the state Legion tournament.

Fight Over WageBoard Boiling On

Abundant Stocks

Labor and Industry Are Still at Odds Over Way to Fix Pay

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The labor-industry fight over new wage board powers boiled on today. But a top administration official claimed the stop-inflation drive is starting to pay off.

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said last night that the inflationary spiral is being checked at last. In fact, he said prices for consumers goods may take a tumble in the next few months because of abundant factory stocks.

Johnston conceded that "we have not yet been successful" after two months of effort in settling the Wage Stabilization Board stalemate. He questioned legality of a proposal recommended to the President yesterday. This revived speculation that a wage board of all public members may soon be established.

Up to now the administration has been trying to put a board of labor, industry and public members back into business.

Labor, which yanked its representatives from such a wage board and all other defense agencies in February, wants a new wage board empowered to handle all sorts of labor disputes, including wages and virtually every type of working condition.

Industry wants the wage board confined to settling wage matters alone.

Plan for New Board

President Truman's 17-man Mobilization Advisory Board came up with a plan for a new board late yesterday. It was approved by the Advisory Board's public, labor and farm members, with industry's four members dissenting in the 12-4 vote. The chairman, Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, did not vote.

The plan of the Advisory Board's majority would have an 18-member board of public, labor and industry members settle all disputes certified by Mr. Truman, as well as all disputes labor and management agreed to have the board act upon.

Vigorous protests came immediately from William H. Ruffin, president of the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) and from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Both the NAM and Chamber statements protested such a board could not legally be put into effect over industry's protests.

Industry Must Assent

Johnston disclosed to a reporter that Attorney General McGrath's office has so ruled—that a dispute-settling board such as that recommended by the Mobilization Advisory Board is barred unless industry assents.

Johnston's remarks about inflation being checked and the wage board situation still being deadlocked were made in an address last night to Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal fraternity.

He said economic controls will be necessary for the next two years while the nation completes its rearming program and, while the curbs are "going to be tough," they will be better than the alternative of run-away inflation.

The Rev. Henry E. Herdegen, pastor of St. Peter's Church, was reported in critical condition today at the Benedictine Hospital where he is undergoing treatment for a coronary condition. He was admitted to the hospital April 14.

Washington, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur plans to appear tomorrow at the DAR convention and the meeting of newspaper editors here, Rep. Martin (R-Mass.) announced today.

Allies Push Near Town In Red Zone

Eighth Army Reports Signs of General Withdrawal on West Front

Troops Slug On

Little Opposition Met East and North of Yanggu

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—Allied troops advanced 2,000 to 3,000 yards on the west Korean front today behind heavy air and artillery attacks.

The Reds gave that ground—1 1/3 to 2 miles—grudgingly.

The big gains were south and southeast of Chorwon, a five-highway hub about 19 miles inside Red Korea.

One Allied infantry team pushed up a valley road within two miles of the rubbled city. The doughboys met Chinese mortar and rifle fire and withdrew.

A tank force lunged into the Red lines near Chipyong and killed 100 Communists. Chipyong is seven miles southeast of Chorwon and seven miles southwest of Kumhwa.

Wednesday's gains carried the main Allied line to about eight miles south of Chorwon.

Chorwon and Kumhwa are the western bases of the Red buildup area where an estimated 600,000 Communist combat troops were deployed.

The Reds retreated slowly in the west but they stood and fought for Hwachon, the eastern base of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwachon triangle.

Two Allied thrusts at the Hwachon dam were turned back Wednesday.

One was a frontal attack on the dam itself. The other was a flanking movement across the Pukhan river east of the dam. Both bogged down under heavy Communist fire.

Troops Slug Ahead

Allied foot troops slugged ahead with little opposition east and north of Yanggu on the western tip of the hugh Hwachon reservoir. Some Communist mortar fire was reported.

Tanks ranged east and northwest of Yonchon on the west central front without meeting Communist forces. The tanks destroyed 70 tons of Red ammunition southwest of Kumhwa.

Russian-made jets returned briefly Wednesday to the North Korean skies. Twenty-five MIG-15s darted across the Manchurian border and tangled with 16 American F-80 Sabre jets.

One MIG was damaged in the 15 minute dogfight that swirled at 30,000 feet. All allied planes returned to their bases.

Allied commanders said the grinding United Nations attack in Red Korea presumably has thrown the Chinese and Korean Communists completely off balance. Chinese war prisoners said the Reds' spring offensive was set for April 11. That was one week ago. The Reds still are committing their troops piecemeal in rear-guard delaying actions.

May Feel Hard Blows

It was evident in several spots that the Reds either were pulling back to new defense positions or reeling from the powerful UN air and artillery attacks.

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes pounded Red troop positions and supply bases all day Wednesday.

Two tanks were destroyed near Chaeryong. Rail lines were cut in many places. Pilots reported several field gun positions knocked out and many Communist troops killed or wounded.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said an estimated 1,515 Communist troops were killed or wounded Tuesday in ground action alone.

Allied naval forces Tuesday pounded east and west coast tar-

Senator Also Forecasts Shelving of Cain Alternate

Washington Republican Suggests Withdrawal of United States Forces From Korea; President Gets Chance to Reply

Washington, April 18 (AP)—A Senate Democratic leader today promised a "sky-is-the-limit" inquiry into Far Eastern policy and the clash of opinions which led to the ousting of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee said it intended the "widest possible" investigation in cooperation with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He was speaking of the scope when saying the sky was the limit.

Russell opposes a Republican move to create a special Senate-House committee of 24 to investigate foreign and military policies with particular reference to the differences between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur.

There appeared little prospect anything would some from a move by Senator Cain (R.-Wash.) for either (1) a declaration of war against Communist China and North Korea, or else (2) a withdrawal of United States forces from Korea.

Cain introduced this two-point proposition contrary to advice from some of his Republican colleagues. Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic floor leader, told reporters he thought it would be quietly tucked away in a committee pigeon hole.

Cain's action was another of the stormy repercussions in the wake of President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who goes before a Senate-House meeting tomorrow to outline his Far Eastern policy views in general terms.

Mr. Truman had an opportunity to speak out, if he chose at a news conference today (4:30 p. m. E.S.T.).

MacArthur, flying from Tokyo, is due to arrive here from San Francisco after midnight, about

White House Says 'Mac' CouldHaveAppointment

However, MacArthur Is Expected to Await Bid; Ceremony Is Changed

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.) today urged President Truman to meet with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and confer with him on the Far Eastern situation.

O'Conor said he telegraphed the President that "such a meeting was due General MacArthur for his distinguished services to our country, and would counteract the confusion current among our people as to future American policies in the Far East."

The White House had said MacArthur would be welcome to see the President, if he asked an appointment, but that no appointment had been sought.

In San Francisco, a spokesman for MacArthur said there was little likelihood of a Truman-MacArthur meeting unless a direct invitation came from the White House.

President Truman has assigned his army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, to represent him at greetings to MacArthur on the general's arrival here.

Press Secretary Joseph Short told reporters today that Mr. Truman does not intend to attend any of the functions for MacArthur.

Short said yesterday the White House had received a few telegrams and telephone calls of protest that Mr. Truman was not

State Education Aid Hits Record For Ulster County

State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern today reported Ulster county's share of a record payment in state aid for education at $1,131,979.30.

Of this the supervisory district was listed for $651,038.29, Kingston for $404,206.49 and Saugerties for $76,734.52.

The state apportionment to cities, villages and other school districts totals $117,838,623.41, and is the largest payment ever made by the state at one time for one purpose.

The new peak is $3,636,978.15 higher than the previous record distributed a year ago. New York city receives $40,223,069.99 of the total.

Thirty other so-called deferred payment cities are receiving a total of $12,637,608.68. The remaining cities and villages are receiving a total of $22,903,391.83, and the supervisory districts, $42,074,553.01.

Body Is Cremated

London, April 18 (AP)—The body of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was cremated today at a private service attended only by relatives, close friends and government and trade union associates. Bevin, who died Saturday at the age of 70, once was a Baptist lay preacher. At the request of his family a Baptist minister conducted today's service.

Port Ewen Voters Favor Sending Pupils to Kingston

At a special meeting of the voters of Port Ewen School District No. 13, town of Esopus, held Tuesday evening on motion of D. H. Dunbar those present voted to give the trustees of the district power to contract with the Board of Education of Kingston for the instruction of the seventh and eighth grade pupils. Of the 42 votes cast there were 39 in favor and three against the proposition.

It was also voted to give the trustees power to raise by taxation a sum sufficient to cover the cost of transportation of these pupils to and from the Kingston schools. This proposal was voted by a 40 to 2 vote.

By thus contracting with the Kingston Board of Education for the instruction of these pupils it will relieve a serious congestion problem in the Port Ewen school and also give these pupils an opportunity to receive instruction as required by the New York State Board of Education for which the Port Ewen school was not equipped.

The state now requires any new school teaching through the eighth grade to provide for the teaching of shop, art, music and homemaking.

The people who have been working for a new school in the community for many years feel this is a big step toward their goal. With these seventh and eighth graders being taken care of they can now work for a K-6 type of school which would teach from kindergarten through the sixth grade. This type of school would cost many thousands of dollars less than a K-8 type. In a K-8 school not only would they have to provide for teaching the above mentioned subjects, but would also require a gymnasium, auditorium and cafeteria as per state requirements.

Fred Spalt acted as chairman of the meeting and his announcement of the results of the voting was met with applause and cheers from those who have been working toward better schooling for the children of the district.

Bay Area Is Noisy Scene On Arrival

Airport Jammed

MacArthurs Are Almost Mobbed as They Leave Plane

San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur's dramatic homecoming was growing today into the wildest emotional jag this city has seen since the tumult of V-J Day.

Tens of thousands of bay area citizens poured out of their homes to give the ousted general a second-day welcome expected to overshadow the riotous greeting he received last night on his first return to the mainland in 14 years.

MacArthur captured San Francisco as surely as his troops conquered Manila and Leyte and New Guinea in World War 2.

And his parade through cheering thousands this morning (starting at 9:45 a. m.,—12:45 p. m. E.S.T.) will be the climax to the hysterical homecoming party.

Will Go To Capital

Once the official welcome home is extended, the general will turn to the grim business of hurrying to Washington to defend before Congress tomorrow the Asia policies which caused President Truman to fire him.

Already the dispute between MacArthur and President Truman has the Republicans and Democrats hurling at each other the angry and bitter accusation of "war party." And this deep rift has people throughout the country choosing up sides.

But the hundreds of thousands who greeted MacArthur last night left no doubt of their deep admiration of the hero-soldier regardless of how they felt about his Asia policies.

People began gathering at the city airport three hours before MacArthur's big shiny Constellation Transport was due from Hawaii.

As dusk settled over the field there were about 10,000 spectators jammed into a wire-fence enclosure. Other thousands were unable to get in.

Excitement Mounts

Excitement mounted as MacArthur's plane—The Bataan—neared the field on its 300-miles-an-hour flight from Hawaii. Then the big plane swept over the field with lights twinkling and settled on the runway as the crowd cheered.

The ship touched the runway at 8:29 p. m., (11:29 p. m., E.S.T.) and rolled to a halt. A woman gave a high, hysterical scream that signalled the temper of the crowd.

The cheers swelled into a roar. Mrs. Jean MacArthur stepped from the plane onto the ramp. Then came the general wearing his familiar gold-braided cap and a trenchcoat buttoned high around his neck. Behind him was their 13-year-old son, Arthur — wide-eyed and grinning.

The official greeting party included Gov. Earl Warren, Mayor Elmer Robinson and high-ranking officers of the army, navy, air force and marines. They moved forward to shake hands with the MacArthurs.

Spectators Surged Forward

Spectators, newsmen and photographers surged forward and the welcome almost got out of hand. Police shoved a way open for the honor guests.

MacArthur had requested a brief ceremony shorn of any pomp except the customary military ceremonies given a five-star general. But a wave of excitement swept the crowd and swamped the well-laid plans.

Flash bulbs popped and the general was caught in the glare of television lights. The color guard snapped to attention. Artillery pieces boomed out a 17-gun salute.

Old friends grabbed his hands and shook them. Men and women patted him on the shoulders and

Chief Says Inflationary Spiral Being Checked; Consumer Prices Due to Tumble Soon

Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said last night that the inflationary spiral is being checked at last. In fact, he said prices for consumers goods may take a tumble in the next few months because of abundant factory stocks.

Johnston conceded that "we have not yet been successful" after two months of effort in settling the Wage Stabilization Board stalemate. He questioned legality of a proposal recommended to the President yesterday. This revived speculation that a wage board of all public members may soon be established.

Up to now the administration has been trying to put a board of labor, industry and public members back into business.

Labor, which yanked its representatives from such a wage board and all other defense agencies in February, wants a new wage board empowered to handle all sorts of labor disputes, including wages and virtually every type of working condition.

Industry wants the wage board confined to settling wage matters alone.

Plan for New Board

President Truman's 17-man Mobilization Advisory Board came up with a plan for a new board late yesterday. It was approved by the Advisory Board's public, labor and farm members, with industry's four members dissenting in the 12-4 vote. The chairman, Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson, did not vote.

The plan of the Advisory Board's majority would have an 18-member board of public, labor and industry members settle all disputes certified by Mr. Truman, as well as all disputes labor and management agreed to have the board act upon.

Vigorous protests came immediately from William H. Ruffin, president of the National Association of Manufacturers (NAM) and from the U. S. Chamber of Commerce. Both the NAM and Chamber statements protested such a board could not legally be put into effect over industry's protests.

Industry Must Assent

Johnston disclosed to a reporter that Attorney General McGrath's office has so ruled—that a dispute-settling board such as that recommended by the Mobilization Advisory Board is barred unless industry assents.

Johnston's remarks about inflation being checked and the wage board situation still being deadlocked were made in an address last night to Phi Delta Phi, honorary legal fraternity.

He said economic controls will be necessary for the next two years while the nation completes its rearming program and, while the curbs are "going to be tough," they will be better than the alternative of run-away inflation.

Allies Push Near Town In Red Zone

Eighth Army Reports Signs of General Withdrawal on West Front

Troops Slug On

Little Opposition Met East and North of Yanggu

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—Allied troops advanced 2,000 to 3,000 yards on the west Korean front today behind heavy air and artillery attacks.

The Reds gave that ground—1 1/3 to 2 miles—grudgingly.

The big gains were south and southeast of Chorwon, a five-highway hub about 19 miles inside Red Korea.

One Allied infantry team pushed up a valley road within two miles of the rubbled city. The doughboys met Chinese mortar and rifle fire and withdrew.

A tank force lunged into the Red lines near Chipyong and killed 100 Communists. Chipyong is seven miles southeast of Chorwon and seven miles southwest of Kumhwa.

Wednesday's gains carried the main Allied line to about eight miles south of Chorwon.

Chorwon and Kumhwa are the western bases of the Red buildup area where an estimated 600,000 Communist combat troops were deployed.

The Reds retreated slowly in the west but they stood and fought for Hwachon, the eastern base of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Hwachon triangle.

Two Allied thrusts at the Hwachon dam were turned back Wednesday.

One was a frontal attack on the dam itself. The other was a flanking movement across the Pukhan river east of the dam. Both bogged down under heavy Communist fire.

Troops Slug Ahead

Allied foot troops slugged ahead with little opposition east and north of Yanggu on the western tip of the hugh Hwachon reservoir. Some Communist mortar fire was reported.

Tanks ranged east and northwest of Yonchon on the west central front without meeting Communist forces. The tanks destroyed 70 tons of Red ammunition southwest of Kumhwa.

Russian-made jets returned briefly Wednesday to the North Korean skies. Twenty-five MIG-15s darted across the Manchurian border and tangled with 16 American F-80 Sabre jets.

One MIG was damaged in the 15 minute dogfight that swirled at 30,000 feet. All allied planes returned to their bases.

Allied commanders said the grinding United Nations attack in Red Korea presumably has thrown the Chinese and Korean Communists completely off balance. Chinese war prisoners said the Reds' spring offensive was set for April 11. That was one week ago. The Reds still are committing their troops piecemeal in rear-guard delaying actions.

May Feel Hard Blows

It was evident in several spots that the Reds either were pulling back to new defense positions or reeling from the powerful UN air and artillery attacks.

U. S. Fifth Air Force planes pounded Red troop positions and supply bases all day Wednesday.

Two tanks were destroyed near Chaeryong. Rail lines were cut in many places. Pilots reported several field gun positions knocked out and many Communist troops killed or wounded.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters said an estimated 1,515 Communist troops were killed or wounded Tuesday in ground action alone.

Washington Republican Suggests Withdrawal of United States Forces From Korea; President Gets Chance to Reply

Washington, April 18 (AP)—A Senate Democratic leader today promised a "sky-is-the-limit" inquiry into Far Eastern policy and the clash of opinions which led to the ousting of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Chairman Russell (D.-Ga.) of the Armed Services Committee said it intended the "widest possible" investigation in cooperation with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. He was speaking of the scope when saying the sky was the limit.

Russell opposes a Republican move to create a special Senate-House committee of 24 to investigate foreign and military policies with particular reference to the differences between President Truman and Gen. MacArthur.

There appeared little prospect anything would some from a move by Senator Cain (R.-Wash.) for either (1) a declaration of war against Communist China and North Korea, or else (2) a withdrawal of United States forces from Korea.

Cain introduced this two-point proposition contrary to advice from some of his Republican colleagues. Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic floor leader, told reporters he thought it would be quietly tucked away in a committee pigeon hole.

Cain's action was another of the stormy repercussions in the wake of President Truman's firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who goes before a Senate-House meeting tomorrow to outline his Far Eastern policy views in general terms.

Mr. Truman had an opportunity to speak out, if he chose at a news conference today (4:30 p. m. E.S.T.).

White House Says 'Mac' CouldHaveAppointment

However, MacArthur Is Expected to Await Bid; Ceremony Is Changed

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Senator O'Conor (D.-Md.) today urged President Truman to meet with Gen. Douglas MacArthur and confer with him on the Far Eastern situation.

O'Conor said he telegraphed the President that "such a meeting was due General MacArthur for his distinguished services to our country, and would counteract the confusion current among our people as to future American policies in the Far East."

The White House had said MacArthur would be welcome to see the President, if he asked an appointment, but that no appointment had been sought.

In San Francisco, a spokesman for MacArthur said there was little likelihood of a Truman-MacArthur meeting unless a direct invitation came from the White House.

President Truman has assigned his army aide, Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, to represent him at greetings to MacArthur on the general's arrival here.

Press Secretary Joseph Short told reporters today that Mr. Truman does not intend to attend any of the functions for MacArthur.

Short said yesterday the White House had received a few telegrams and telephone calls of protest that Mr. Truman was not

State Education Aid Hits Record For Ulster County

State Comptroller J. Raymond McGovern today reported Ulster county's share of a record payment in state aid for education at $1,131,979.30.

Of this the supervisory district was listed for $651,038.29, Kingston for $404,206.49 and Saugerties for $76,734.52.

The state apportionment to cities, villages and other school districts totals $117,838,623.41, and is the largest payment ever made by the state at one time for one purpose.

The new peak is $3,636,978.15 higher than the previous record distributed a year ago. New York city receives $40,223,069.99 of the total.

Thirty other so-called deferred payment cities are receiving a total of $12,637,608.68. The remaining cities and villages are receiving a total of $22,903,391.83, and the supervisory districts, $42,074,553.01.

Body Is Cremated

London, April 18 (AP)—The body of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was cremated today at a private service attended only by relatives, close friends and government and trade union associates. Bevin, who died Saturday at the age of 70, once was a Baptist lay preacher. At the request of his family a Baptist minister conducted today's service.

Port Ewen Voters Favor Sending Pupils to Kingston

At a special meeting of the voters of Port Ewen School District No. 13, town of Esopus, held Tuesday evening on motion of D. H. Dunbar those present voted to give the trustees of the district power to contract with the Board of Education of Kingston for the instruction of the seventh and eighth grade pupils. Of the 42 votes cast there were 39 in favor and three against the proposition.

It was also voted to give the trustees power to raise by taxation a sum sufficient to cover the cost of transportation of these pupils to and from the Kingston schools. This proposal was voted by a 40 to 2 vote.

By thus contracting with the Kingston Board of Education for the instruction of these pupils it will relieve a serious congestion problem in the Port Ewen school and also give these pupils an opportunity to receive instruction as required by the New York State Board of Education for which the Port Ewen school was not equipped.

The state now requires any new school teaching through the eighth grade to provide for the teaching of shop, art, music and homemaking.

The people who have been working for a new school in the community for many years feel this is a big step toward their goal. With these seventh and eighth graders being taken care of they can now work for a K-6 type of school which would teach from kindergarten through the sixth grade. This type of school would cost many thousands of dollars less than a K-8 type. In a K-8 school not only would they have to provide for teaching the above mentioned subjects, but would also require a gymnasium, auditorium and cafeteria as per state requirements.

Fred Spalt acted as chairman of the meeting and his announcement of the results of the voting was met with applause and cheers from those who have been working toward better schooling for the children of the district.

Bay Area Is Noisy Scene On Arrival

Airport Jammed

MacArthurs Are Almost Mobbed as They Leave Plane

San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur's dramatic homecoming was growing today into the wildest emotional jag this city has seen since the tumult of V-J Day.

Tens of thousands of bay area citizens poured out of their homes to give the ousted general a second-day welcome expected to overshadow the riotous greeting he received last night on his first return to the mainland in 14 years.

MacArthur captured San Francisco as surely as his troops conquered Manila and Leyte and New Guinea in World War 2.

And his parade through cheering thousands this morning (starting at 9:45 a. m.,—12:45 p. m. E.S.T.) will be the climax to the hysterical homecoming party.

Will Go To Capital

Once the official welcome home is extended, the general will turn to the grim business of hurrying to Washington to defend before Congress tomorrow the Asia policies which caused President Truman to fire him.

Already the dispute between MacArthur and President Truman has the Republicans and Democrats hurling at each other the angry and bitter accusation of "war party." And this deep rift has people throughout the country choosing up sides.

But the hundreds of thousands who greeted MacArthur last night left no doubt of their deep admiration of the hero-soldier regardless of how they felt about his Asia policies.

People began gathering at the city airport three hours before MacArthur's big shiny Constellation Transport was due from Hawaii.

As dusk settled over the field there were about 10,000 spectators jammed into a wire-fence enclosure. Other thousands were unable to get in.

Excitement Mounts

Excitement mounted as MacArthur's plane—The Bataan—neared the field on its 300-miles-an-hour flight from Hawaii. Then the big plane swept over the field with lights twinkling and settled on the runway as the crowd cheered.

The ship touched the runway at 8:29 p. m., (11:29 p. m., E.S.T.) and rolled to a halt. A woman gave a high, hysterical scream that signalled the temper of the crowd.

The cheers swelled into a roar. Mrs. Jean MacArthur stepped from the plane onto the ramp. Then came the general wearing his familiar gold-braided cap and a trenchcoat buttoned high around his neck. Behind him was their 13-year-old son, Arthur — wide-eyed and grinning.

The official greeting party included Gov. Earl Warren, Mayor Elmer Robinson and high-ranking officers of the army, navy, air force and marines. They moved forward to shake hands with the MacArthurs.

Spectators Surged Forward

Spectators, newsmen and photographers surged forward and the welcome almost got out of hand. Police shoved a way open for the honor guests.

MacArthur had requested a brief ceremony shorn of any pomp except the customary military ceremonies given a five-star general. But a wave of excitement swept the crowd and swamped the well-laid plans.

Flash bulbs popped and the general was caught in the glare of television lights. The color guard snapped to attention. Artillery pieces boomed out a 17-gun salute.

Old friends grabbed his hands and shook them. Men and women patted him on the shoulders and

Craft Sends Out Faint Signals; Time Is Reported to Be Running Out

Portsmouth, Eng., April 18 (AP)—Faint underwater signals spurred a blind search today for the British submarine Affray, stuck on the bottom of the English Channel. Time was swiftly running out for any of the 75 officers and men aboard who might still be alive.

The submarine, trapped in the initial dive of a training cruise, had been under 198 feet of water for 40 hours when the Royal Navy announced at mid-afternoon it had been unable to make any physical contact with the craft. Its normal oxygen supply would last the men on board 40 hours.

A naval expert said reserve supplies might let the 75 aboard live another eight hours, but "that means by 2100 hours (3 p. m., E.S.T.) the situation inside the vessel would be extremely dangerous."

The last faint signals from the submarine were heard at 8:30 a. m. (2:30 a. m., E.S.T.). Then came hours of ominous silence. There was an atmosphere of mystery about it.

Question of Escape

Why, the rescue crews asked, could not the trapped men begin coming to the surface through escape hatches, using emergency breathing gear? Why had the submarine failed to release its emeregncy marker buoy to guide rescue craft? Why, if there had been disaster, had the rescue fleet failed to find any debris or even an oil slick?

The Admiralty said the signals, from a supersonic telegraph set, were so weak that rescue ships were unable to fix the exact position of the luckless undersea craft.

The only previous signal from the sub, heard 12:50 a. m. today (6:50 p. m. EST Tuesday), had led the rescue fleet of 25 ships to the area 30 miles southwest of the Isle of Wight.

The rescue fleet which had scoured a 2,000 square mile area since yesterday morning located the affray in almost exactly the area where the sub had submerged on Monday night, at the start of what was to be an underwater training cruise.

Area Is Ringed

A large circle of ships ringed the rescue area this morning. In their center two sister submarines bobbed on the gentle swell.

The outer ring of vessels included small craft carrying doctors and nurses. Also waiting in the outer circle were salvage craft and pontoons capable of lifting the sunken sub to the surface.

It was sunny and mild on the channel this morning, but easterly breezes raised a slight swell. The Admiralty said, however, that conditions for a rescue operation were good.

Submarines of the affray class have three hatches with canvas escape chambers attached. Trapped men pass through the chambers and out the hatches, one at a time. They are equipped with portable breathing apparatus for the time necessary to reach the surface.

Montpelier, Vt., April 18 (AP)—The Iroquois Indian tribe from the Lake Two Mountain reservation in Quebec, Canada, claim they own about a quarter of the state of Vermont.

The tribe says the section is between Lake Champlain and the Green mountains, including Franklin, Chittenden, Addison, and Grande Isle counties and the northern part of Rutland county.

Schilling Says His Plant Will Stay

Furniture Maker Assures 50 Employes Jobs Are Secure

Francis J. Schilling, Jr., vice-president of the F. J. Schilling Furniture Company, Inc, of 107 Greenkill avenue, today assured The Freeman that the company would remain in Kingston and continue to produce its present line of furniture.

On Tuesday it became known that the Schilling company had contracted to sell the building which it now occupies to the Pilgrim Furniture Company which will vacate its present plant on the site of the former Barmann Park just across Greenkill avenue. The Pilgrim plant was recently sold to the Metropolitan Life Insurance Commpany which it is reported will be used as a records storage building by the insurance company.

Schilling stated that only the building had been sold and his firm would continue to manufacture its present line of furniture. The Schilling Furniture Company gives employment to approximately 50 employes. At the present time, Schilling said, no decision has been made as to a new location.

Orchid Blooms for Mac

Glen Cove, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—An orchid named for Gen. Douglas MacArthur four years ago burst into full bloom Sunday, a month ahead of schedule. The flower is in the small greenhouse of orchid fancier Dr. H. Davis Ackerly. Neighbors have been visiting the greenhouse ever since to view the orchid's coincidental tribute to the home-coming general. Dr. Ackerly said the Douglas MacArthur orchid usually blooms in late May. "It is definitely a coincidence, anyway," he said.

Army Cuts May Draft to 40,000; To Free Reserves

Increase Among Volunteer Enlistments Reason —Reservists Are to Get Break

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The army today cut its May draft call from 60,000 to 40,000 men.

The action follows the halving of the April call which was cut from 80,000 to 40,000. Both cuts were based on the increase of volunteer enlistments, the army said.

Since January 64,000 men have volunteered for the army. This is 34,000 more than the army anticipated.

The army said lighter than expected casualties in Korea also influenced the decision to reduce the number of men needed through the draft.

To Release Reservists

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg said today the army hopes by September to begin releasing enlisted reservists who were called to duty involuntarily.

She testified before a House Armed Services Subcommittee which is holding hearings on the reserve program.

Mrs. Rosenberg added that the army also has planned to release other reservists, officer and enlisted.

She said the marine corps will begin releasing its inactive reservists in June, 1951, and plans that by July 1952 no marine reservists will be on active duty involuntarily.

The navy and air force are slated to release their inactive enlisted reservists next July.

Speaking of reservists in general, Mrs. Rosenberg said they will be "returning to civilian life in substantial numbers by October."

"Naturally, the fulfillment of all these plans is dependent on there being no deterioration of the international situation," she said.

Hit the Jackpot

Lawrenceville, Ill., April 18 (AP)—State's Attorney Philip Benefiel gambled yesterday and won 15 cents and a police court case. Glenn Parks had filed suit to recover 15 slot machines which were seized in a raid at his home last week. He contended they were just cabinets of wood, brass and aluminum and were not workable as slot machines. Benefiel walked over, put a nickel in one of the machines and pulled the handle. Four nickels came out. Magistrate Roy Walter ruled against Parks.

Chief Says Inflationary Spiral Being Checked; Consumer Prices Due to Tumble Soon

Labor and Industry Are Still at Odds Over Way to Fix Pay

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The labor-industry fight over new wage board powers boiled on today. But a top administration official claimed the stop-inflation drive is starting to pay off.

Body Is Cremated

London, April 18 (AP)—The body of former Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin was cremated today at a private service attended only by relatives, close friends and government and trade union associates. Bevin, who died Saturday at the age of 70, once was a Baptist lay preacher. At the request of his family a Baptist minister conducted today's service.

Port Ewen Voters Favor Sending Pupils to Kingston

At a special meeting of the voters of Port Ewen School District No. 13, town of Esopus, held Tuesday evening on motion of D. H. Dunbar those present voted to give the trustees of the district power to contract with the Board of Education of Kingston for the instruction of the seventh and eighth grade pupils. Of the 42 votes cast there were 39 in favor and three against the proposition.

It was also voted to give the trustees power to raise by taxation a sum sufficient to cover the cost of transportation of these pupils to and from the Kingston schools. This proposal was voted by a 40 to 2 vote.

By thus contracting with the Kingston Board of Education for the instruction of these pupils it will relieve a serious congestion problem in the Port Ewen school and also give these pupils an opportunity to receive instruction as required by the New York State Board of Education for which the Port Ewen school was not equipped.

The state now requires any new school teaching through the eighth grade to provide for the teaching of shop, art, music and homemaking.

The people who have been working for a new school in the community for many years feel this is a big step toward their goal. With these seventh and eighth graders being taken care of they can now work for a K-6 type of school which would teach from kindergarten through the sixth grade. This type of school would cost many thousands of dollars less than a K-8 type. In a K-8 school not only would they have to provide for teaching the above mentioned subjects, but would also require a gymnasium, auditorium and cafeteria as per state requirements.

Fred Spalt acted as chairman of the meeting and his announcement of the results of the voting was met with applause and cheers from those who have been working toward better schooling for the children of the district.

Bay Area Is Noisy Scene On Arrival

Airport Jammed

MacArthurs Are Almost Mobbed as They Leave Plane

San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur's dramatic homecoming was growing today into the wildest emotional jag this city has seen since the tumult of V-J Day.

Tens of thousands of bay area citizens poured out of their homes to give the ousted general a second-day welcome expected to overshadow the riotous greeting he received last night on his first return to the mainland in 14 years.

MacArthur captured San Francisco as surely as his troops conquered Manila and Leyte and New Guinea in World War 2.

And his parade through cheering thousands this morning (starting at 9:45 a. m.,—12:45 p. m. E.S.T.) will be the climax to the hysterical homecoming party.

Will Go To Capital

Once the official welcome home is extended, the general will turn to the grim business of hurrying to Washington to defend before Congress tomorrow the Asia policies which caused President Truman to fire him.

Already the dispute between MacArthur and President Truman has the Republicans and Democrats hurling at each other the angry and bitter accusation of "war party." And this deep rift has people throughout the country choosing up sides.

But the hundreds of thousands who greeted MacArthur last night left no doubt of their deep admiration of the hero-soldier regardless of how they felt about his Asia policies.

People began gathering at the city airport three hours before MacArthur's big shiny Constellation Transport was due from Hawaii.

As dusk settled over the field there were about 10,000 spectators jammed into a wire-fence enclosure. Other thousands were unable to get in.

Excitement Mounts

Excitement mounted as MacArthur's plane—The Bataan—neared the field on its 300-miles-an-hour flight from Hawaii. Then the big plane swept over the field with lights twinkling and settled on the runway as the crowd cheered.

The ship touched the runway at 8:29 p. m., (11:29 p. m., E.S.T.) and rolled to a halt. A woman gave a high, hysterical scream that signalled the temper of the crowd.

The cheers swelled into a roar. Mrs. Jean MacArthur stepped from the plane onto the ramp. Then came the general wearing his familiar gold-braided cap and a trenchcoat buttoned high around his neck. Behind him was their 13-year-old son, Arthur — wide-eyed and grinning.

The official greeting party included Gov. Earl Warren, Mayor Elmer Robinson and high-ranking officers of the army, navy, air force and marines. They moved forward to shake hands with the MacArthurs.

Spectators Surged Forward

Spectators, newsmen and photographers surged forward and the welcome almost got out of hand. Police shoved a way open for the honor guests.

MacArthur had requested a brief ceremony shorn of any pomp except the customary military ceremonies given a five-star general. But a wave of excitement swept the crowd and swamped the well-laid plans.

Flash bulbs popped and the general was caught in the glare of television lights. The color guard snapped to attention. Artillery pieces boomed out a 17-gun salute.

Old friends grabbed his hands and shook them. Men and women patted him on the shoulders and

Seek Court Order To Give Blood

Chicago, April 18 (AP)—The state today sought a court order to permit physicians to give blood transfusions to a week-old girl in an attempt to save her life.

The infant, physicians said, may die if not given the transfusions. Her parents have refused on religious grounds to permit transfusions, despite pleading of medical and legal authorities.

Darrell Labrenz, 25, and his wife, Rhoda, 20, who described themselves as Jehovah's Witnesses, said they would be violating Biblical directives if they allowed their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, to receive blood.

The child is in Bethany Hospital and Dr. William W. Wieand, who attended the birth April 11, said she is in "grave danger." the condition, RH factor, is caused by the parents having opposing factor blood types.

The infant's life can be saved, physicians said, by a complete flushing of her blood stream.

"Unless there is a transfusion," Dr. Wieand said, "we must stand by and see the baby's life slowly ebb away."

Charged With Theft

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—A 20-year-old substitute mail carrier has been charged with mail theft. John C. Von Hecht of Altadena is accused by postal inspectors of throwing 300 pieces of first-class mail and many magazines and newspapers behind some bushes on a lonely street along his route. "I was just too tired to deliver that mail," inspectors quoted him. Von Hecht was arraigned yesterday before the U. S. commissioner, who fixed his bond at $1,000.

Peron Signs Order Seizing Newspaper

Buenos Aires, April 18 (AP)—President Juan D. Peron signed today a law ordering the government to take over the independent newspaper La Prensa.

The president's action ends the independent career of the 82-year-old opposition paper, which before it was closed by strikes of pro-government unions and federal court action, had been a consistent critic of Peron's regime.

The signature apparently dimmed one of the paper's last hopes—an appeal to the Argentine Congress that the properties be returned to the owners. This demand, filed Monday by the paper's attorney, was based on the fact that the president at the time had not yet signed the bill passed by Congress last week ordering the paper's seizure.

Refusal Is Asked

Toronto, April 18 (AP)—The Canadian section of the Commonwealth Press Union urged the Canadian government last night to refuse any United Nations convention which hampers freedom of the press. The section's annual meeting also called on the government to reject any U.N. convention which condones the forms of press control now operated by the governments of authoritarian countries. The group's resolution deplored Argentina's suppression and expropriation of the independent Buenos Aires newspaper La Prensa. The United States already has also come out against a proposed international treaty on freedom of information drafted by a U.N. committee. The U. S. contended that the treaty would limit press freedom rather than guarantee it.

A few hours after their birth, baby zebras can run almost as fast as their parents.

Would Return MacArthur

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—The American Legion Luncheon Club wants to send Gen. Douglas MacArthur back to Japan as civilian adviser to that government—at a cost of $100,000 a year. The club voted a resolution containing the proposal yesterday. The money would be raised by public subscription. A copy of the resolution will be sent to all Legion departments in the country.

Augusta Plans Observance

Augusta, Ga., April 18 (AP)—Mayor W. D. Jennings asked this town of 71,500 to observe a one-minute period of silence at noon today to express thanks for Gen. Douglas MacArthur's safe return to the United States.

Seek Court Order To Give Blood

Chicago, April 18 (AP)—The state today sought a court order to permit physicians to give blood transfusions to a week-old girl in an attempt to save her life.

The infant, physicians said, may die if not given the transfusions. Her parents have refused on religious grounds to permit transfusions, despite pleading of medical and legal authorities.

Darrell Labrenz, 25, and his wife, Rhoda, 20, who described themselves as Jehovah's Witnesses, said they would be violating Biblical directives if they allowed their daughter, Cheryl Lynn, to receive blood.

The child is in Bethany Hospital and Dr. William W. Wieand, who attended the birth April 11, said she is in "grave danger," the condition, RH factor, is caused by the parents having opposing factor blood types.

The infant's life can be saved, physicians said, by a complete flushing of her blood stream.

"Unless there is a transfusion," Dr. Wieand said, "we must stand by and see the baby's life slowly ebb away."

Charged With Theft

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—A 20-year-old substitute mail carrier has been charged with mail theft. John C. Von Hecht of Altadena is accused by postal inspectors of throwing 300 pieces of first-class mail and many magazines and newspapers behind some bushes on a lonely street along his route.

"I was just too tired to deliver that mail," inspectors quoted him. Von Hecht was arraigned yesterday before the U. S. commissioner, who fixed his bond at $1,000.

SPRING CLEAN-UP

This year's Spring Clean-Up campaign takes on greater meaning than at any time since World War II. Once more our country is involved in a military action. Once more we are preparing our defenses.

Confronted by the threat of a possible full-scale war, we cannot afford to overlook ordinary hazards which cause fires resulting in the destruction of property which might interfere with the Defense Program.

We serve both country and self by cleaning up fire hazards around our homes, business places and industrial properties. Avoidable fires spell out needless waste of materials for which there is now pressing need.

Viewed from a purely personal standpoint, the scarcity of materials for replacement of buildings destroyed by fire and rising construction costs should be convincing arguments for removing those lurking fire hazards which might strike at any moment.

The clean-up program should begin with the removal of winter-accumulated debris from buildings, yards and alley-ways. But old newspapers, magazines and rags are now needed by industry because of material shortages and should be put aside for salvage.

Other common hazards can be eliminated by cleaning and repairing chimneys and heating plants. Dirty chimneys are apt to spew sparks and set fire to roofs not protected with a fire-resistant material.

Avoid the use of explosive cleaning fluids. Be sure that oil-soaked rags are kept in an enclosed metal container disposed of regularly. But above all, guard against carelessness which is responsible for 90 per cent of all fires.

LEFT-HAND TRAFFIC

It has been suggested that traffic on the proposed Ohio turnpike be routed to the left instead of to the conventional right. As eastbound and west-bound roadways would be separated, this would make little difference to the motorist, as he would be guided to and automatically kept on the proper roadway. The designer has suggested, on the theory that cars going out of control are more likely to veer to the left than to the right, that there would be fewer accidents caused by cars crossing the dividing strip into the wrong roadway. The innovation also would simplify construction. A way to reduce accidents has long been sought; it might well turn out to be something as simple as this.

CURE FOR SNORING

A young husband who disclosed that his wife had threatened to leave him unless he stopped snoring received a host of suggestions. It would probably take him the most of an average span of married life to try them all. One in particular was perhaps too facetious to be of help to him in his plight, but might occasionally be applied to other forms of trouble which disrupt friendships, break up happy homes and cause other difficulties in the world.

This suggestion was that the chap should train himself to keep his mouth closed at night, and that the best way to do this was to keep it closed during the day. There have been moments when this might have helped many marriages.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE POSITION OF JAPAN

No phase of the MacArthur controversy is more important than the future of Japan. Conquered by the United States, in a phase of World War II in which no other country played an important role, Japan could have been devastated. Instead, Douglas MacArthur brought to Japan ample evidence that the United States can end a fight with a handshake and even help the enemy to a reconstructed life.

Thus, MacArthur as our pro-consul created a new Japan. Whatever its role is to be, its foundation is the friendship and support of the United States. The Japanese cannot defend themselves. They have not the economic means to sustain themselves. Left alone, they must fall a prey to Soviet Russia.

Their dependence upon the United States has been symbolized by the personality of General Douglas MacArthur. Despite the almost universal cliche that human nature is the same everywhere, it is more correct to say that different human beings do not respond in the same manner to identical challenges. The Japanese have been conditioned by their history to accept the leadership of one individual, whether he be Mikado or Shogun. In a word, they approach the man-god concept of leadership.

MacArthur's personality and his moralistic conduct in Japan fitted this Japanese concept. Therefore, his success in Japan depended as much upon his personality as upon his authority. He became the father of the Japanese people and they expected from him not only guidance but protection.

MacArthur's attitude toward Russia coincided with the Japanese attitude. For the Japanese have for nearly 100 years feared and hated the Russians. Before Japan was opened to the world by Commodore Perry (in 1853), Russia made several attempts to settle on Japan but failed. After Perry, extraterritoriality and a conventional tariff were established over Japan and foreign troops were stationed in that country, the Russians establishing a garrison in Nagasaki, the evils of which were remembered even in my time in that country.

After the Meiji Revolution (1868), the Japanese sent delegations to America and to several European countries to learn the processes of modernization, but they did not send a delegation to Russia.

In 1882, Korea was opened to western trade, with China, Japan and Russia vying for control of that country. This struggle eventuated in the Sino-Japanese War (1894-95) in which Japan was victorious, the Japanese by the treaty of Shimonoseki gaining the Pescadores, Formosa, and the Liaotung peninsula (Dairen and Port Arthur) in Manchuria.

However, Russia, France, and Germany forced Japan to forgo her Manchurian gains and to accept a money indemnity instead (1896). The same year, Russia and China signed the Li-Lobanov treaty by which Russia gained the right to build the Chinese Eastern Railroad, thus controlling the very area that Japan had won in war and lost by diplomacy.

And throughout this period, Russia was penetrating into Korea and establishing herself as the conqueror of Manchuria. This led to the Russo-Japanese War (1904-5) in which Japan was victorious. By the treaty of Portsmouth, Russia recognized Japan's paramount interest in Korea, transferred to Japan the southern part of the Chinese Eastern Railroad (henceforth called the South Manchurian Railway). Japan was also given the Liaotung peninsula in Manchuria and half of Sakhalin.

Although Japan and Russia signed a number of secret treaties by which they divided Manchuria and Mongolia between them, there was no real Russian-Japanese friendship. In fact, in 1917, when the Russian Revolution occurred, the Japanese sought to take areas in Siberia as far as Lake Baikal. This was countermanded by the allies, principally the United States, who sent expeditionary forces to Siberia to hold the trans-Siberia railroad as trustees for Russia.

Much that is false has been written about this Siberian expedition. I was there and know the facts first hand.

It must be obvious from this review of the historical facts that a great fear of Russia has long existed in Japan and is even stronger now. The Japanese in the 1920's and 1930's justified their reversion to militarism on the grounds that they had to be prepared to withstand conquest by Russia.

The elimination of MacArthur from Japan restores this fear. Should they feel themselves abandoned, they may be forced to turn to Russia to avoid being conquered, on the assumption that a satellite might have an easier time than a conquered country. It is, for them, a frightful dilemma.

SPEECH PROBLEMS OF CHILDREN

It was a great step forward when physicians learned that such speech defects as stammering and lisping were caused, in the majority of cases, by nervousness and emotional disturbances. One research worker relates hearing a youngster who stammered talking away to himself for a number of minutes without any stammering. Immediately he knew that he could be heard by someone he stopped his play and the talking to himself, and when he did talk, he stammered. It is the presence of others which disturbs the stammerer.

In addition to stammering, there are other speech defects which may cause a child or adult to develop an inferiority complex. Fortunately there are in many cities schools for correcting speech defects, where brilliant results are being obtained.

Before the establishment of these duly accredited schools for speech defects, parents were told that the youngster would likely "grow out of it" at the age of puberty. Unfortunately, this was true in only a few cases.

What may prove to be a boon to all children with speech defects and their families is the publication of a book prepared for the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults, by the American Speech and Hearing Association, edited by Wendell Johnson, Ph.D., with the assistance of 11 authors. The title is, "Speech Problems of Children: A Guide to Care and Correction."

The book discusses the general problem of speech difficulties. Included are chapters on functional disorders of speech, slow speech, cleft-lip and cleft-palate, cerebral palsy, hesitant speech, children of foreign tongues and children with impaired hearing. Each defect is discussed fully and references given where physician, speech specialist, or layman can obtain further authoritative information on this special defect.

Interesting features are inclusion in the introductory section of the book of a special message to parents and a "Word to All Concerned."

There are a number of accredited schools for speech defects. The secretary of the American Speech Correction Association is Dr. E. W. Morris, Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, Ind. However, the teachings of this book, published by these two helpful organizations, should be a great help for parents unable or unwilling to send their children away from home.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Capitol Hill cloakrooms have been buzzing as never before over the MacArthur incident. This is true of Republicans perhaps more than Democrats. The Democrats are glum, the Republicans elated—though not all of them.

Here are highlights from some of the most significant of these backstage conversations:

Bob Taft expressed concern to Senator Wherry of Nebraska that the GOP may get stuck with MacArthur as its 1952 presidential candidate. Of course, this would eliminate him, though Taft didn't mention this to Wherry. Taft has been noticeably irritable, has snapped at Senate functionaries and fellow senators. He got in a private wrangle with Bob Kerr of Oklahoma over Kerr's statement criticizing MacArthur.

GOP Senator Millikin of Colorado also expressed worry that Eisenhower would oppose MacArthur, which would spit the Republicans down the middle. Bridges of New Hampshire replied that Eisenhower was too smart to get into the middle, that Eisenhower also might differ with Truman and run the risk of being fired.

Bridges has been bustling around GOP cloakrooms more than anyone else. He told one group joyfully: "This is the biggest windfall that has ever come to the Republican party."

On one occasion, Virginia's Senator Robertson, a Democrat, remarked to Bridges: "Well, you have a new candidate for president."

"He's better than the present President," the New Hampshire senator shot back.

"I guess there's a lot of life left in him even at 71," piped up Lodge of Massachusetts.

Actually, Lodge, Duff of Pennsylvania and Ives of New York have held some worried huddles about the MacArthur boom and how it would affect their Eisenhower boom. During one of these huddles, Ives snorted: "How in the hell are we going to get any unity around here!"

Smith of New Jersey, the former Princeton professor, has been quite critical over the fact that MacArthur wasn't left in Japan to keep the occupation intact and complete the peace treaty. But privately Smith seemed to approve of removing MacArthur from military command.

Senators Knowland and Nixon, both California Republicans, are eager-beavers on the MacArthur bandwagon. But Nixon had an interesting conversation with Duff of Pennsylvania just before MacArthur was fired.

"What party does Eisenhower belong to?" Nixon asked.

Duff, one of the strongest boosters for Eisenhower, assured him that Ike was a Republican.

"I hope so," declared Nixon. "He's the man for us."

Nixon, however, is now beating the bass drum on the MacArthur bandwagon.

Taft Discouraged Impeachment

During the first Republican meeting in ex-Speaker Joe Martin's office on the morning MacArthur was fired, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana demanded that Republicans immediately press for Truman's impeachment.

It was Bob Taft, however, who demurred. Such a move, he said, was asinine It would be much smarter, he advised, to bring MacArthur back to the United States and build up sentiment for his case before the Republican party went all-out for him.

The impeachment idea was then dropped, though Joe Martin told GOP colleagues to keep talking about it. "We've got to keep the fire burning," he said, half joking.

Martin's Ultimatum

It was Joe Martin who adroitly masterminded the drive to invite MacArthur to a joint session of Congress. At first Democratic leaders were decidedly lukewarm, argued it would set a bad precedent for Congress to roll out the red carpet for a general, especially one ousted for insubordination. They also felt it would be an affront to President Truman.

However, Martin handed a virtual ultimatum to his old friend, Speaker Sam Rayburn. He gave him until 2:30 Friday to agree to invite MacArthur to a join session of Congress.

"MacArthur has been away 14 years," Rayburn drawled sourly. "What's all the rush?"

So Martin extended the deadline to four o'clock.

Martin didn't say so, but the reason he pushed Rayburn was because MacArthur's office in Tokyo had given him a veiled ultimatum that the general might not speak in Washington at all unless conditions were to his choosing; also that he had to know in a hurry in order to plan his itinerary. It was also made clear that MacArthur was not anxious to answer questions before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

After getting his ultimatum from Martin, Speaker Rayburn called the White House, cautioned the President that MacArthur might be made a martyr by snubbing him, so it was decided the general would be given a chance to address Congress.

Rayburn then went back to Joe Martin, suggested they give MacArthur the same treatment given Eisenhower — namely, a meeting of both Houses of Congress in the auditorium of the Library of Congress.

Whereupon Martin issued another ultimatum. He demanded a full-dress meeting in the House chamber. Otherwise, he warned, the Republicans would rent the vast Uline Arena—an ice palace where the circus is held—and announce to the world that the Democrats would not permit MacArthur to address Congress.

Wearily, Rayburn gave in.

MacArthur Hearing

The Senate Armed Services Committee had agreed upon a secret list of witnesses for the MacArthur hearing before they received the general's first telegram declining to appear. The chosen witnesses are: Secretary of Defense Marshall, General Bradley, General Wedemeyer and Admiral Radford.

The group was agreed upon after much debate in a series of secret meetings. First, the Republican members gathered in the office of Senator Bridges of New Hampshire and prepared an ultimatum that MacArthur must be called.

Chairman Russell of Georgia interrupted a brief vacation to fly back to Washington, conferred with Bridges and gladly agreed to call MacArthur. Later the full committee was called behind closed doors at which time Russell insisted that Marshall and Bradley must also be called to tell the other side of the story.

Bridges then demanded that General Wedemeyer and Admiral Radford—who tangled with the Air Force two years ago—should also testify, since they are expected to back up MacArthur's Far Eastern policy. In the end, it was decided to call all of them.

Bradley Speech Demonstrates That Only What Government Puts Out Can Be Spoken

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 18—If anything were needed to prove how uneven and unfair the Truman administration has been in trying to apply to General MacArthur its so-called rules or orders about public speeches, a reading of the speech just made by General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, supplies that need.

For General Bradley, though disclaiming that he is making a foreign policy speech, goes on to make a speech which is identical in subject matter with the statements of General MacArthur.

General Bradley, however, utters the "party line"—the views the administration wants the generals to propagate. Presumably they are the honest convictions of General Bradley and are not affected by any fear that, if he expressed himself otherwise, he, too, might be fired.

So what America sees now is a system whereby only what the government puts out can be spoken. There is no such thing evidently as a pro and con debate by the military men about our military situation in the world. They can only say what they are told to say. Hence much of what they do say will be discounted as political in the sense of following a "party line" and not really a military judgment on subjects on which there are obviously differences of opinion. The people will never get the truth that way.

General Bradley himself, moreover, was contradictory. After noting that the Communists in Korea were building up for another drive, he said in his speech:

"There is no assurance that even when this attack is dispelled that the war will be over."

Having, therefore, confirmed what General MacArthur has been saying—namely, that a "stalemate" is in prospect unless American troops can defend themselves against air attack by bombing the enemy bases — General Bradley goes on to say:

"If at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battleground."

But who will assure any settlement in any place? The enemy which is building up its drive as immunity is given to its own air bases in Manchuria, or the U.N. forces who are compelled to stand still and take day-by-day punishment without moving forward to win a victory? What soldier ever advocated such a doctrine before to explain 60,000 casualties?

General Bradley doesn't seem to take account of anything the enemy may do to our troops in Korea, as most soldiers would, but simply contents himself with the statement: "Fundamentally we Americans are apt to become impatient with a situation that has no foreseeable conclusion. We all would like to know when the war in Korea will be over."

That's a masterpiece of understatement. It reflects the whole floundering viewpoint of the administration today. For General Bradley has no answer except "to continue negotiation in this world-wide conflict as long as possible."

General Bradley takes his political cue directly from Mr. Truman in making the following observation:

"Enlarging the battle to a full-scale war is never an economical or morally acceptable solution to a limited conflict."

But who limits the conflict? The aggressors who are supposed to be defeated or the defenders who are supposed to stand still indefinitely?

The plain implication is that General MacArthur deliberately wants to provoke a large-scale war. There is not a word of proof to back up such an allegation. General Bradley makes a serious mistake in swallowing the political chatter of the administration when he adopts the assumption that our troops in Korea are to be attacked but not permitted to defend themselves with maximum force.

The crowning irony of General Bradley's speech is in this disclaimer:

"In outlining my thoughts on this matter, I have no intention of entering the foreign policy field or even urging a particular policy in the conduct of foreign affairs. Conduct of foreign affairs is a civilian responsibility. But a soldier can often see strategic perils that the laymen might overlook."

General MacArthur, too, saw those perils. He also claimed that he was discussing not "foreign policy" but only "military policy" and its "strategic perils." But he was fired because he ventured to differ. He didn't know that in American freedom to speak by government officials was accorded only to those who follow the "party line."

Some day the "Voice of America" had better re-examine the glowing things it says about the virtues of free America and concede it is talking fiction when it says an opposition view is not suppressed in America and that "purges can't happen here."

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

With our anniversary of Kingston coming within a short time, no doubt folks will be looking for good photographs of local items. Mrs. Bill Longyear of John street, who retired from the business since her husband's death, has kept some of the excellent plates of Mary Powell, Skillypot, the Clermont, Half Moon, Kingston Point Park, etc. I have some of her excellent large photos of the above and they are worth keeping. The Clermont which stood in the lagoon is no more, the Skillypot and Mary Powell are also only sunken hulls, but Bill Longyear's photos show them when they were proud vessels giving service to folks around here.

This would be just the time of year that the first summer trolley would come down Broadway. I remember it was quite an event. All the merchants and customers would run out to watch it go by and wave to the motorman and conductor. We then knew summer was on its way, and Kingston Point Park was being dusted off for a busy summer. Remember the old pavilion that stood on the pier, from which we could watch the Day Line boats dock and talk to the folks on the upper decks from the pavilion second floor. Those were the days of silent movies, and as part of the free entertainment arranged by the local trolley company there were free movies. Charlie Brodhead told me they used to watch it from their barges. I wonder what ever happened to that nice, substantial merry-go-round in the park. I suppose all the clay pipes and pigeons have long been broken from the shooting gallery. They even had a bowling alley and a dance hall down there. So much to do, and everybody so happy, so it seemed to me anyway.

When Mueller would strike up the band, in the old bandstand in the lagoon, folks would gather from all around to listen. The Weber boys had newly painted canoes and would row around it from the yacht club. My father used to hire one of the clumsy rowboats and row me around, while I was busy trying to pick a water-lily. Or sometimes we would dash down early and take a Day Line boat either up or down the river and come back by train. Anyway we spent the day out in the open, away from gasoline fumes. There was no nervous tension of meeting roadhogs, or being squeezed into a closed car, sitting in one position, driving along an endless road, going nowhere. In those days we came back refreshed. Taking a trip on a day boat, meant relaxing with plenty of elbow room, eating when we pleased, and being able to walk it off on the decks. Listening to the live orchestra, meeting old friends, or just sitting in a deck chair with half closed eyes and breathing fresh air and once in a while looking at the ever changing scenery. Coming home after a trip like that you were more in the mood for a good hot meal instead of asperin and coffee after a strenuous, cramped auto ride of today.

Questions — Answers

Q—How can one distinguish between a gorilla and a chimpanzee?

A—One can quickly tell a gorilla from a chimpanzee by the size of the ears. Those of the gorilla are small and like those of man; those of a chimpanzee are very large and project out from the sides of the head.

Q—In what year do cashew trees bear fruit?

A—Trees bear in their third year, but yield a paying crop in their fifth or sixth year. A good tree produces 44 pounds of nuts. From the shell a black, viscous oil is made. This oil is an all-purpose oil that lubricates bearings, waterproofs textiles and is good in varnishes and paints.

Q—Do women outnumber men in the United States?

Q—Yes. For the first time in the history of the country, there are more women than men in the United States. According to the Census Bureau for every 1000 females there were only 981 males last year.

Q—How did a drinking glass come to be called a tumbler?

A—The word "tumbler" for a drinking class resulted from the fact that early glasses had round or pointed bottoms which could not stand on the table.

More than 18,000,000 people gave a dollar or more to the 1949-1950 fun raising campaign of the American Red Cross.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

SPRING CLEAN-UP

This year's Spring Clean-Up campaign takes on greater meaning than at any time since World War II. Once more our country is involved in a military action. Once more we are preparing our defenses.

Confronted by the threat of a possible full-scale war, we cannot afford to overlook ordinary hazards which cause fires resulting in the destruction of property which might interfere with the Defense Program.

We serve both country and self by cleaning up fire hazards around our homes, business places and industrial properties. Avoidable fires spell out needless waste of materials for which there is now pressing need.

Viewed from a purely personal standpoint, the scarcity of materials for replacement of buildings destroyed by fire and rising construction costs should be convincing arguments for removing those lurking fire hazards which might strike at any moment.

The clean-up program should begin with the removal of winter-accumulated debris from buildings, yards and alley-ways. But old newspapers, magazines and rags are now needed by industry because of material shortages and should be put aside for salvage.

Other common hazards can be eliminated by cleaning and repairing chimneys and heating plants. Dirty chimneys are apt to spew sparks and set fire to roofs not protected with a fire-resistant material.

Avoid the use of explosive cleaning fluids. Be sure that oil-soaked rags are kept in an enclosed metal container disposed of regularly. But above all, guard against carelessness which is responsible for 90 per cent of all fires.

It has been suggested that traffic on the proposed Ohio turnpike be routed to the left instead of to the conventional right. As eastbound and west-bound roadways would be separated, this would make little difference to the motorist, as he would be guided to and automatically kept on the proper roadway. The designer has suggested, on the theory that cars going out of control are more likely to veer to the left than to the right, that there would be fewer accidents caused by cars crossing the dividing strip into the wrong roadway. The innovation also would simplify construction. A way to reduce accidents has long been sought; it might well turn out to be something as simple as this.

CURE FOR SNORING

A young husband who disclosed that his wife had threatened to leave him unless he stopped snoring received a host of suggestions. It would probably take him the most of an average span of married life to try them all. One in particular was perhaps too facetious to be of help to him in his plight, but might occasionally be applied to other forms of trouble which disrupt friendships, break up happy homes and cause other difficulties in the world.

This suggestion was that the chap should train himself to keep his mouth closed at night, and that the best way to do this was to keep it closed during the day. There have been moments when this might have helped many marriages.

THE POSITION OF JAPAN

No phase of the MacArthur controversy is more important than the future of Japan. Conquered by the United States, in a phase of World War II in which no other country played an important role, Japan could have been devastated. Instead, Douglas MacArthur brought to Japan ample evidence that the United States can end a fight with a handshake and even help the enemy to a reconstructed life.

Thus, MacArthur as our pro-consul created a new Japan. Whatever its role is to be, its foundation is the friendship and support of the United States. The Japanese cannot defend themselves. They have not the economic means to sustain themselves. Left alone, they must fall a prey to Soviet Russia.

Their dependence upon the United States has been symbolized by the personality of General Douglas MacArthur. Despite the almost universal cliche that human nature is the same everywhere, it is more correct to say that different human beings do not respond in the same manner to identical challenges. The Japanese have been conditioned by their history to accept the leadership of one individual, whether he be Mikado or Shogun. In a word, they approach the man-god concept of leadership.

MacArthur's personality and his moralistic conduct in Japan fitted this Japanese concept. Therefore, his success in Japan depended as much upon his personality as upon his authority. He became the father of the Japanese people and they expected from him not only guidance but protection.

MacArthur's attitude toward Russia coincided with the Japanese attitude. For the Japanese have for nearly 100 years feared and hated the Russians. Before Japan was opened to the world by Commodore Perry (in 1853), Russia made several attempts to settle on Japan but failed. After Perry, extraterritoriality and a conventional tariff were established over Japan and foreign troops were stationed in that country, the Russians establishing a garrison in Nagasaki, the evils of which were remembered even in my time in that country.

After the Meiji Revolution (1868), the Japanese sent delegations to America and to several European countries to learn the processes of modernization, but they did not send a delegation to Russia.

In 1882, Korea was opened to western trade, with China, Japan and Russia vying for control of that country. This struggle eventuated in the Sino-Japanese War (1894-95) in which Japan was victorious, the Japanese by the treaty of Shimonoseki gaining the Pescadores, Formosa, and the Liaotung peninsula (Dairen and Port Arthur) in Manchuria.

However, Russia, France, and Germany forced Japan to forgo her Manchurian gains and to accept a money indemnity instead (1896). The same year, Russia and China signed the Li-Lobanov treaty by which Russia gained the right to build the Chinese Eastern Railroad, thus controlling the very area that Japan had won in war and lost by diplomacy.

And throughout this period, Russia was penetrating into Korea and establishing herself as the conqueror of Manchuria. This led to the Russo-Japanese War (1904-5) in which Japan was victorious. By the treaty of Portsmouth, Russia recognized Japan's paramount interest in Korea, transferred to Japan the southern part of the Chinese Eastern Railroad (henceforth called the South Manchurian Railway). Japan was also given the Liaotung peninsula in Manchuria and half of Sakhalin.

Although Japan and Russia signed a number of secret treaties by which they divided Manchuria and Mongolia between them, there was no real Russian-Japanese friendship. In fact, in 1917, when the Russian Revolution occurred, the Japanese sought to take areas in Siberia as far as Lake Baikal. This was countermanded by the allies, principally the United States, who sent expeditionary forces to Siberia to hold the trans-Siberia railroad as trustees for Russia.

Much that is false has been written about this Siberian expedition. I was there and know the facts first hand.

It must be obvious from this review of the historical facts that a great fear of Russia has long existed in Japan and is even stronger now. The Japanese in the 1920's and 1930's justified their reversion to militarism on the grounds that they had to be prepared to withstand conquest by Russia.

The elimination of MacArthur from Japan restores this fear. Should they feel themselves abandoned, they may be forced to turn to Russia to avoid being conquered, on the assumption that a satellite might have an easier time than a conquered country. It is, for them, a frightful dilemma.

SPEECH PROBLEMS OF CHILDREN

It was a great step forward when physicians learned that such speech defects as stammering and lisping were caused, in the majority of cases, by nervousness and emotional disturbances. One research worker relates hearing a youngster who stammered talking away to himself for a number of minutes without any stammering. Immediately he knew that he could be heard by someone he stopped his play and the talking to himself, and when he did talk, he stammered. It is the presence of others which disturbs the stammerer.

In addition to stammering, there are other speech defects which may cause a child or adult to develop an inferiority complex. Fortunately there are in many cities schools for correcting speech defects, where brilliant results are being obtained.

Before the establishment of these duly accredited schools for speech defects, parents were told that the youngster would likely "grow out of it" at the age of puberty. Unfortunately, this was true in only a few cases.

What may prove to be a boon to all children with speech defects and their families is the publication of a book prepared for the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults, by the American Speech and Hearing Association, edited by Wendell Johnson, Ph.D., with the assistance of 11 authors. The title is, "Speech Problems of Children: A Guide to Care and Correction."

The book discusses the general problem of speech difficulties. Included are chapters on functional disorders of speech, slow speech, cleft-lip and cleft-palate, cerebral palsy, hesitant speech, children of foreign tongues and children with impaired hearing. Each defect is discussed fully and references given where physician, speech specialist, or layman can obtain further authoritative information on this special defect.

Interesting features are inclusion in the introductory section of the book of a special message to parents and a "Word to All Concerned."

There are a number of accredited schools for speech defects. The secretary of the American Speech Correction Association is Dr. E. W. Morris, Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, Ind. However, the teachings of this book, published by these two helpful organizations, should be a great help for parents unable or unwilling to send their children away from home.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Capitol Hill cloakrooms have been buzzing as never before over the MacArthur incident. This is true of Republicans perhaps more than Democrats. The Democrats are glum, the Republicans elated—though not all of them.

Here are highlights from some of the most significant of these backstage conversations:

Bob Taft expressed concern to Senator Wherry of Nebraska that the GOP may get stuck with MacArthur as its 1952 presidential candidate. Of course, this would eliminate him, though Taft didn't mention this to Wherry. Taft has been noticeably irritable, has snapped at Senate functionaries and fellow senators. He got in a private wrangle with Bob Kerr of Oklahoma over Kerr's statement criticizing MacArthur.

GOP Senator Millikin of Colorado also expressed worry that Eisenhower would oppose MacArthur, which would spit the Republicans down the middle. Bridges of New Hampshire replied that Eisenhower was too smart to get into the middle, that Eisenhower also might differ with Truman and run the risk of being fired.

Bridges has been bustling around GOP cloakrooms more than anyone else. He told one group joyfully: "This is the biggest windfall that has ever come to the Republican party."

On one occasion, Virginia's Senator Robertson, a Democrat, remarked to Bridges: "Well, you have a new candidate for president."

"He's better than the present President," the New Hampshire senator shot back.

"I guess there's a lot of life left in him even at 71," piped up Lodge of Massachusetts.

Actually, Lodge, Duff of Pennsylvania and Ives of New York have held some worried huddles about the MacArthur boom and how it would affect their Eisenhower boom. During one of these huddles, Ives snorted: "How in the hell are we going to get any unity around here!"

Smith of New Jersey, the former Princeton professor, has been quite critical over the fact that MacArthur wasn't left in Japan to keep the occupation intact and complete the peace treaty. But privately Smith seemed to approve of removing MacArthur from military command.

Senators Knowland and Nixon, both California Republicans, are eager-beavers on the MacArthur bandwagon. But Nixon had an interesting conversation with Duff of Pennsylvania just before MacArthur was fired.

"What party does Eisenhower belong to?" Nixon asked.

Duff, one of the strongest boosters for Eisenhower, assured him that Ike was a Republican.

"I hope so," declared Nixon. "He's the man for us."

Nixon, however, is now beating the bass drum on the MacArthur bandwagon.

Taft Discouraged Impeachment

During the first Republican meeting in ex-Speaker Joe Martin's office on the morning MacArthur was fired, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana demanded that Republicans immediately press for Truman's impeachment.

It was Bob Taft, however, who demurred. Such a move, he said, was asinine It would be much smarter, he advised, to bring MacArthur back to the United States and build up sentiment for his case before the Republican party went all-out for him.

The impeachment idea was then dropped, though Joe Martin told GOP colleagues to keep talking about it. "We've got to keep the fire burning," he said, half joking.

Martin's Ultimatum

It was Joe Martin who adroitly masterminded the drive to invite MacArthur to a joint session of Congress. At first Democratic leaders were decidedly lukewarm, argued it would set a bad precedent for Congress to roll out the red carpet for a general, especially one ousted for insubordination. They also felt it would be an affront to President Truman.

However, Martin handed a virtual ultimatum to his old friend, Speaker Sam Rayburn. He gave him until 2:30 Friday to agree to invite MacArthur to a join session of Congress.

"MacArthur has been away 14 years," Rayburn drawled sourly. "What's all the rush?"

So Martin extended the deadline to four o'clock.

Martin didn't say so, but the reason he pushed Rayburn was because MacArthur's office in Tokyo had given him a veiled ultimatum that the general might not speak in Washington at all unless conditions were to his choosing; also that he had to know in a hurry in order to plan his itinerary. It was also made clear that MacArthur was not anxious to answer questions before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

After getting his ultimatum from Martin, Speaker Rayburn called the White House, cautioned the President that MacArthur might be made a martyr by snubbing him, so it was decided the general would be given a chance to address Congress.

Rayburn then went back to Joe Martin, suggested they give MacArthur the same treatment given Eisenhower — namely, a meeting of both Houses of Congress in the auditorium of the Library of Congress.

Whereupon Martin issued another ultimatum. He demanded a full-dress meeting in the House chamber. Otherwise, he warned, the Republicans would rent the vast Uline Arena—an ice palace where the circus is held—and announce to the world that the Democrats would not permit MacArthur to address Congress.

Wearily, Rayburn gave in.

MacArthur Hearing

The Senate Armed Services Committee had agreed upon a secret list of witnesses for the MacArthur hearing before they received the general's first telegram declining to appear. The chosen witnesses are: Secretary of Defense Marshall, General Bradley, General Wedemeyer and Admiral Radford.

The group was agreed upon after much debate in a series of secret meetings. First, the Republican members gathered in the office of Senator Bridges of New Hampshire and prepared an ultimatum that MacArthur must be called.

Chairman Russell of Georgia interrupted a brief vacation to fly back to Washington, conferred with Bridges and gladly agreed to call MacArthur. Later the full committee was called behind closed doors at which time Russell insisted that Marshall and Bradley must also be called to tell the other side of the story.

Bridges then demanded that General Wedemeyer and Admiral Radford—who tangled with the Air Force two years ago—should also testify, since they are expected to back up MacArthur's Far Eastern policy. In the end, it was decided to call all of them.

Bradley Speech Demonstrates That Only What Government Puts Out Can Be Spoken

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 18—If anything were needed to prove how uneven and unfair the Truman administration has been in trying to apply to General MacArthur its so-called rules or orders about public speeches, a reading of the speech just made by General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, supplies that need.

For General Bradley, though disclaiming that he is making a foreign policy speech, goes on to make a speech which is identical in subject matter with the statements of General MacArthur.

General Bradley, however, utters the "party line"—the views the administration wants the generals to propagate. Presumably they are the honest convictions of General Bradley and are not affected by any fear that, if he expressed himself otherwise, he, too, might be fired.

So what America sees now is a system whereby only what the government puts out can be spoken. There is no such thing evidently as a pro and con debate by the military men about our military situation in the world. They can only say what they are told to say. Hence much of what they do say will be discounted as political in the sense of following a "party line" and not really a military judgment on subjects on which there are obviously differences of opinion. The people will never get the truth that way.

General Bradley himself, moreover, was contradictory. After noting that the Communists in Korea were building up for another drive, he said in his speech:

"There is no assurance that even when this attack is dispelled that the war will be over."

Having, therefore, confirmed what General MacArthur has been saying—namely, that a "stalemate" is in prospect unless American troops can defend themselves against air attack by bombing the enemy bases — General Bradley goes on to say:

"If at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battleground."

But who will assure any settlement in any place? The enemy which is building up its drive as immunity is given to its own air bases in Manchuria, or the U.N. forces who are compelled to stand still and take day-by-day punishment without moving forward to win a victory? What soldier ever advocated such a doctrine before to explain 60,000 casualties?

General Bradley doesn't seem to take account of anything the enemy may do to our troops in Korea, as most soldiers would, but simply contents himself with the statement: "Fundamentally we Americans are apt to become impatient with a situation that has no foreseeable conclusion. We all would like to know when the war in Korea will be over."

That's a masterpiece of understatement. It reflects the whole floundering viewpoint of the administration today. For General Bradley has no answer except "to continue negotiation in this world-wide conflict as long as possible."

General Bradley takes his political cue directly from Mr. Truman in making the following observation:

"Enlarging the battle to a full-scale war is never an economical or morally acceptable solution to a limited conflict."

But who limits the conflict? The aggressors who are supposed to be defeated or the defenders who are supposed to stand still indefinitely?

The plain implication is that General MacArthur deliberately wants to provoke a large-scale war. There is not a word of proof to back up such an allegation. General Bradley makes a serious mistake in swallowing the political chatter of the administration when he adopts the assumption that our troops in Korea are to be attacked but not permitted to defend themselves with maximum force.

The crowning irony of General Bradley's speech is in this disclaimer:

"In outlining my thoughts on this matter, I have no intention of entering the foreign policy field or even urging a particular policy in the conduct of foreign affairs. Conduct of foreign affairs is a civilian responsibility. But a soldier can often see strategic perils that the laymen might overlook."

General MacArthur, too, saw those perils. He also claimed that he was discussing not "foreign policy" but only "military policy" and its "strategic perils." But he was fired because he ventured to differ. He didn't know that in American freedom to speak by government officials was accorded only to those who follow the "party line."

Some day the "Voice of America" had better re-examine the glowing things it says about the virtues of free America and concede it is talking fiction when it says an opposition view is not suppressed in America and that "purges can't happen here."

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

With our anniversary of Kingston coming within a short time, no doubt folks will be looking for good photographs of local items. Mrs. Bill Longyear of John street, who retired from the business since her husband's death, has kept some of the excellent plates of Mary Powell, Skillypot, the Clermont, Half Moon, Kingston Point Park, etc. I have some of her excellent large photos of the above and they are worth keeping. The Clermont which stood in the lagoon is no more, the Skillypot and Mary Powell are also only sunken hulls, but Bill Longyear's photos show them when they were proud vessels giving service to folks around here.

This would be just the time of year that the first summer trolley would come down Broadway. I remember it was quite an event. All the merchants and customers would run out to watch it go by and wave to the motorman and conductor. We then knew summer was on its way, and Kingston Point Park was being dusted off for a busy summer. Remember the old pavilion that stood on the pier, from which we could watch the Day Line boats dock and talk to the folks on the upper decks from the pavilion second floor. Those were the days of silent movies, and as part of the free entertainment arranged by the local trolley company there were free movies. Charlie Brodhead told me they used to watch it from their barges. I wonder what ever happened to that nice, substantial merry-go-round in the park. I suppose all the clay pipes and pigeons have long been broken from the shooting gallery. They even had a bowling alley and a dance hall down there. So much to do, and everybody so happy, so it seemed to me anyway.

When Mueller would strike up the band, in the old bandstand in the lagoon, folks would gather from all around to listen. The Weber boys had newly painted canoes and would row around it from the yacht club. My father used to hire one of the clumsy rowboats and row me around, while I was busy trying to pick a water-lily. Or sometimes we would dash down early and take a Day Line boat either up or down the river and come back by train. Anyway we spent the day out in the open, away from gasoline fumes. There was no nervous tension of meeting roadhogs, or being squeezed into a closed car, sitting in one position, driving along an endless road, going nowhere. In those days we came back refreshed. Taking a trip on a day boat, meant relaxing with plenty of elbow room, eating when we pleased, and being able to walk it off on the decks. Listening to the live orchestra, meeting old friends, or just sitting in a deck chair with half closed eyes and breathing fresh air and once in a while looking at the ever changing scenery. Coming home after a trip like that you were more in the mood for a good hot meal instead of asperin and coffee after a strenuous, cramped auto ride of today.

Questions — Answers

Q—How can one distinguish between a gorilla and a chimpanzee?

A—One can quickly tell a gorilla from a chimpanzee by the size of the ears. Those of the gorilla are small and like those of man; those of a chimpanzee are very large and project out from the sides of the head.

Q—In what year do cashew trees bear fruit?

A—Trees bear in their third year, but yield a paying crop in their fifth or sixth year. A good tree produces 44 pounds of nuts. From the shell a black, viscous oil is made. This oil is an all-purpose oil that lubricates bearings, waterproofs textiles and is good in varnishes and paints.

Q—Do women outnumber men in the United States?

Q—Yes. For the first time in the history of the country, there are more women than men in the United States. According to the Census Bureau for every 1000 females there were only 981 males last year.

Q—How did a drinking glass come to be called a tumbler?

A—The word "tumbler" for a drinking class resulted from the fact that early glasses had round or pointed bottoms which could not stand on the table.

More than 18,000,000 people gave a dollar or more to the 1949-1950 fun raising campaign of the American Red Cross.

By the treaty of Portsmouth, Russia recognized Japan's paramount interest in Korea, transferred to Japan the southern part of the Chinese Eastern Railroad (henceforth called the South Manchurian Railway). Japan was also given the Liaotung peninsula in Manchuria and half of Sakhalin.

Although Japan and Russia signed a number of secret treaties by which they divided Manchuria and Mongolia between them, there was no real Russian-Japanese friendship. In fact, in 1917, when the Russian Revolution occurred, the Japanese sought to take areas in Siberia as far as Lake Baikal. This was countermanded by the allies, principally the United States, who sent expeditionary forces to Siberia to hold the trans-Siberia railroad as trustees for Russia.

Much that is false has been written about this Siberian expedition. I was there and know the facts first hand.

It must be obvious from this review of the historical facts that a great fear of Russia has long existed in Japan and is even stronger now. The Japanese in the 1920's and 1930's justified their reversion to militarism on the grounds that they had to be prepared to withstand conquest by Russia.

The elimination of MacArthur from Japan restores this fear. Should they feel themselves abandoned, they may be forced to turn to Russia to avoid being conquered, on the assumption that a satellite might have an easier time than a conquered country. It is, for them, a frightful dilemma.

SPEECH PROBLEMS OF CHILDREN

It was a great step forward when physicians learned that such speech defects as stammering and lisping were caused, in the majority of cases, by nervousness and emotional disturbances. One research worker relates hearing a youngster who stammered talking away to himself for a number of minutes without any stammering. Immediately he knew that he could be heard by someone he stopped his play and the talking to himself, and when he did talk, he stammered. It is the presence of others which disturbs the stammerer.

In addition to stammering, there are other speech defects which may cause a child or adult to develop an inferiority complex. Fortunately there are in many cities schools for correcting speech defects, where brilliant results are being obtained.

Before the establishment of these duly accredited schools for speech defects, parents were told that the youngster would likely "grow out of it" at the age of puberty. Unfortunately, this was true in only a few cases.

What may prove to be a boon to all children with speech defects and their families is the publication of a book prepared for the National Society of Crippled Children and Adults, by the American Speech and Hearing Association, edited by Wendell Johnson, Ph.D., with the assistance of 11 authors. The title is, "Speech Problems of Children: A Guide to Care and Correction."

The book discusses the general problem of speech difficulties. Included are chapters on functional disorders of speech, slow speech, cleft-lip and cleft-palate, cerebral palsy, hesitant speech, children of foreign tongues and children with impaired hearing. Each defect is discussed fully and references given where physician, speech specialist, or layman can obtain further authoritative information on this special defect.

Interesting features are inclusion in the introductory section of the book of a special message to parents and a "Word to All Concerned."

There are a number of accredited schools for speech defects. The secretary of the American Speech Correction Association is Dr. E. W. Morris, Indiana State Teachers College, Terre Haute, Ind. However, the teachings of this book, published by these two helpful organizations, should be a great help for parents unable or unwilling to send their children away from home.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Capitol Hill cloakrooms have been buzzing as never before over the MacArthur incident. This is true of Republicans perhaps more than Democrats. The Democrats are glum, the Republicans elated—though not all of them.

Here are highlights from some of the most significant of these backstage conversations:

Bob Taft expressed concern to Senator Wherry of Nebraska that the GOP may get stuck with MacArthur as its 1952 presidential candidate. Of course, this would eliminate him, though Taft didn't mention this to Wherry. Taft has been noticeably irritable, has snapped at Senate functionaries and fellow senators. He got in a private wrangle with Bob Kerr of Oklahoma over Kerr's statement criticizing MacArthur.

GOP Senator Millikin of Colorado also expressed worry that Eisenhower would oppose MacArthur, which would spit the Republicans down the middle. Bridges of New Hampshire replied that Eisenhower was too smart to get into the middle, that Eisenhower also might differ with Truman and run the risk of being fired.

Bridges has been bustling around GOP cloakrooms more than anyone else. He told one group joyfully: "This is the biggest windfall that has ever come to the Republican party."

On one occasion, Virginia's Senator Robertson, a Democrat, remarked to Bridges: "Well, you have a new candidate for president."

"He's better than the present President," the New Hampshire senator shot back.

"I guess there's a lot of life left in him even at 71," piped up Lodge of Massachusetts.

Actually, Lodge, Duff of Pennsylvania and Ives of New York have held some worried huddles about the MacArthur boom and how it would affect their Eisenhower boom. During one of these huddles, Ives snorted: "How in the hell are we going to get any unity around here!"

Smith of New Jersey, the former Princeton professor, has been quite critical over the fact that MacArthur wasn't left in Japan to keep the occupation intact and complete the peace treaty. But privately Smith seemed to approve of removing MacArthur from military command.

Senators Knowland and Nixon, both California Republicans, are eager-beavers on the MacArthur bandwagon. But Nixon had an interesting conversation with Duff of Pennsylvania just before MacArthur was fired.

"What party does Eisenhower belong to?" Nixon asked.

Duff, one of the strongest boosters for Eisenhower, assured him that Ike was a Republican.

"I hope so," declared Nixon. "He's the man for us."

Nixon, however, is now beating the bass drum on the MacArthur bandwagon.

Taft Discouraged Impeachment

During the first Republican meeting in ex-Speaker Joe Martin's office on the morning MacArthur was fired, Congressman Charlie Halleck of Indiana demanded that Republicans immediately press for Truman's impeachment.

It was Bob Taft, however, who demurred. Such a move, he said, was asinine It would be much smarter, he advised, to bring MacArthur back to the United States and build up sentiment for his case before the Republican party went all-out for him.

The impeachment idea was then dropped, though Joe Martin told GOP colleagues to keep talking about it. "We've got to keep the fire burning," he said, half joking.

Martin's Ultimatum

It was Joe Martin who adroitly masterminded the drive to invite MacArthur to a joint session of Congress. At first Democratic leaders were decidedly lukewarm, argued it would set a bad precedent for Congress to roll out the red carpet for a general, especially one ousted for insubordination. They also felt it would be an affront to President Truman.

However, Martin handed a virtual ultimatum to his old friend, Speaker Sam Rayburn. He gave him until 2:30 Friday to agree to invite MacArthur to a join session of Congress.

"MacArthur has been away 14 years," Rayburn drawled sourly. "What's all the rush?"

So Martin extended the deadline to four o'clock.

Martin didn't say so, but the reason he pushed Rayburn was because MacArthur's office in Tokyo had given him a veiled ultimatum that the general might not speak in Washington at all unless conditions were to his choosing; also that he had to know in a hurry in order to plan his itinerary. It was also made clear that MacArthur was not anxious to answer questions before the Senate Armed Services Committee.

After getting his ultimatum from Martin, Speaker Rayburn called the White House, cautioned the President that MacArthur might be made a martyr by snubbing him, so it was decided the general would be given a chance to address Congress.

Rayburn then went back to Joe Martin, suggested they give MacArthur the same treatment given Eisenhower — namely, a meeting of both Houses of Congress in the auditorium of the Library of Congress.

Whereupon Martin issued another ultimatum. He demanded a full-dress meeting in the House chamber. Otherwise, he warned, the Republicans would rent the vast Uline Arena—an ice palace where the circus is held—and announce to the world that the Democrats would not permit MacArthur to address Congress.

Wearily, Rayburn gave in.

MacArthur Hearing

The Senate Armed Services Committee had agreed upon a secret list of witnesses for the MacArthur hearing before they received the general's first telegram declining to appear. The chosen witnesses are: Secretary of Defense Marshall, General Bradley, General Wedemeyer and Admiral Radford.

The group was agreed upon after much debate in a series of secret meetings. First, the Republican members gathered in the office of Senator Bridges of New Hampshire and prepared an ultimatum that MacArthur must be called.

Chairman Russell of Georgia interrupted a brief vacation to fly back to Washington, conferred with Bridges and gladly agreed to call MacArthur. Later the full committee was called behind closed doors at which time Russell insisted that Marshall and Bradley must also be called to tell the other side of the story.

Bridges then demanded that General Wedemeyer and Admiral Radford—who tangled with the Air Force two years ago—should also testify, since they are expected to back up MacArthur's Far Eastern policy. In the end, it was decided to call all of them.

Bradley Speech Demonstrates That Only What Government Puts Out Can Be Spoken

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 18—If anything were needed to prove how uneven and unfair the Truman administration has been in trying to apply to General MacArthur its so-called rules or orders about public speeches, a reading of the speech just made by General Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, supplies that need.

For General Bradley, though disclaiming that he is making a foreign policy speech, goes on to make a speech which is identical in subject matter with the statements of General MacArthur.

General Bradley, however, utters the "party line"—the views the administration wants the generals to propagate. Presumably they are the honest convictions of General Bradley and are not affected by any fear that, if he expressed himself otherwise, he, too, might be fired.

So what America sees now is a system whereby only what the government puts out can be spoken. There is no such thing evidently as a pro and con debate by the military men about our military situation in the world. They can only say what they are told to say. Hence much of what they do say will be discounted as political in the sense of following a "party line" and not really a military judgment on subjects on which there are obviously differences of opinion. The people will never get the truth that way.

General Bradley himself, moreover, was contradictory. After noting that the Communists in Korea were building up for another drive, he said in his speech:

"There is no assurance that even when this attack is dispelled that the war will be over."

Having, therefore, confirmed what General MacArthur has been saying—namely, that a "stalemate" is in prospect unless American troops can defend themselves against air attack by bombing the enemy bases — General Bradley goes on to say:

"If at all possible, Korea should be settled on the present battleground."

But who will assure any settlement in any place? The enemy which is building up its drive as immunity is given to its own air bases in Manchuria, or the U.N. forces who are compelled to stand still and take day-by-day punishment without moving forward to win a victory? What soldier ever advocated such a doctrine before to explain 60,000 casualties?

General Bradley doesn't seem to take account of anything the enemy may do to our troops in Korea, as most soldiers would, but simply contents himself with the statement: "Fundamentally we Americans are apt to become impatient with a situation that has no foreseeable conclusion. We all would like to know when the war in Korea will be over."

That's a masterpiece of understatement. It reflects the whole floundering viewpoint of the administration today. For General Bradley has no answer except "to continue negotiation in this world-wide conflict as long as possible."

General Bradley takes his political cue directly from Mr. Truman in making the following observation:

"Enlarging the battle to a full-scale war is never an economical or morally acceptable solution to a limited conflict."

But who limits the conflict? The aggressors who are supposed to be defeated or the defenders who are supposed to stand still indefinitely?

The plain implication is that General MacArthur deliberately wants to provoke a large-scale war. There is not a word of proof to back up such an allegation. General Bradley makes a serious mistake in swallowing the political chatter of the administration when he adopts the assumption that our troops in Korea are to be attacked but not permitted to defend themselves with maximum force.

The crowning irony of General Bradley's speech is in this disclaimer:

"In outlining my thoughts on this matter, I have no intention of entering the foreign policy field or even urging a particular policy in the conduct of foreign affairs. Conduct of foreign affairs is a civilian responsibility. But a soldier can often see strategic perils that the laymen might overlook."

General MacArthur, too, saw those perils. He also claimed that he was discussing not "foreign policy" but only "military policy" and its "strategic perils." But he was fired because he ventured to differ. He didn't know that in American freedom to speak by government officials was accorded only to those who follow the "party line."

Some day the "Voice of America" had better re-examine the glowing things it says about the virtues of free America and concede it is talking fiction when it says an opposition view is not suppressed in America and that "purges can't happen here."

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

With our anniversary of Kingston coming within a short time, no doubt folks will be looking for good photographs of local items. Mrs. Bill Longyear of John street, who retired from the business since her husband's death, has kept some of the excellent plates of Mary Powell, Skillypot, the Clermont, Half Moon, Kingston Point Park, etc. I have some of her excellent large photos of the above and they are worth keeping. The Clermont which stood in the lagoon is no more, the Skillypot and Mary Powell are also only sunken hulls, but Bill Longyear's photos show them when they were proud vessels giving service to folks around here.

This would be just the time of year that the first summer trolley would come down Broadway. I remember it was quite an event. All the merchants and customers would run out to watch it go by and wave to the motorman and conductor. We then knew summer was on its way, and Kingston Point Park was being dusted off for a busy summer. Remember the old pavilion that stood on the pier, from which we could watch the Day Line boats dock and talk to the folks on the upper decks from the pavilion second floor. Those were the days of silent movies, and as part of the free entertainment arranged by the local trolley company there were free movies. Charlie Brodhead told me they used to watch it from their barges. I wonder what ever happened to that nice, substantial merry-go-round in the park. I suppose all the clay pipes and pigeons have long been broken from the shooting gallery. They even had a bowling alley and a dance hall down there. So much to do, and everybody so happy, so it seemed to me anyway.

When Mueller would strike up the band, in the old bandstand in the lagoon, folks would gather from all around to listen. The Weber boys had newly painted canoes and would row around it from the yacht club. My father used to hire one of the clumsy rowboats and row me around, while I was busy trying to pick a water-lily. Or sometimes we would dash down early and take a Day Line boat either up or down the river and come back by train. Anyway we spent the day out in the open, away from gasoline fumes. There was no nervous tension of meeting roadhogs, or being squeezed into a closed car, sitting in one position, driving along an endless road, going nowhere. In those days we came back refreshed. Taking a trip on a day boat, meant relaxing with plenty of elbow room, eating when we pleased, and being able to walk it off on the decks. Listening to the live orchestra, meeting old friends, or just sitting in a deck chair with half closed eyes and breathing fresh air and once in a while looking at the ever changing scenery. Coming home after a trip like that you were more in the mood for a good hot meal instead of asperin and coffee after a strenuous, cramped auto ride of today.

Questions — Answers

Q—How can one distinguish between a gorilla and a chimpanzee?

A—One can quickly tell a gorilla from a chimpanzee by the size of the ears. Those of the gorilla are small and like those of man; those of a chimpanzee are very large and project out from the sides of the head.

Q—In what year do cashew trees bear fruit?

A—Trees bear in their third year, but yield a paying crop in their fifth or sixth year. A good tree produces 44 pounds of nuts. From the shell a black, viscous oil is made. This oil is an all-purpose oil that lubricates bearings, waterproofs textiles and is good in varnishes and paints.

Q—Do women outnumber men in the United States?

Q—Yes. For the first time in the history of the country, there are more women than men in the United States. According to the Census Bureau for every 1000 females there were only 981 males last year.

Q—How did a drinking glass come to be called a tumbler?

A—The word "tumbler" for a drinking class resulted from the fact that early glasses had round or pointed bottoms which could not stand on the table.

More than 18,000,000 people gave a dollar or more to the 1949-1950 fun raising campaign of the American Red Cross.

Contino to Surrender For Draft Evasion

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Accordion Player Dick Contino will surrender today on draft evasion charges, his attorney promised.

Contino, 20, disappeared last Friday from Fort Ord, near Monterey, Calif., the day before he was scheduled to be inducted into the army.

Atty. Gerald Kales said the word from Contino came through "a member of the family."

Kales said Contino will appear at the Federal building here. Contino apparently will be prosecuted in San Francisco, however. Asst. U. S. Attorney Joseph Karesh said Fort Ord is in the jurisdiction of San Francisco courts.

"He will be handled just like anybody else," Karesh said of the $4,000-a-week musician, "except that his bail will be set at $5,000 instead of $1,000 because he skipped out once and he might do it again."

A Selective Service spokesman said Contino offered reports from three psychiatrists that he suffers from certain phobias, among them the fear of being cut. The reports were overruled, however, and Contino was ordered to Fort Ord.

His sister, Josephine, 18, collapsed at home when informed Dick was sought as a draft evader. Various other relatives said they were certain Contino would not knowingly evade the draft.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Contino, Glendale, who went with the youth to Fort Ord, were quoted by Fort Ord officials as saying they were bewildered by his disappearance.

Dick Contino won fame in 1948 in a $5,000 Horace Heidt youth opportunity show. His latest engagements at theatres and night clubs have paid him $4,000 a week.

Bookie Racket Is In High Places, Judge Declares

Bridgeport, Conn., April 18 (AP)—Thomas Angelo, 48, of Port Chester, N. Y., was convicted in Superior Court yesterday of accepting bets on horse races and was sentenced to serve a year each in jail on four counts.

Judge John M. Comley then ordered each sentence to be served concurrently and directed each be suspended at the end of four months.

Presenting the case, State's Attorney Lorin W. Willis said that a character letter had been received by the court in Angelo's behalf from Mayor Joseph Carlucci of Port Chester.

"The law-abiding citizens of Port Chester," said Willis, "probably will be proud to hear their mayor tell of the high esteem in which this man with a previous record is held. It is just another demonstration of how far this bookie racket has gone, and how high it reaches."

Telling the court Angelo had been fined and given a suspended jail sentence in Greenwich for bookmaking and policy playing, Willis asserted, "it is just so useless to take them into town courts and impose fines and suspended jail sentences."

Angelo was accused by State Policeman John H. Smith of accepting from him four bets of $10 each from last November 30 to December 31.

Testifying in his own behalf, Angelo admitted accepting one wager but denied taking the others.

After sentence had been pronounced Angelo's wife fainted on a bench in the spectator's section. She was carried to the sheriff's office where she was revived after receiving first aid treatment.

Bans Textile Re-Export

Singapore (AP) — The Singapore government has banned the re-export of textiles to the British crown colony of Hongkong. The action was taken to halt activities of some merchants who had imported large quantities of textiles —some of which had come from Hongkong — and shipped them back to that colony because of a much higher-priced market.

Contino to Surrender For Draft Evasion

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Accordion Player Dick Contino will surrender today on draft evasion charges, his attorney promised.

Contino, 20, disappeared last Friday from Fort Ord, near Monterey, Calif., the day before he was scheduled to be inducted into the army.

Atty. Gerald Kales said the word from Contino came through "a member of the family."

Kales said Contino will appear at the Federal building here. Contino apparently will be prosecuted in San Francisco, however. Asst. U. S. Attorney Joseph Karesh said Fort Ord is in the jurisdiction of San Francisco courts.

"He will be handled just like anybody else," Karesh said of the $4,000-a-week musician, "except that his bail will be set at $5,000 instead of $1,000 because he skipped out once and he might do it again."

A Selective Service spokesman said Contino offered reports from three psychiatrists that he suffers from certain phobias, among them the fear of being cut. The reports were overruled, however, and Contino was ordered to Fort Ord.

His sister, Josephine, 18, collapsed at home when informed Dick was sought as a draft evader. Various other relatives said they were certain Contino would not knowingly evade the draft.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Contino, Glendale, who went with the youth to Fort Ord, were quoted by Fort Ord officials as saying they were bewildered by his disappearance.

Dick Contino won fame in 1948 in a $5,000 Horace Heidt youth opportunity show. His latest engagements at theatres and night clubs have paid him $4,000 a week.

Classes Will Be Heard

The radio classes of K.H.S. will be heard Thursday over WKNY from 8 to 8:30. In this broadcast the students will interview Mr. Oskay and the boys of the woodworking departments, Mr. Connick and the students of the Co-operative Retailing department, and Mr. Berchin, conductor of the orchestra. The orchestra will play: Gypsy Trail Overture and excerpts from the 6th Symphony by Tschaikowsky. The program is in charge of Mrs. Anne McNelis of the English department.

Bookie Racket Is In High Places, Judge Declares

Bridgeport, Conn., April 18 (AP)—Thomas Angelo, 48, of Port Chester, N. Y., was convicted in Superior Court yesterday of accepting bets on horse races and was sentenced to serve a year each in jail on four counts.

Judge John M. Comley then ordered each sentence to be served concurrently and directed each be suspended at the end of four months.

Presenting the case, State's Attorney Lorin W. Willis said that a character letter had been received by the court in Angelo's behalf from Mayor Joseph Carlucci of Port Chester.

"The law-abiding citizens of Port Chester," said Willis, "probably will be proud to hear their mayor tell of the high esteem in which this man with a previous record is held. It is just another demonstration of how far this bookie racket has gone, and how high it reaches."

Telling the court Angelo had been fined and given a suspended jail sentence in Greenwich for bookmaking and policy playing, Willis asserted, "it is just so useless to take them into town courts and impose fines and suspended jail sentences."

Angelo was accused by State Policeman John H. Smith of accepting from him four bets of $10 each from last November 30 to December 31.

Testifying in his own behalf, Angelo admitted accepting one wager but denied taking the others.

After sentence had been pronounced Angelo's wife fainted on a bench in the spectator's section. She was carried to the sheriff's office where she was revived after receiving first aid treatment.

Bans Textile Re-Export

Singapore (AP) — The Singapore government has banned the re-export of textiles to the British crown colony of Hongkong. The action was taken to halt activities of some merchants who had imported large quantities of textiles —some of which had come from Hongkong — and shipped them back to that colony because of a much higher-priced market.

Jacoby Writes Canasta Booklet

The new booklet on the 1951 International Laws of Canasta, just written by Oswald Jacoby, is now available to readers of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Jacoby, whose canasta and bridge columns appear in newspapers throughout the country, has prepared this booklet on the official laws especially for his readers. It includes a complete up-to-date listing of all the rules of the game, with full explanation and interpretation.

This new Jacoby canasta booklet is available locally only through The Freeman. To obtain your copy, send 15 cents in coins with your name and address to the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Jacoby's column on canasta will appear in The Freeman beginning Monday, April 23. His column on bridge, which has been appearing in The Freeman, will be continued.

The rules on dealing, melding, card values, initial meld, discard pile, canastas, melding out, ending the stock, exposed cards, scoring and errors of play are all given in easy-to-find sections. Jacoby's booklet is both a valuable aid to canasta beginners and a ready reference for old hands.

Designers often use the kaleidoscope, familiar children's toy, to find new patterns for carpets, wall paper, and various fabrics.

Home Accidents Take More Lives Than War

New York, April 18 (AP)—Accidents in homes killed twice as many Americans last June as the Korean fighting, says Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

And seventy times as many Americans were injured in home accidents as on Korean battlefields during the same period, he adds.

"The figures are a shameful indictment of our carelessness: Over 20,000 killed, over 3,000,000 injured inside the American home in the 10 months since the end of June," Tobin said.

Bernstein Gets Plaque for Stamps

Sam Bernstein of 173 Pearl street received a plaque for the best exhibition of 20th century United States stamps at the Silver Jubilee Exhibition of the Fort Orange Stamp club at the Hotel Ten Eyck in Albany April 14 and 15.

Mastitis Control Seen

Oslo (AP) — Effective veterinary control may reduce cases of mastitis — a glandular infection of the cow's udder — to the vanishing point in less than a year, experiments here show. Dr. Ottar Bratlie, head of the State Institute for Mastitis Research in Oslo, says the institute has succeeded in wiping out mastitis in the Lesja area during the ten month period from March, 1950 to February, 1951. The infected cattle are given penicillin and the cow sheds are thoroughly disinfected.

The new booklet on the 1951 International Laws of Canasta, just written by Oswald Jacoby, is now available to readers of the Kingston Daily Freeman.

Jacoby, whose canasta and bridge columns appear in newspapers throughout the country, has prepared this booklet on the official laws especially for his readers. It includes a complete up-to-date listing of all the rules of the game, with full explanation and interpretation.

This new Jacoby canasta booklet is available locally only through The Freeman. To obtain your copy, send 15 cents in coins with your name and address to the Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York, N. Y.

Jacoby's column on canasta will appear in The Freeman beginning Monday, April 23. His column on bridge, which has been appearing in The Freeman, will be continued.

The rules on dealing, melding, card values, initial meld, discard pile, canastas, melding out, ending the stock, exposed cards, scoring and errors of play are all given in easy-to-find sections. Jacoby's booklet is both a valuable aid to canasta beginners and a ready reference for old hands.

Home Accidents Take More Lives Than War

New York, April 18 (AP)—Accidents in homes killed twice as many Americans last June as the Korean fighting, says Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin.

And seventy times as many Americans were injured in home accidents as on Korean battlefields during the same period, he adds.

"The figures are a shameful indictment of our carelessness: Over 20,000 killed, over 3,000,000 injured inside the American home in the 10 months since the end of June," Tobin said.

Designers often use the kaleidoscope, familiar children's toy, to find new patterns for carpets, wall paper, and various fabrics.

Hickey Confirmation Is Called Routine

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—An army spokesman said today the appointment of Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey as chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new allied supreme commander, is a routine "confirmation of a situation that has existed for some time."

The chief of staff job formerly was held by Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, a close friend and associate of General MacArthur. But Almond has been field commander of the allied Tenth Corps in Korea since last fall and Hickey has been acting chief of staff in Almond's absence from Tokyo.

The "acting" part of Hickey's title was dropped yesterday in a routine army announcement. Almond continues as Tenth Corps commander.

Help of County Firemen Is Asked In Clean-Up Drive

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy last night urged firemen of the county to cooperate in various community clean-up drives this month.

The chief addressed the firemen at the regular meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Modena. The volunteers were guests of the Plattekill, Clintondale and Modena companies.

The chief asked the firemen to "talk up" the drive and to participate particularly in efforts to eliminate the dumping of rubbish along highways.

The clean-up drive is conducted on a national scale. It will be observed in Kingston during the week of April 23.

Fire Chief Reginald Lapo, of Woodstock, who heads the association, urged support of the various companies in making the July convention in Woodstock a success.

Morris Jacobwitz, of Plattekill, chairman of the association's police patrol, asked the firemen to get their applications in for the patrol so the organization can get started.

Capt. John S. Masterson, staff officer at Stewart Field, Newburgh, the guest speaker, outlined the air defense system.

The firemen discussed the proposal to petition the Board of Supervisors for two-way radio equipment.

15 More May Face Brooklyn Grand Jury

New York, April 18 (AP)—At least 15 former inspectors and other high-ranking officers of the police department may be recalled for questioning before the special Brooklyn grand jury.

The jury is investigating gambling, other rackets and police graft.

The 15 men retired from the department after testifying before the jury under waivers of immunity.

The recall plan—disclosed yesterday by District Attorney Miles F. McDonald—developed from a ruling by the State Court of Appeals last week.

The court ruled that a police officer who signs a waiver of immunity before testifying before a grand jury cannot revoke that waiver after he retires from the force.

Numerous officers had contended that after they retired they had a right to withdraw their waivers—which had made them liable to possible prosecution on the basis of anything they told the grand jury.

Under the court ruling, they must testify when called, and anything they say can be used against them.

Measures River Shad

G. B. Talbot, of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, measures a shad at Louis Naccarato's Fish Landing. Tagging of shad also has been carried out by the game service for the past few years in an attempt to discover if the shad are leaving the river, why they're leaving and where they're going. Meanwhile, shad began running off Kingston Point earlier this week and fishermen report they're running thicker this year. (Freeman Photo)

Thicker Shad Run Reported; Netmen Say Fish Scarcer

The shad began running off Kingston Point Monday. The shad fishermen report they're running thicker this year. Of course, it's not like the days when veteran anglers Eugene and Abraham Van Steenburg could count on 200, and sometimes 300 fish to a "drift," (single haul of the net), but they admit "close as we can tell, the fishing's better."

Out on Kingston Point, in the shadow of silver, cylindrical gasoline tanks, the men have spread out their webby linen nets, and gear. Between drifts you can find them there, untangling the 1,000-odd feet of net, mending a tear here, a new rip there. Every few hours you can see them re-threading the cord like edges with small flat wooden buoys. With each change of tide, (about every six hours) they pack their nets onto a wooden platform, or "cutty." Two men to a team, they load the cutty into a 20-foot flat bottom boat, and head out on the river to the sputtering chug of the outboard.

"And let me tell you," Eugene Van Steenburg says ruefully, "it's been mighty cold out there the past few days."

Once out in the river, the nets, which sink to a depth of 25 to 30 feet, are fed over the side yard by yard. At night a lantern bobs its warning red reflection over the water from either end.

Nets Often Cut

Even so, the fishermen have their troubles. Three or four times a year they can count on a boat slashing through. Sometimes the net, which sosts $150 when new, and with care should last through four seasons, is a total loss. Sometimes it can be mended. But boats aren't the only hazard. Strange things are apt to crop up in a net. Nine season ago Abraham Van Steenburg and Louis Naccarato found a net badly slashed by a captive six-foot, two-inch sturgeon, that tipped the scales at 110 pounds. Even the tiny smelt occassionally gets tangled.

Shad Scarcer

There's little doubt in any of the men's minds that shad are a lot scarcer than they used to be. Five years ago the Van Steenburg brothers estimated their yearly haul at about 1,000,000 fish. Last year the number had dropped radically to 400,000. In an attempt to discover if fish are leaving the river, why they're leaving, and where they're going, members of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service have, for the past few years, tagged the shad.

"We're pretty sure they're not all leaving the river," Louis Turck, another fisherman at the point explains. "Only the other day Stanley Snow netted a shad that was tagged last May 12 in Catskill."

Sometimes Dangerous

Every now and again shad fishing, which seems placid enough to the uninitiated, develops very real dangers. Eugene VanSteenburg recalls one night all too vividly. His father, William, accompanied by a cripple who couldn't walk without the aid of a crutch, set out from East Kingston in one boat. He and Turck shoved off in another. It was a wild, rough night on the river, with a nasty wind. Somehow Eugene's boat lost an oar.

"We borrowed an oar from my father's boat" Eugene Van Steenburg continues, "so we could still row and get the net in. Dad's boat started back for shore under power. Darned if the motor didn't stall while they were still off shore. Well that crippled guy, crutch and all, climbed out in water lapping around his neck, and walked into land to get help. My father, he stayed in the boat hangin' onto one of these underwater cables they'd bumped into. Dad's partner found us alright, but by the time I got there, that other boat had swamped and sunk. Dad, he was still hangin' onto the cable. If it hadn't been for that, he'd of drowned."

A Busy Place

There are nine fishermen out for shad at Kingston Point this year: Louis Naccarato, Louis Turck, Stanley Snow, Theodore, Peter, Nicholas, and Harold Lemister, and the two Van Steenburg brothers.

The point promises to be a busy place until June, when the season ends, with the men going out on a new drift every six hours as the tide changes. It's an optimistic place too. The fish are running better, and one of the men, with only two days of fishing under his belt, figured he already had a good 100 shad to his credit.

Studio Confirms Rift Of Gable and Wife

Hollywood, April 18 (AP)—The Clark Gables are apart and will remain apart for several weeks, but his studio says it's just because she wants to look at some property in Nassau.

Mrs. Gable, the former Sylvia Ashley, flew out of here last night en route to the Bahamas. Her departure topped a day of rumors and followed confirmation from the studio that the Gables "have had a marital spat."

Gable returned yesterday from a vacation in Arizona and accompanied his wife to the airport. They embraced before she boarded the plane.

The studio explained the Nassau trip this way: The Gables tried to buy the property for a beach club last January and recently learned their offer might be accepted. Gable will be on movie location for several weeks, so Mrs. Gable went alone. She is expected back, a spokesman said, by the time Gable returns from location.

Wife Refuses Comment

New York, April 18 (AP)—Mrs. Clark Gable arrived by plane today from Los Angeles and refused to comment on reports of a rift between her and her actor husband.

"We said everything we had to say in California," she said.

Mrs. Gable, widow of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., will leave later today for Nassau in the Bahamas.

Will Outline Plans

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will outline to Congress soon plans for coordinating the foreign economic and security assistance programs within the State Department.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 18 (AP)—A highly selective stock market moved forward today in only moderately active trading.

Cautiousness was evident on all sides with little or no mass movement appearing. Marked strength or weakness was confined to individual issues.

U. S. Smelting, for example, was up 2¼ at one time on a few sales. Others that enjoyed an unaccustomed show of activity at higher prices included Marine Midland Corp., Climax Molybdenum, Graham-Paige, York Corp., Pan American World Airways, and Trans-World Air Lines.

Throughout the list the top advance was around a dollar a share while those on the losing side were for the most part held much below that figure.

The market started quietly with prices narrowly mixed. Within the first hour, however, mild buying strength appeared and lifted just about everything a notch or two.

Petain Is Ill

Paris, April 18 (AP)—Ex-Marshal Henri Philippe Petain was reported today gravely ill in his prison cell on the bleak island of Yeu off the west coast of France. He will be 95 next week. Petain, serving a life sentence for treason, was said to have suffered a relapse yesterday. He has been convalescing from pneumonia.

The United States is the world's largest exporter of oil with Venezuela second.

Tumult Greets

surged around him. There were rolling cheers from the mass of people hemmed in behind the fence. The general waved and smiled.

MacArthur walked swiftly before the guard on an inspection that was almost a mob scene. Scores followed and pressed around him—trying to keep pace while police frantically worked to clear a path.

Trapped in Throng

Mrs. MacArthur and young Arthur were trapped in the swirling throng. They stood helplessly, unable to move. Friends gathered around them to form a tight circle of protection.

Mrs. MacArthur clung to a huge bouquet of American Beauty Roses which had been handed to her by a tiny South Korean girl. The youngster—7-year-old daughter of a South Korean government official—had shyly tendered the roses while clasping a little South Korean flag.

Young Arthur watched the tumult in wide-eyed wonder. Lt. Col. Anthony Story, MacArthur's personal pilot, threw his arms around Arthur protectively to shield him from the jostling throng.

"How does it feel to be home?" someone asked the boy who was seeing the mainland for the first time.

"It feels fine," he smiled.

His Wife Smiles

Mrs. MacArthur was smiling. Her eyes were wet with tears.

"It's simply wonderful," she said. "It's simply wonderful. We have looked forward to this."

Then the wail of a baby sounded over the cheering. Women waved handkerchiefs and a group of youths waved flags bearing the greeting "Hi, Mac!"

"MacArthur for President" signs appeared over the bobbing heads.

Slowly MacArthur made his way through the crowds to a battery of microphones. He said with deep emotion: "I can't tell you how good it is to be home . . . during these long, long, dreary years Mrs. MacArthur and I have talked and thought about it . . . this is marvelous hospitality and a reception that we will not forget."

The MacArthurs then climbed into a closed car to lead a procession of thousands of automobiles into the city 15 miles away.

Leaves Closed Car

Along the route, MacArthur left the closed car and climbed into a 1931 model open Lincoln phaeton which has carried distinguished visitors into the city for 20 years.

Barely creeping, the procession moved into San Francisco, through hundreds of thousands of people lining the streets to wave and cheer. The general obviously was enjoying the spontaneous outburst from his countrymen. He waved and smiled to the crowds—making no effort to speed up the column. In fact, he halted at nearly every intersection to acknowledge the greetings. The normal 30-minute drive required 100 minutes.

But there was still another tumultuous scene waiting at the St. Francis hotel in downtown San Francisco where the MacArthur party spent the night.

10,000 Pack Square

Here another 10,000 persons were packed into block-square union square in front of the hotel. The crowd fanned for blocks into nearby streets. The hotel lobby was jammed and people were perched atop furniture.

Traffic was hopelessly snarled and police were unable even to make way for the famed cable cars which carry riders up and down the hilly streets.

Tempers flared and several brawls broke out in the crowd. It seemed police would not be able to handle the throng until they enlisted the help of marines, sailors and soldiers to form a hand-linked cordon.

With difficulty, police cleared a path for MacArthur to walk the few feet from his car to the hotel door while the crowd gave him a noisy greeting almost as wild as the welcome at the airport.

The crowd was so heavy that Mrs. MacArthur's car was not able to reach the hotel entrance until nine minutes after that of her husband.

The MacArthurs were showered with scraps torn from telephone books, with feathers pulled from torn pillow cases and corsages which women unpinned from their dresses.

The general was hurried through the lobby so rapidly many people failed even to get a glimpse of him before he entered an elevator to be taken to his suite on the sixth floor.

As MacArthur stepped from the elevator someone asked him a question.

"I'm not saying anything," MacArthur said, "until I get to Washington. What I have to say is for their ears."

"I'll bet you tell them plenty!"

The general reported with a laugh: "You'll see."

Russell Promises

1:30 a. m., E.S.T. And the capital is planning a huge welcome.

Two Join McFarland

As for the Cain proposals, Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) and Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) joined McFarland in speaking out against them. Senator Malone (R.-Nev.), on the other hand, said he was reserving judgment.

Cain introduced the two resolutions late yesterday, saying it is time for Congress to make a choice—and time for America and her allies to "put up or shut up." He told the Senate he was expressing his own views, and that they neither had been approved nor "denied" by the Republican Party.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) declared meanwhile that the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees will conduct "the widest possible" inquiry into Far Eastern policy and the clash which resulted in MacArthur's ouster. Russell is chairman of the armed services unit and is in line to head the two-committee investigation.

MacArthur First Witness

He told reporters the inquiry, originally booked to start today, probably will get underway early next week with MacArthur possibly the first witness.

The foreign relations committee teamed up with the armed services for the inquiry as Russell blocked Senate action on a Republican proposal to create a 24-member Senate-House Committee to conduct the investigation.

The Republicans wanted 12 from their party and 12 Democrats named to a joint committee. The Democrats have a majority on the two regular Senate committees which will handle the job.

Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) blasted MacArthur anew in a Senate speech, and declared Senator Taft of Ohio and certain other Senate Republicans "either seek or carelessly risk" to widen the Korean conflict into an all-out war with Red China. Taft and several of his GOP colleages again ripped into Kerr and challenged his contentions.

Coolness Is Counseled

In the midst of all the argument, two senators counseled coolness and calm decisions.

Senator Duff (R-Pa.) said in a New York speech that the country is on "a tremendous emotional binge."

"If we can eliminate the bicker that takes place at the national capitol," said Duff, "that will be the first step in stopping the bicker all over the nation at a time when unity is so vitally necessary."

Senator Hennings (D-Mo.), in his maiden Senate speech, urged his colleagues to guard against "the temptation to indulge in hasty and volatile outbursts." He said "the Kremlin must take keen delight in the spectacle of America torn by internal dissension."

Late Bulletin

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall and the entire military high command will welcome Gen. Douglas MacArthur when the deposed Far Eastern commander arrives here early tomorrow.

The Defense Department made public today a list of public officials who will greet MacArthur.

In addition to Marshall, it includes Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the three members of the JCS—Army General J. Lawton Collins, Admiral Forrest P. Sherman and Air General Hoyt Vandenberg.

However, there will be no especial military ceremony at the airport arrival.

White House Says

planning to greet MacArthur personally when the general arrives.

Short said the assignment of Vaughan to represent the President at airport ceremonies was the "usual procedure" and was done when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned from Europe.

Will Arrive Thursday

Washington, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur will arrive in Washington early tomorrow with little military ceremony.

The army changed its mind today and cancelled plans to have a ceremonial honor guard, saluting battery, and band at the airport to greet the deposed Far East commander when he steps off his plane at 1:30 a. m., eastern standard time.

However, an army spokesman said, these honors will be accorded the general in the public welcoming tomorrow afternoon at the huge demonstration of the Washington Monument grounds. He said the lateness of the hour of MacArthur's arrival was the reason for the change in plans.

General Not Likely To Meet President

San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—There is little likelihood of a meeting between President Truman and General MacArthur in Washington tomorrow unless a direct invitation comes from the White House.

"There is no plan whatsoever for such a meeting so far as I know," said Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, spokesman and close adviser of the general.

Whitney told reporters that MacArthur still is working on the speech he will deliver before a joint meeting of Congress tomorrow.

MacArthur is expected to set forth in full his opinions on defeating the Chinese Communists with limited extension of the war in Korea.

MacArthur has strongly advocated allied air attacks on Manchurian bases and aid to the Chinese Nationalists in amphibious assaults on the Chinese mainland.

Whitney said there was no indication what post may be assigned MacArthur, if any. "His position is that of a dismissed commander, without assignment."

"He's taking this thing in stride," Whitney added.

He said there has been no decision on Remington-Rand, Inc.'s offer to MacArthur to become a director. The bid, first made Dec. 24, 1949, was a fluid one, based on a time when his work in Japan would be completed. It was reported a $100,000 a year post.

Action for City Auto Crash Opens in Court

An action brought by Joseph Weishaupt of Stone Ridge against Dolores Z. London of Kingston to recover damages resulting from an accident at the corner of Fair street and St. James street September 20, 1950, was taken up in County Court this morning.

Weishaupt claims he stopped at a stop street, proceeded into the intersection, and was struck by the London car which was proceeding south on Fair street. Charles H. Gaffney appears for plaintiff.

Mrs. London contends she was driving south on Fair street and had the right of way and further that the Weishaupt car did not stop at the stop sign on St. James street. Weishaupt asks $737 damages. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appears for the defendant.

Hickey Confirmation Is Called Routine

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—An army spokesman said today the appointment of Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey as chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new allied supreme commander, is a routine "confirmation of a situation that has existed for some time."

The chief of staff job formerly was held by Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, a close friend and associate of General MacArthur. But Almond has been field commander of the allied Tenth Corps in Korea since last fall and Hickey has been acting chief of staff in Almond's absence from Tokyo.

The "acting" part of Hickey's title was dropped yesterday in a routine army announcement. Almond continues as Tenth Corps commander.

Help of County Firemen Is Asked In Clean-Up Drive

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy last night urged firemen of the county to cooperate in various community clean-up drives this month.

The chief addressed the firemen at the regular meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Modena. The volunteers were guests of the Plattekill, Clintondale and Modena companies.

The chief asked the firemen to "talk up" the drive and to participate particularly in efforts to eliminate the dumping of rubbish along highways.

The clean-up drive is conducted on a national scale. It will be observed in Kingston during the week of April 23.

Fire Chief Reginald Lapo, of Woodstock, who heads the association, urged support of the various companies in making the July convention in Woodstock a success.

Morris Jacobwitz, of Plattekill, chairman of the association's police patrol, asked the firemen to get their applications in for the patrol so the organization can get started.

Capt. John S. Masterson, staff officer at Stewart Field, Newburgh, the guest speaker, outlined the air defense system.

The firemen discussed the proposal to petition the Board of Supervisors for two-way radio equipment.

15 More May Face Brooklyn Grand Jury

New York, April 18 (AP)—At least 15 former inspectors and other high-ranking officers of the police department may be recalled for questioning before the special Brooklyn grand jury.

The jury is investigating gambling, other rackets and police graft.

The 15 men retired from the department after testifying before the jury under waivers of immunity.

The recall plan—disclosed yesterday by District Attorney Miles F. McDonald—developed from a ruling by the State Court of Appeals last week.

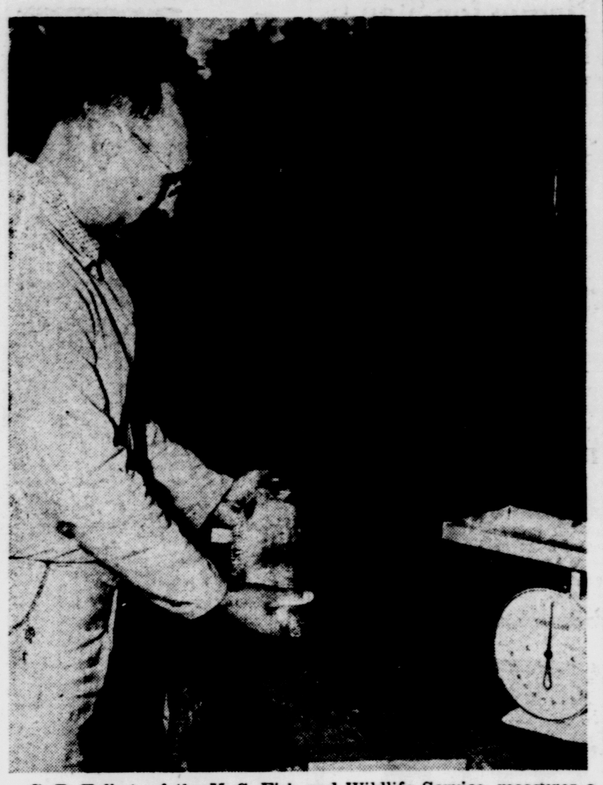

The court ruled that a police officer who signs a waiver of immunity before testifying before a grand jury cannot revoke that waiver after he retires from the force.

Numerous officers had contended that after they retired they had a right to withdraw their waivers—which had made them liable to possible prosecution on the basis of anything they told the grand jury.

Under the court ruling, they must testify when called, and anything they say can be used against them.

Measures River Shad

G. B. Talbot, of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, measures a shad at Louis Naccarato's Fish Landing. Tagging of shad also has been carried out by the game service for the past few years in an attempt to discover if the shad are leaving the river, why they're leaving and where they're going. Meanwhile, shad began running off Kingston Point earlier this week and fishermen report they're running thicker this year. (Freeman Photo)

Thicker Shad Run Reported; Netmen Say Fish Scarcer

The shad began running off Kingston Point Monday. The shad fishermen report they're running thicker this year. Of course, it's not like the days when veteran anglers Eugene and Abraham Van Steenburg could count on 200, and sometimes 300 fish to a "drift," (single haul of the net), but they admit "close as we can tell, the fishing's better."

Out on Kingston Point, in the shadow of silver, cylindrical gasoline tanks, the men have spread out their webby linen nets, and gear. Between drifts you can find them there, untangling the 1,000-odd feet of net, mending a tear here, a new rip there. Every few hours you can see them re-threading the cord like edges with small flat wooden buoys. With each change of tide, (about every six hours) they pack their nets onto a wooden platform, or "cutty." Two men to a team, they load the cutty into a 20-foot flat bottom boat, and head out on the river to the sputtering chug of the outboard.

"And let me tell you," Eugene Van Steenburg says ruefully, "it's been mighty cold out there the past few days."

Once out in the river, the nets, which sink to a depth of 25 to 30 feet, are fed over the side yard by yard. At night a lantern bobs its warning red reflection over the water from either end.

Nets Often Cut

Even so, the fishermen have their troubles. Three or four times a year they can count on a boat slashing through. Sometimes the net, which sosts $150 when new, and with care should last through four seasons, is a total loss. Sometimes it can be mended. But boats aren't the only hazard. Strange things are apt to crop up in a net. Nine season ago Abraham Van Steenburg and Louis Naccarato found a net badly slashed by a captive six-foot, two-inch sturgeon, that tipped the scales at 110 pounds. Even the tiny smelt occassionally gets tangled.

Shad Scarcer

There's little doubt in any of the men's minds that shad are a lot scarcer than they used to be. Five years ago the Van Steenburg brothers estimated their yearly haul at about 1,000,000 fish. Last year the number had dropped radically to 400,000. In an attempt to discover if fish are leaving the river, why they're leaving, and where they're going, members of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service have, for the past few years, tagged the shad.

"We're pretty sure they're not all leaving the river," Louis Turck, another fisherman at the point explains. "Only the other day Stanley Snow netted a shad that was tagged last May 12 in Catskill."

Sometimes Dangerous

Every now and again shad fishing, which seems placid enough to the uninitiated, develops very real dangers. Eugene VanSteenburg recalls one night all too vividly. His father, William, accompanied by a cripple who couldn't walk without the aid of a crutch, set out from East Kingston in one boat. He and Turck shoved off in another. It was a wild, rough night on the river, with a nasty wind. Somehow Eugene's boat lost an oar.

"We borrowed an oar from my father's boat" Eugene Van Steenburg continues, "so we could still row and get the net in. Dad's boat started back for shore under power. Darned if the motor didn't stall while they were still off shore. Well that crippled guy, crutch and all, climbed out in water lapping around his neck, and walked into land to get help. My father, he stayed in the boat hangin' onto one of these underwater cables they'd bumped into. Dad's partner found us alright, but by the time I got there, that other boat had swamped and sunk. Dad, he was still hangin' onto the cable. If it hadn't been for that, he'd of drowned."

A Busy Place

There are nine fishermen out for shad at Kingston Point this year: Louis Naccarato, Louis Turck, Stanley Snow, Theodore, Peter, Nicholas, and Harold Lemister, and the two Van Steenburg brothers.

The point promises to be a busy place until June, when the season ends, with the men going out on a new drift every six hours as the tide changes. It's an optimistic place too. The fish are running better, and one of the men, with only two days of fishing under his belt, figured he already had a good 100 shad to his credit.

Studio Confirms Rift Of Gable and Wife

Hollywood, April 18 (AP)—The Clark Gables are apart and will remain apart for several weeks, but his studio says it's just because she wants to look at some property in Nassau.

Mrs. Gable, the former Sylvia Ashley, flew out of here last night en route to the Bahamas. Her departure topped a day of rumors and followed confirmation from the studio that the Gables "have had a marital spat."

Gable returned yesterday from a vacation in Arizona and accompanied his wife to the airport. They embraced before she boarded the plane.

The studio explained the Nassau trip this way: The Gables tried to buy the property for a beach club last January and recently learned their offer might be accepted. Gable will be on movie location for several weeks, so Mrs. Gable went alone. She is expected back, a spokesman said, by the time Gable returns from location.

Wife Refuses Comment

New York, April 18 (AP)—Mrs. Clark Gable arrived by plane today from Los Angeles and refused to comment on reports of a rift between her and her actor husband.

"We said everything we had to say in California," she said.

Mrs. Gable, widow of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., will leave later today for Nassau in the Bahamas.

Will Outline Plans

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will outline to Congress soon plans for coordinating the foreign economic and security assistance programs within the State Department.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 18 (AP)—A highly selective stock market moved forward today in only moderately active trading.

Cautiousness was evident on all sides with little or no mass movement appearing. Marked strength or weakness was confined to individual issues.

U. S. Smelting, for example, was up 2¼ at one time on a few sales. Others that enjoyed an unaccustomed show of activity at higher prices included Marine Midland Corp., Climax Molybdenum, Graham-Paige, York Corp., Pan American World Airways, and Trans-World Air Lines.

Throughout the list the top advance was around a dollar a share while those on the losing side were for the most part held much below that figure.

The market started quietly with prices narrowly mixed. Within the first hour, however, mild buying strength appeared and lifted just about everything a notch or two.

Petain Is Ill

Paris, April 18 (AP)—Ex-Marshal Henri Philippe Petain was reported today gravely ill in his prison cell on the bleak island of Yeu off the west coast of France. He will be 95 next week. Petain, serving a life sentence for treason, was said to have suffered a relapse yesterday. He has been convalescing from pneumonia.

The United States is the world's largest exporter of oil with Venezuela second.

Tumult Greets

surged around him. There were rolling cheers from the mass of people hemmed in behind the fence. The general waved and smiled.

MacArthur walked swiftly before the guard on an inspection that was almost a mob scene. Scores followed and pressed around him—trying to keep pace while police frantically worked to clear a path.

Trapped in Throng

Mrs. MacArthur and young Arthur were trapped in the swirling throng. They stood helplessly, unable to move. Friends gathered around them to form a tight circle of protection.

Mrs. MacArthur clung to a huge bouquet of American Beauty Roses which had been handed to her by a tiny South Korean girl. The youngster—7-year-old daughter of a South Korean government official—had shyly tendered the roses while clasping a little South Korean flag.

Young Arthur watched the tumult in wide-eyed wonder. Lt. Col. Anthony Story, MacArthur's personal pilot, threw his arms around Arthur protectively to shield him from the jostling throng.

"How does it feel to be home?" someone asked the boy who was seeing the mainland for the first time.

"It feels fine," he smiled.

His Wife Smiles

Mrs. MacArthur was smiling. Her eyes were wet with tears.

"It's simply wonderful," she said. "It's simply wonderful. We have looked forward to this."

Then the wail of a baby sounded over the cheering. Women waved handkerchiefs and a group of youths waved flags bearing the greeting "Hi, Mac!"

"MacArthur for President" signs appeared over the bobbing heads.

Slowly MacArthur made his way through the crowds to a battery of microphones. He said with deep emotion: "I can't tell you how good it is to be home . . . during these long, long, dreary years Mrs. MacArthur and I have talked and thought about it . . . this is marvelous hospitality and a reception that we will not forget."

The MacArthurs then climbed into a closed car to lead a procession of thousands of automobiles into the city 15 miles away.

Leaves Closed Car

Along the route, MacArthur left the closed car and climbed into a 1931 model open Lincoln phaeton which has carried distinguished visitors into the city for 20 years.

Barely creeping, the procession moved into San Francisco, through hundreds of thousands of people lining the streets to wave and cheer. The general obviously was enjoying the spontaneous outburst from his countrymen. He waved and smiled to the crowds—making no effort to speed up the column. In fact, he halted at nearly every intersection to acknowledge the greetings. The normal 30-minute drive required 100 minutes.

But there was still another tumultuous scene waiting at the St. Francis hotel in downtown San Francisco where the MacArthur party spent the night.

10,000 Pack Square

Here another 10,000 persons were packed into block-square union square in front of the hotel. The crowd fanned for blocks into nearby streets. The hotel lobby was jammed and people were perched atop furniture.

Traffic was hopelessly snarled and police were unable even to make way for the famed cable cars which carry riders up and down the hilly streets.

Tempers flared and several brawls broke out in the crowd. It seemed police would not be able to handle the throng until they enlisted the help of marines, sailors and soldiers to form a hand-linked cordon.

With difficulty, police cleared a path for MacArthur to walk the few feet from his car to the hotel door while the crowd gave him a noisy greeting almost as wild as the welcome at the airport.

The crowd was so heavy that Mrs. MacArthur's car was not able to reach the hotel entrance until nine minutes after that of her husband.

The MacArthurs were showered with scraps torn from telephone books, with feathers pulled from torn pillow cases and corsages which women unpinned from their dresses.

The general was hurried through the lobby so rapidly many people failed even to get a glimpse of him before he entered an elevator to be taken to his suite on the sixth floor.

As MacArthur stepped from the elevator someone asked him a question.

"I'm not saying anything," MacArthur said, "until I get to Washington. What I have to say is for their ears."

"I'll bet you tell them plenty!"

The general reported with a laugh: "You'll see."

Russell Promises

1:30 a. m., E.S.T. And the capital is planning a huge welcome.

Two Join McFarland

As for the Cain proposals, Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) and Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) joined McFarland in speaking out against them. Senator Malone (R.-Nev.), on the other hand, said he was reserving judgment.

Cain introduced the two resolutions late yesterday, saying it is time for Congress to make a choice—and time for America and her allies to "put up or shut up." He told the Senate he was expressing his own views, and that they neither had been approved nor "denied" by the Republican Party.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) declared meanwhile that the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees will conduct "the widest possible" inquiry into Far Eastern policy and the clash which resulted in MacArthur's ouster. Russell is chairman of the armed services unit and is in line to head the two-committee investigation.

MacArthur First Witness

He told reporters the inquiry, originally booked to start today, probably will get underway early next week with MacArthur possibly the first witness.

The foreign relations committee teamed up with the armed services for the inquiry as Russell blocked Senate action on a Republican proposal to create a 24-member Senate-House Committee to conduct the investigation.

The Republicans wanted 12 from their party and 12 Democrats named to a joint committee. The Democrats have a majority on the two regular Senate committees which will handle the job.

Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) blasted MacArthur anew in a Senate speech, and declared Senator Taft of Ohio and certain other Senate Republicans "either seek or carelessly risk" to widen the Korean conflict into an all-out war with Red China. Taft and several of his GOP colleages again ripped into Kerr and challenged his contentions.

Coolness Is Counseled

In the midst of all the argument, two senators counseled coolness and calm decisions.

Senator Duff (R-Pa.) said in a New York speech that the country is on "a tremendous emotional binge."

"If we can eliminate the bicker that takes place at the national capitol," said Duff, "that will be the first step in stopping the bicker all over the nation at a time when unity is so vitally necessary."

Senator Hennings (D-Mo.), in his maiden Senate speech, urged his colleagues to guard against "the temptation to indulge in hasty and volatile outbursts." He said "the Kremlin must take keen delight in the spectacle of America torn by internal dissension."

Late Bulletin

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall and the entire military high command will welcome Gen. Douglas MacArthur when the deposed Far Eastern commander arrives here early tomorrow.

The Defense Department made public today a list of public officials who will greet MacArthur.

In addition to Marshall, it includes Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the three members of the JCS—Army General J. Lawton Collins, Admiral Forrest P. Sherman and Air General Hoyt Vandenberg.

However, there will be no especial military ceremony at the airport arrival.

White House Says

planning to greet MacArthur personally when the general arrives.

Short said the assignment of Vaughan to represent the President at airport ceremonies was the "usual procedure" and was done when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned from Europe.

Will Arrive Thursday

Washington, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur will arrive in Washington early tomorrow with little military ceremony.

The army changed its mind today and cancelled plans to have a ceremonial honor guard, saluting battery, and band at the airport to greet the deposed Far East commander when he steps off his plane at 1:30 a. m., eastern standard time.

However, an army spokesman said, these honors will be accorded the general in the public welcoming tomorrow afternoon at the huge demonstration of the Washington Monument grounds. He said the lateness of the hour of MacArthur's arrival was the reason for the change in plans.

General Not Likely To Meet President

San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—There is little likelihood of a meeting between President Truman and General MacArthur in Washington tomorrow unless a direct invitation comes from the White House.

"There is no plan whatsoever for such a meeting so far as I know," said Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, spokesman and close adviser of the general.

Whitney told reporters that MacArthur still is working on the speech he will deliver before a joint meeting of Congress tomorrow.

MacArthur is expected to set forth in full his opinions on defeating the Chinese Communists with limited extension of the war in Korea.

MacArthur has strongly advocated allied air attacks on Manchurian bases and aid to the Chinese Nationalists in amphibious assaults on the Chinese mainland.

Whitney said there was no indication what post may be assigned MacArthur, if any. "His position is that of a dismissed commander, without assignment."

"He's taking this thing in stride," Whitney added.

He said there has been no decision on Remington-Rand, Inc.'s offer to MacArthur to become a director. The bid, first made Dec. 24, 1949, was a fluid one, based on a time when his work in Japan would be completed. It was reported a $100,000 a year post.

Action for City Auto Crash Opens in Court

An action brought by Joseph Weishaupt of Stone Ridge against Dolores Z. London of Kingston to recover damages resulting from an accident at the corner of Fair street and St. James street September 20, 1950, was taken up in County Court this morning.

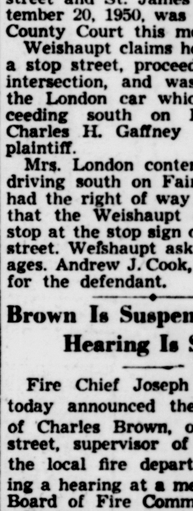

Weishaupt claims he stopped at a stop street, proceeded into the intersection, and was struck by the London car which was proceeding south on Fair street. Charles H. Gaffney appears for plaintiff.

Mrs. London contends she was driving south on Fair street and had the right of way and further that the Weishaupt car did not stop at the stop sign on St. James street. Weishaupt asks $737 damages. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appears for the defendant.

Hickey Confirmation Is Called Routine

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—An army spokesman said today the appointment of Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey as chief of staff to Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, new allied supreme commander, is a routine "confirmation of a situation that has existed for some time."

The chief of staff job formerly was held by Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, a close friend and associate of General MacArthur. But Almond has been field commander of the allied Tenth Corps in Korea since last fall and Hickey has been acting chief of staff in Almond's absence from Tokyo.

The "acting" part of Hickey's title was dropped yesterday in a routine army announcement. Almond continues as Tenth Corps commander.

Help of County Firemen Is Asked In Clean-Up Drive

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy last night urged firemen of the county to cooperate in various community clean-up drives this month.

The chief addressed the firemen at the regular meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at Modena. The volunteers were guests of the Plattekill, Clintondale and Modena companies.

The chief asked the firemen to "talk up" the drive and to participate particularly in efforts to eliminate the dumping of rubbish along highways.

The clean-up drive is conducted on a national scale. It will be observed in Kingston during the week of April 23.

Fire Chief Reginald Lapo, of Woodstock, who heads the association, urged support of the various companies in making the July convention in Woodstock a success.

Morris Jacobwitz, of Plattekill, chairman of the association's police patrol, asked the firemen to get their applications in for the patrol so the organization can get started.

Capt. John S. Masterson, staff officer at Stewart Field, Newburgh, the guest speaker, outlined the air defense system.

The firemen discussed the proposal to petition the Board of Supervisors for two-way radio equipment.

15 More May Face Brooklyn Grand Jury

New York, April 18 (AP)—At least 15 former inspectors and other high-ranking officers of the police department may be recalled for questioning before the special Brooklyn grand jury.

The jury is investigating gambling, other rackets and police graft.

The 15 men retired from the department after testifying before the jury under waivers of immunity.

The recall plan—disclosed yesterday by District Attorney Miles F. McDonald—developed from a ruling by the State Court of Appeals last week.

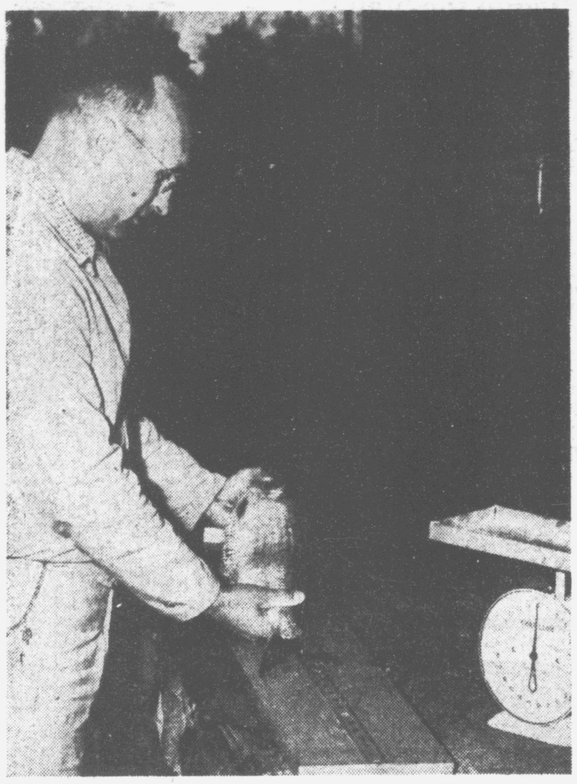

The court ruled that a police officer who signs a waiver of immunity before testifying before a grand jury cannot revoke that waiver after he retires from the force.

Numerous officers had contended that after they retired they had a right to withdraw their waivers—which had made them liable to possible prosecution on the basis of anything they told the grand jury.

Under the court ruling, they must testify when called, and anything they say can be used against them.

Measures River Shad

G. B. Talbot, of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, measures a shad at Louis Naccarato's Fish Landing. Tagging of shad also has been carried out by the game service for the past few years in an attempt to discover if the shad are leaving the river, why they're leaving and where they're going. Meanwhile, shad began running off Kingston Point earlier this week and fishermen report they're running thicker this year. (Freeman Photo)

Thicker Shad Run Reported; Netmen Say Fish Scarcer

The shad began running off Kingston Point Monday. The shad fishermen report they're running thicker this year. Of course, it's not like the days when veteran anglers Eugene and Abraham Van Steenburg could count on 200, and sometimes 300 fish to a "drift," (single haul of the net), but they admit "close as we can tell, the fishing's better."

Out on Kingston Point, in the shadow of silver, cylindrical gasoline tanks, the men have spread out their webby linen nets, and gear. Between drifts you can find them there, untangling the 1,000-odd feet of net, mending a tear here, a new rip there. Every few hours you can see them re-threading the cord like edges with small flat wooden buoys. With each change of tide, (about every six hours) they pack their nets onto a wooden platform, or "cutty." Two men to a team, they load the cutty into a 20-foot flat bottom boat, and head out on the river to the sputtering chug of the outboard.

"And let me tell you," Eugene Van Steenburg says ruefully, "it's been mighty-cold out there the past few days."

Once out in the river, the nets, which sink to a depth of 25 to 30 feet, are fed over the side yard by yard. At night a lantern bobs its warning red reflection over the water from either end.

Nets Often Cut

Even so, the fishermen have their troubles. Three or four times a year they can count on a boat slashing through. Sometimes the net, which sosts $150 when new, and with care should last through four seasons, is a total loss. Sometimes it can be mended. But boats aren't the only hazard. Strange things are apt to crop up in a net. Nine season ago Abraham Van Steenburg and Louis Naccarato found a net badly slashed by a captive six-foot, two-inch sturgeon, that tipped the scales at 110 pounds. Even the tiny smelt occassionally gets tangled.

Shad Scarcer

There's little doubt in any of the men's minds that shad are a lot scarcer than they used to be. Five years ago the Van Steenburg brothers estimated their yearly haul at about 1,000,000 fish. Last year the number had dropped radically to 400,000. In an attempt to discover if fish are leaving the river, why they're leaving, and where they're going, members of the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service have, for the past few years, tagged the shad.

"We're pretty sure they're not all leaving the river," Louis Turck, another fisherman at the point explains. "Only the other day Stanley Snow netted a shad that was tagged last May 12 in Catskill."

Sometimes Dangerous

Every now and again shad fishing, which seems placid enough to the uninitiated, develops very real dangers. Eugene VanSteenburg recalls one night all too vividly. His father, William, accompanied by a cripple who couldn't walk without the aid of a crutch, set out from East Kingston in one boat. He and Turck shoved off in another. It was a wild, rough night on the river, with a nasty wind. Somehow Eugene's boat lost an oar.

"We borrowed an oar from my father's boat" Eugene Van Steenburg continues, "so we could still row and get the net in. Dad's boat started back for shore under power. Darned if the motor didn't stall while they were still off shore. Well that crippled guy, crutch and all, climbed out in water lapping around his neck, and walked into land to get help. My father, he stayed in the boat hangin' onto one of these underwater cables they'd bumped into. Dad's partner found us alright, but by the time I got there, that other boat had swamped and sunk. Dad, he was still hangin' onto the cable. If it hadn't been for that, he'd of drowned."

A Busy Place

There are nine fishermen out for shad at Kingston Point this year: Louis Naccarato, Louis Turck, Stanley Snow, Theodore, Peter, Nicholas, and Harold Lemister, and the two Van Steenburg brothers.

The point promises to be a busy place until June, when the season ends, with the men going out on a new drift every six hours as the tide changes. It's an optimistic place too. The fish are running better, and one of the men, with only two days of fishing under his belt, figured he already had a good 100 shad to his credit.

Studio Confirms Rift Of Gable and Wife

Hollywood, April 18 (AP)—The Clark Gables are apart and will remain apart for several weeks, but his studio says it's just because she wants to look at some property in Nassau.

Mrs. Gable, the former Sylvia Ashley, flew out of here last night en route to the Bahamas. Her departure topped a day of rumors and followed confirmation from the studio that the Gables "have had a marital spat."

Gable returned yesterday from a vacation in Arizona and accompanied his wife to the airport. They embraced before she boarded the plane.

The studio explained the Nassau trip this way: The Gables tried to buy the property for a beach club last January and recently learned their offer might be accepted. Gable will be on movie location for several weeks, so Mrs. Gable went alone. She is expected back, a spokesman said, by the time Gable returns from location.

Wife Refuses Comment

New York, April 18 (AP)—Mrs. Clark Gable arrived by plane today from Los Angeles and refused to comment on reports of a rift between her and her actor husband.

"We said everything we had to say in California," she said.

Mrs. Gable, widow of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., will leave later today for Nassau in the Bahamas.

Will Outline Plans

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The White House said today that President Truman will outline to Congress soon plans for coordinating the foreign economic and security assistance programs within the State Department.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 18 (AP)—A highly selective stock market moved forward today in only moderately active trading.

Cautiousness was evident on all sides with little or no mass movement appearing. Marked strength or weakness was confined to individual issues.

U. S. Smelting, for example, was up 2¼ at one time on a few sales. Others that enjoyed an unaccustomed show of activity at higher prices included Marine Midland Corp., Climax Molybdenum, Graham-Paige, York Corp., Pan American World Airways, and Trans-World Air Lines.

Throughout the list the top advance was around a dollar a share while those on the losing side were for the most part held much below that figure.

The market started quietly with prices narrowly mixed. Within the first hour, however, mild buying strength appeared and lifted just about everything a notch or two.

Petain Is Ill

Paris, April 18 (AP)—Ex-Marshal Henri Philippe Petain was reported today gravely ill in his prison cell on the bleak island of Yeu off the west coast of France. He will be 95 next week. Petain, serving a life sentence for treason, was said to have suffered a relapse yesterday. He has been convalescing from pneumonia.

The United States is the world's largest exporter of oil with Venezuela second.

Tumult Greets

surged around him. There were rolling cheers from the mass of people hemmed in behind the fence. The general waved and smiled.

MacArthur walked swiftly before the guard on an inspection that was almost a mob scene. Scores followed and pressed around him—trying to keep pace while police frantically worked to clear a path.

Trapped in Throng

Mrs. MacArthur and young Arthur were trapped in the swirling throng. They stood helplessly, unable to move. Friends gathered around them to form a tight circle of protection.

Mrs. MacArthur clung to a huge bouquet of American Beauty Roses which had been handed to her by a tiny South Korean girl. The youngster—7-year-old daughter of a South Korean government official—had shyly tendered the roses while clasping a little South Korean flag.

Young Arthur watched the tumult in wide-eyed wonder. Lt. Col. Anthony Story, MacArthur's personal pilot, threw his arms around Arthur protectively to shield him from the jostling throng.

"How does it feel to be home?" someone asked the boy who was seeing the mainland for the first time.

"It feels fine," he smiled.

His Wife Smiles

Mrs. MacArthur was smiling. Her eyes were wet with tears.

"It's simply wonderful," she said. "It's simply wonderful. We have looked forward to this."

Then the wail of a baby sounded over the cheering. Women waved handkerchiefs and a group of youths waved flags bearing the greeting "Hi, Mac!"

"MacArthur for President" signs appeared over the bobbing heads.

Slowly MacArthur made his way through the crowds to a battery of microphones. He said with deep emotion: "I can't tell you how good it is to be home . . . during these long, long, dreary years Mrs. MacArthur and I have talked and thought about it . . . this is marvelous hospitality and a reception that we will not forget."

The MacArthurs then climbed into a closed car to lead a procession of thousands of automobiles into the city 15 miles away.

Leaves Closed Car

Along the route, MacArthur left the closed car and climbed into a 1931 model open Lincoln phaeton which has carried distinguished visitors into the city for 20 years.

Barely creeping, the procession moved into San Francisco, through hundreds of thousands of people lining the streets to wave and cheer. The general obviously was enjoying the spontaneous outburst from his countrymen. He waved and smiled to the crowds—making no effort to speed up the column. In fact, he halted at nearly every intersection to acknowledge the greetings. The normal 30-minute drive required 100 minutes.

But there was still another tumultuous scene waiting at the St. Francis hotel in downtown San Francisco where the MacArthur party spent the night.

10,000 Pack Square

Here another 10,000 persons were packed into block-square union square in front of the hotel. The crowd fanned for blocks into nearby streets. The hotel lobby was jammed and people were perched atop furniture.

Traffic was hopelessly snarled and police were unable even to make way for the famed cable cars which carry riders up and down the hilly streets.

Tempers flared and several brawls broke out in the crowd. It seemed police would not be able to handle the throng until they enlisted the help of marines, sailors and soldiers to form a hand-linked cordon.

With difficulty, police cleared a path for MacArthur to walk the few feet from his car to the hotel door while the crowd gave him a noisy greeting almost as wild as the welcome at the airport.

The crowd was so heavy that Mrs. MacArthur's car was not able to reach the hotel entrance until nine minutes after that of her husband.

The MacArthurs were showered with scraps torn from telephone books, with feathers pulled from torn pillow cases and corsages which women unpinned from their dresses.

The general was hurried through the lobby so rapidly many people failed even to get a glimpse of him before he entered an elevator to be taken to his suite on the sixth floor.

As MacArthur stepped from the elevator someone asked him a question.

"I'm not saying anything," MacArthur said, "until I get to Washington. What I have to say is for their ears."

"I'll bet you tell them plenty!"

The general reported with a laugh: "You'll see."

Russell Promises

1:30 a. m., E.S.T. And the capital is planning a huge welcome.

Two Join McFarland

As for the Cain proposals, Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) and Senator McMahon (D.-Conn.) joined McFarland in speaking out against them. Senator Malone (R.-Nev.), on the other hand, said he was reserving judgment.

Cain introduced the two resolutions late yesterday, saying it is time for Congress to make a choice—and time for America and her allies to "put up or shut up." He told the Senate he was expressing his own views, and that they neither had been approved nor "denied" by the Republican Party.

Senator Russell (D.-Ga.) declared meanwhile that the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees will conduct "the widest possible" inquiry into Far Eastern policy and the clash which resulted in MacArthur's ouster. Russell is chairman of the armed services unit and is in line to head the two-committee investigation.

MacArthur First Witness

He told reporters the inquiry, originally booked to start today, probably will get underway early next week with MacArthur possibly the first witness.

The foreign relations committee teamed up with the armed services for the inquiry as Russell blocked Senate action on a Republican proposal to create a 24-member Senate-House Committee to conduct the investigation.

The Republicans wanted 12 from their party and 12 Democrats named to a joint committee. The Democrats have a majority on the two regular Senate committees which will handle the job.

Senator Kerr (D-Okla.) blasted MacArthur anew in a Senate speech, and declared Senator Taft of Ohio and certain other Senate Republicans "either seek or carelessly risk" to widen the Korean conflict into an all-out war with Red China. Taft and several of his GOP colleages again ripped into Kerr and challenged his contentions.

Coolness Is Counseled

In the midst of all the argument, two senators counseled coolness and calm decisions.

Senator Duff (R-Pa.) said in a New York speech that the country is on "a tremendous emotional binge."

"If we can eliminate the bicker that takes place at the national capitol," said Duff, "that will be the first step in stopping the bicker all over the nation at a time when unity is so vitally necessary."

Senator Hennings (D-Mo.), in his maiden Senate speech, urged his colleagues to guard against "the temptation to indulge in hasty and volatile outbursts." He said "the Kremlin must take keen delight in the spectacle of America torn by internal dissension."

Late Bulletin

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Marshall and the entire military high command will welcome Gen. Douglas MacArthur when the deposed Far Eastern commander arrives here early tomorrow.

The Defense Department made public today a list of public officials who will greet MacArthur.

In addition to Marshall, it includes Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and the three members of the JCS—Army General J. Lawton Collins, Admiral Forrest P. Sherman and Air General Hoyt Vandenberg.

However, there will be no especial military ceremony at the airport arrival.

White House Says

planning to greet MacArthur personally when the general arrives.

Short said the assignment of Vaughan to represent the President at airport ceremonies was the "usual procedure" and was done when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returned from Europe.

Will Arrive Thursday

Washington, April 18 (AP)—General Douglas MacArthur will arrive in Washington early tomorrow with little military ceremony.

The army changed its mind today and cancelled plans to have a ceremonial honor guard, saluting battery, and band at the airport to greet the deposed Far East commander when he steps off his plane at 1:30 a. m., eastern standard time.

However, an army spokesman said, these honors will be accorded the general in the public welcoming tomorrow afternoon at the huge demonstration of the Washington Monument grounds. He said the lateness of the hour of MacArthur's arrival was the reason for the change in plans.

General Not Likely To Meet President

San Francisco, April 18 (AP)—There is little likelihood of a meeting between President Truman and General MacArthur in Washington tomorrow unless a direct invitation comes from the White House.

"There is no plan whatsoever for such a meeting so far as I know," said Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, spokesman and close adviser of the general.

Whitney told reporters that MacArthur still is working on the speech he will deliver before a joint meeting of Congress tomorrow.

MacArthur is expected to set forth in full his opinions on defeating the Chinese Communists with limited extension of the war in Korea.

MacArthur has strongly advocated allied air attacks on Manchurian bases and aid to the Chinese Nationalists in amphibious assaults on the Chinese mainland.

Whitney said there was no indication what post may be assigned MacArthur, if any. "His position is that of a dismissed commander, without assignment."

"He's taking this thing in stride," Whitney added.

He said there has been no decision on Remington-Rand, Inc.'s offer to MacArthur to become a director. The bid, first made Dec. 24, 1949, was a fluid one, based on a time when his work in Japan would be completed. It was reported a $100,000 a year post.

Action for City Auto Crash Opens in Court

An action brought by Joseph Weishaupt of Stone Ridge against Dolores Z. London of Kingston to recover damages resulting from an accident at the corner of Fair street and St. James street September 20, 1950, was taken up in County Court this morning.

Weishaupt claims he stopped at a stop street, proceeded into the intersection, and was struck by the London car which was proceeding south on Fair street. Charles H. Gaffney appears for plaintiff.

Mrs. London contends she was driving south on Fair street and had the right of way and further that the Weishaupt car did not stop at the stop sign on St. James street. Weishaupt asks $737 damages. Andrew J. Cook, Jr., appears for the defendant.

CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., WEDNESDAY EVENING, APRIL 18, 1951.

RESIDENCE OF E.M.BRIGHAM, UNION AVENUE, KINGSTON, N.Y.

One of the current building projects in this city is the construction of the automobile sales showrooms and garage of the Bev Anderson Chevrolet, Inc., on the former Brigham property on upper Broadway. On the property acquired by Beverly C. Anderson, president of the local automobile agency, were two homes, one of brick and the other of frame construction, which were torn down for the new home of the Chevrolet.

The above reproduction is of a lithographic sketch of the frame residence built by E. M. Brigham in 1863. Mr. and Mrs. Brigham lived there for many years until their deaths. The sketch is from the "County Atlas of Ulster," published in 1875 by Walker and Jewett of New York city.

E. M. Brigham was one of the most active civic-minded citizens of his time and was one of the presidential electors, who elected Ulysses S. Grant president of the United States and who served for two terms from 1869 to 1877. During his presidential incumbency, President Grant visited Kingston and at a public reception held at the General Sharpe mansion, now the Governor Clinton Hotel annex, Mr. Brigham introduced the president to the assemblage.

In the year 1872 when Kingston was incorporated as a city, merging the villages of Kingston and Rondout, Mr. Brigham was then president of the Village of Kingston.

For 87 years, from 1863 to 1950, the Brigham homestead was occupied until it was torn down last year. At that time, when it was purchased by the local automobile agency, it was used as an apartment house and also as the dental offices of Dr. Charles O'Reilly.

On an adjoining site to the old Brigham homestead was another Brigham home, which also was sold last year to the Chevrolet concern and torn down. This dwelling was of brick construction and was built in the year 1892 by H. R. Brigham, son of E. M. Brigham. The latter, who was engaged in the cement and brickmaking business, constructed the residence from the products of his own yards.

In recent years this residence property was occupied by the family of Harold Brigham, a grandson of E. M. Brigham, who now reside on Albany avenue.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Team Game Often Brings Out Champs

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A team game often separates the sheep from the foxes, and the recent Eastern States tournament was no exception. When today's hand was played, the bidding and the opening lead were identical in both rooms, but the similarity ended at the second trick.

In the first room East overtook the queen of spades with his king, continued with the ace of spades, and then led the jack of spades. It was obvious to South that West would not be able to follow suit.

South therefore had to ruff high enough to shut West out. He couldn't tell that any trump in his hand would be big enough for the task, but he could afford to ruff with the eight of hearts. This naturally held the trick.

It was now clear to declarer that the queen of hearts was in the East hand. He therefore led a diamond to dummy's ace and returned the jack of hearts for a trump finesse. The finesse succeeded, of course, and declarer therefore lost no trump trick. He eventually lost a club trick, but fulfilled his contract.

In the second room East overtook the opening lead with his king of spades but then abandoned the suit. He realized what would happen if he continued the suit. South would undoubtedly ruff high and then finesse through the queen of hearts. Instead of giving away the trump situation. East shifted at once to the queen of clubs.

South won at once with the ace of clubs, fearing that East had led a singleton queen. He had no information about the location of the queen of hearts and (perhaps unwisely) tried to drop it instead of finessing. When the queen of hearts failed to drop under the ace or king, declarer was set. He was bound to lose three tricks in the black suits and had managed to misguess the trumps.

Passover Festival Will Be Celebrated Beginning Friday

Friday evening, April 20, Jews throughout the world will begin the celebration of their annual festival of Passover (Pesach), which commemorates the wondrous deliverance of the Jews from Egyptian bondage according to the story told in the 12th Chapter of the Book of Exodus.

Beginning at sun-down April 20, the 14th day of the Hebrew month of Nissan, and continuing, among the Reform Jews for a period of seven days, ending April 27, and among their Orthodox brethren for eight days, Passover will be celebrated as a festival of freedom. All the ceremonial observances incident to the feast are symbolic of the idea of liberty.

The festival is ushered in on the opening evening of the feast with the Seder, at which the head of the family recounts to the members of his household and their guests seated about the table, the wondrous events that led up to the Jews' deliverance from the hands of their Egyptian masters. This account is known as the Haggadah (story). Especially symbolic of the festival is the unleavened bread or Matso, leavened food being prohibited to the Jew during the festival week. The Matso symbolizes the fact that when, finally, the Jews were permitted to leave Egypt, they were driven out in such haste that they did not have time to leaven their bread.

Other symbols of the feast to be found upon the Seder table are wine, the symbol of gladness, which is a part of the free man; bitter herbs, betokening the bitterness of slavery, and a dainty mixture of apples, nuts, etc., which is variously interpreted, but may be accepted as standing for the sweetness of freedom. The lamb-bond which is on the table reminds the Jews of the Paschal lamb which was sacrificed by the faithful Israelites in Egypt, its blood being sprinkled upon their door posts. When the Angel of Death passed through the land, cutting down the first-born in every Egyptian household, so runs the tradition, the first-born was spared in every home on whose lintels the lamb's blood had been sprinkled.

In all synagogues and temples there will be special services on the first and last days of the festival for the Reform group, and on the first two and last two days for the Conservative and Orthodox groups. Flannigan fair amazed the gathering by shaving 100 hickory hoops, each 6½ feet long, in 18 minutes and 30 seconds. Nearly every farmer could, and did, shave hoops in winter—but not that fast.

Why not give your Pride a break?

LET'S see what it means to own a ROADMASTER.

It means, first of all, that you're a shrewd judge of fine manufacture. Nowhere will you find a mechanism more skilfully fitted part to part with scrupulous precision—engineered to stricter standards of fine-car quality—than the deep-framed and durable ROADMASTER chassis.

It means, also, that you possess keen appreciation of everything that makes for unsurpassed performance.

For there's more to this dazzling beauty than its thrilling take-off. There's the surplus of power that you need to make you the master of busy traffic or open road—plus the velvet magic of Dynaflow Drive (at no extra cost, mind you).

There's the level-going luxury of ample roadweight buoyantly balanced on coil springs on every wheel—and the security of brakes specifically engineered for firm control of this great-powered beauty.

But there's still another distinction to being a ROADMASTER owner.

It marks you as one who buys wisely and well. Size for size, pound for pound, feature for feature, few cars can even approach what your dollars will buy in this finest of Buicks.

There's much more to be discovered by a visit to any Buick dealer's showroom.

There's the sumptuous softness of cushions, the custom excellence of fabrics and interior trim, the grace and charm of every line and contour.

So if you've dreamed of sometime owning a car superbly fine, there's no time like the present—and no car like ROADMASTER for making dreams come true.

Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

RESIDENCE OF E.M.BRIGHAM, UNION AVENUE, KINGSTON N.Y.

One of the current building projects in this city is the construction of the automobile sales showrooms and garage of the Bev Anderson Chevrolet, Inc., on the former Brigham property on upper Broadway. On the property acquired by Beverly C. Anderson, president of the local automobile agency, were two homes, one of brick and the other of frame construction, which were torn down for the new home of the Chevrolet.

The above reproduction is of a lithographic sketch of the frame residence built by E. M. Brigham in 1863. Mr. and Mrs. Brigham lived there for many years until their deaths. The sketch is from the "County Atlas of Ulster," published in 1875 by Walker and Jewett of New York city.

E. M. Brigham was one of the most active civic-minded citizens of his time and was one of the presidential electors, who elected Ulysses S. Grant president of the United States and who served for two terms from 1869 to 1877. During his presidential incumbency, President Grant visited Kingston and at a public reception held at the General Sharpe mansion, now the Governor Clinton Hotel annex, Mr. Brigham introduced the president to the assemblage.

In the year 1872 when Kingston was incorporated as a city, merging the villages of Kingston and Rondout, Mr. Brigham was then president of the Village of Kingston.

For 87 years, from 1863 to 1950, the Brigham homestead was occupied until it was torn down last year. At that time, when it was purchased by the local automobile agency, it was used as an apartment house and also as the dental offices of Dr. Charles O'Reilly.

On an adjoining site to the old Brigham homestead was another Brigham home, which also was sold last year to the Chevrolet concern and torn down. This dwelling was of brick construction and was built in the year 1892 by H. R. Brigham, son of E. M. Brigham. The latter, who was engaged in the cement and brickmaking business, constructed the residence from the products of his own yards.

In recent years this residence property was occupied by the family of Harold Brigham, a grandson of E. M. Brigham, who now reside on Albany avenue.

Team Game Often Brings Out Champs

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

A team game often separates the sheep from the foxes, and the recent Eastern States tournament was no exception. When today's hand was played, the bidding and the opening lead were identical in both rooms, but the similarity ended at the second trick.

In the first room East overtook the queen of spades with his king, continued with the ace of spades, and then led the jack of spades. It was obvious to South that West would not be able to follow suit.

South therefore had to ruff high enough to shut West out. He couldn't tell that any trump in his hand would be big enough for the task, but he could afford to ruff with the eight of hearts. This naturally held the trick.

It was now clear to declarer that the queen of hearts was in the East hand. He therefore led a diamond to dummy's ace and returned the jack of hearts for a trump finesse. The finesse succeeded, of course, and declarer therefore lost no trump trick. He eventually lost a club trick, but fulfilled his contract.

In the second room East overtook the opening lead with his king of spades but then abandoned the suit. He realized what would happen if he continued the suit. South would undoubtedly ruff high and then finesse through the queen of hearts. Instead of giving away the trump situation. East shifted at once to the queen of clubs.

South won at once with the ace of clubs, fearing that East had led a singleton queen. He had no information about the location of the queen of hearts and (perhaps unwisely) tried to drop it instead of finessing. When the queen of hearts failed to drop under the ace or king, declarer was set. He was bound to lose three tricks in the black suits and had managed to misguess the trumps.

Passover Festival Will Be Celebrated Beginning Friday

Friday evening, April 20, Jews throughout the world will begin the celebration of their annual festival of Passover (Pesach), which commemorates the wondrous deliverance of the Jews from Egyptian bondage according to the story told in the 12th Chapter of the Book of Exodus.

Beginning at sun-down April 20, the 14th day of the Hebrew month of Nissan, and continuing, among the Reform Jews for a period of seven days, ending April 27, and among their Orthodox brethren for eight days, Passover will be celebrated as a festival of freedom. All the ceremonial observances incident to the feast are symbolic of the idea of liberty.

The festival is ushered in on the opening evening of the feast with the Seder, at which the head of the family recounts to the members of his household and their guests seated about the table, the wondrous events that led up to the Jews' deliverance from the hands of their Egyptian masters. This account is known as the Haggadah (story). Especially symbolic of the festival is the unleavened bread or Matso, leavened food being prohibited to the Jew during the festival week. The Matso symbolizes the fact that when, finally, the Jews were permitted to leave Egypt, they were driven out in such haste that they did not have time to leaven their bread.

Other symbols of the feast to be found upon the Seder table are wine, the symbol of gladness, which is a part of the free man; bitter herbs, betokening the bitterness of slavery, and a dainty mixture of apples, nuts, etc., which is variously interpreted, but may be accepted as standing for the sweetness of freedom. The lamb-bond which is on the table reminds the Jews of the Paschal lamb which was sacrificed by the faithful Israelites in Egypt, its blood being sprinkled upon their door posts. When the Angel of Death passed through the land, cutting down the first-born in every Egyptian household, so runs the tradition, the first-born was spared in every home on whose lintels the lamb's blood had been sprinkled.

In all synagogues and temples there will be special services on the first and last days of the festival for the Reform group, and on the first two and last two days for the Conservative and Orthodox groups. Sermons having to do with the Jews' love of liberty will be preached in the houses of worship.

Construction of Rail Bridge At Crossing to Start June 1

Work on the Broadway crossing project is well advanced toward start of steel construction on the railroad bridge by June 1, Henry Millonig, state engineer in charge and Joseph Thomas, construction superintendent for the contractor, Lipsett, Inc., said yesterday.

The work schedule, as currently outlined, calls for completion of the project by mid-November and the opening of the Broadway underpass to traffic about six weeks earlier.

Half of the concrete for the abutment on the north side of the street is expected to be poured by the end of this week and the other half next week. Footing has been completed for the abutment on the south side of the street, and a temporary connection has been made to drain grade water into the Greenkill avenue sewer line.

Causes No Interference

The grade water which is 18 inches over the abutment footing on the south side, and was about the same on the other side, has caused no interference with the pouring of concrete.

The temporary detour of the water and sewer lines on the south side of Broadway, which are now above the final street level of the underpass, will be lowered as the project nears completion.

Two huge side girders for the railroad bridge, which are now stored in the project area, weigh about 80 tons each. They will span the street at a clearance of 14 feet.

Concrete work on the north abutment yesterday included preparation for installing the steel reenforcement rods, and the heavier steel work is expected to start soon after completion of the other abutment.

Repaving Begins

Meanwhile, the contractor is progressing with the repaving of Greenkill avenue, which figured in the relocation of sewer and water lines, a preliminary phase of the project. This work presented hampering problems and took several months to complete. Half of the work of laying curb and sub-base on Greenkill avenue is completed.

The contractor currently employs 55 men on all phases of the project.

Digging on the west side of the crossing is not scheduled to start until the railroad bridge is completed and the tracks of the West Shore railroad are back on their original alignment. Another important steel project then will be the building of the overpass which will connect Greenkill and Railroad avenues.

Cobra Said to Make Love

Madras (AP)—Natives of nearby Calicut give a romantic twist to a tale of the cobra and the lady. The story tells of daily visits by the six-foot reptile to the house of a villager named Narayanan. The snake faithfully follows Narayanana's wife Narayani wherever she goes. Narayani went from fright at first sight to her current atitude of respectful resignation. Popular belief runs that the snake is making love to the woman.

U. S. Puts Snorkel Subs in Korea Area

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The U. S. has put some of its newest snorkel submarines into Korean waters and at least one evidently has been in combat, it was learned today.

The navy has acknowledged only that undersea boats were sent to the area almost as soon as the war started. It has said nothing about types or how the submarines were being used.

This reticence has two primary causes: The normal secrecy surrounding any work of the traditionally "silent service;" and the quiet but careful watch needed for the appearance of Russian surface or undersea craft in the Korean conflict area.

Disclosure that guppy snorkel subs are operating in the Far East arose out of publication of a picture in the official navy service magazine "All Hands." The current edition of the magazine contains a photograph of the crew of the Pickerel receiving the "submarine combat insignia" in a Pearl Harbor ceremony. The brief caption states it is for "a successful war patrol they completed in Korean waters."

Successful War Patrol

In answer to a question, a navy spokesman said that under the provisions for such an award, a successful war patrol "is one in which at least one enemy vessel is sunk" or in which another "operation of comparable significance is successfully accomplished."

The spokesman said he could say nothing about the Pickerel's patrol.

However, it was apparent that if she was in an action the submarine must have used her torpedoes against some hostile craft of more than small size. A guppy submarine has no deck gun such as was used in World War II for shelling small surface ships. Her only weapon is the torpedo and torpedoes are reserved for larger and more profitable targets.

Pravda Gives Its Version of Firing

Moscow, April 18 (AP)—Pravda today asserted that President Truman had dismissed General MacArthur because the former Far East commander had been unable to accomplish the invasion of China.

The Communist Party newspaper—in the first Russian comment on MacArthur's dismissal—said the general had been given the job not only of taking all of Korea, but also "of invading Manchuria to attack the Chinese people's republic."

The U. S. President, Pravda said, was trying to shift to MacArthur the responsibility for American failures in Korea.

(President Truman said he had fired MacArthur because the general's public advocacy of an invasion of the Chinese mainland by troops of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime, contrary to U. S. government policy, threatened a third world war.)

"Precisely owing to his inability to effect these aggressive plans, the ill-starred MacArthur was removed from his post," Pravda said. "His inability to cope with the situation in Korea is the reason for the inglorious collapse of MacArthur's career."

The editorial demanded to know what the United States now proposes to offer as a peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict, then added that American policy in the Far East was unchanged by MacArthur's dismissal.

Pravda said "the heroic struggle of the Korean people and units of Chinese volunteers" had thwarted MacArthur's operations.

Predict Symington For RFC Position

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Administration leaders predicted today swift Senate approval of W. Stuart Symington for a new job—boss and trouble shooter at the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

There was no sign of serious opposition to his appointment.

President Truman announced yesterday selection of Symington to head the huge government lending agency, now under fire in Congress on charges that its loan policies have been influenced by a ring with contacts in the White House. A strong move is afoot to abolish RFC entirely.

Symington, a former secretary of the air force, now is chairman of the National Security Resources Board. In that job, he acted as overall coordinator of the defense mobilization program in its early stages.

Mr. Truman chose him for the newly created post of RFC administrator, to take over from the agency's board of directors, whose jobs were abolished in a reorganization plan freshly approved by Congress.

Senator Maybank (D.-S.C.) announced the Senate Banking Committee which he heads would start hearings on the nomination Tuesday. He predicted Symington's confirmation.

Oil Sought in Mojave

San Bernardino, Calif. (AP) — Western oil men are keeping an eye on drilling operations on the vast Mojave desert across the mountains. While no one has struck oil there yet in commercial quantities, some experts believe it's there to be found. In several areas derricks now point skyward among the yucca and joshua trees. Test wells are being drilled near Barstow, Victorville, Oro Grande, Helendale and Harvard.

Work on the Broadway crossing project is well advanced toward start of steel construction on the railroad bridge by June 1, Henry Millonig, state engineer in charge and Joseph Thomas, construction superintendent for the contractor, Lipsett, Inc., said yesterday.

The work schedule, as currently outlined, calls for completion of the project by mid-November and the opening of the Broadway underpass to traffic about six weeks earlier.

Half of the concrete for the abutment on the north side of the street is expected to be poured by the end of this week and the other half next week. Footing has been completed for the abutment on the south side of the street, and a temporary connection has been made to drain grade water into the Greenkill avenue sewer line.

Causes No Interference

The grade water which is 18 inches over the abutment footing on the south side, and was about the same on the other side, has caused no interference with the pouring of concrete.

The temporary detour of the water and sewer lines on the south side of Broadway, which are now above the final street level of the underpass, will be lowered as the project nears completion.

Two huge side girders for the railroad bridge, which are now stored in the project area, weigh about 80 tons each. They will span the street at a clearance of 14 feet.

Concrete work on the north abutment yesterday included preparation for installing the steel reenforcement rods, and the heavier steel work is expected to start soon after completion of the other abutment.

Repaving Begins

Meanwhile, the contractor is progressing with the repaving of Greenkill avenue, which figured in the relocation of sewer and water lines, a preliminary phase of the project. This work presented hampering problems and took several months to complete. Half of the work of laying curb and sub-base on Greenkill avenue is completed.

The contractor currently employs 55 men on all phases of the project.

Digging on the west side of the crossing is not scheduled to start until the railroad bridge is completed and the tracks of the West Shore railroad are back on their original alignment. Another important steel project then will be the building of the overpass which will connect Greenkill and Railroad avenues.

Cobra Said to Make Love

Madras (AP)—Natives of nearby Calicut give a romantic twist to a tale of the cobra and the lady. The story tells of daily visits by the six-foot reptile to the house of a villager named Narayanan. The snake faithfully follows Narayanana's wife Narayani wherever she goes. Narayani went from fright at first sight to her current atitude of respectful resignation. Popular belief runs that the snake is making love to the woman.

U. S. Puts Snorkel Subs in Korea Area

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The U. S. has put some of its newest snorkel submarines into Korean waters and at least one evidently has been in combat, it was learned today.

The navy has acknowledged only that undersea boats were sent to the area almost as soon as the war started. It has said nothing about types or how the submarines were being used.

This reticence has two primary causes: The normal secrecy surrounding any work of the traditionally "silent service;" and the quiet but careful watch needed for the appearance of Russian surface or undersea craft in the Korean conflict area.

Disclosure that guppy snorkel subs are operating in the Far East arose out of publication of a picture in the official navy service magazine "All Hands." The current edition of the magazine contains a photograph of the crew of the Pickerel receiving the "submarine combat insignia" in a Pearl Harbor ceremony. The brief caption states it is for "a successful war patrol they completed in Korean waters."

Successful War Patrol

In answer to a question, a navy spokesman said that under the provisions for such an award, a successful war patrol "is one in which at least one enemy vessel is sunk" or in which another "operation of comparable significance is successfully accomplished."

The spokesman said he could say nothing about the Pickerel's patrol.

However, it was apparent that if she was in an action the submarine must have used her torpedoes against some hostile craft of more than small size. A guppy submarine has no deck gun such as was used in World War II for shelling small surface ships. Her only weapon is the torpedo and torpedoes are reserved for larger and more profitable targets.

Defective shock absorbers may cause automotive steering trouble. To avoid such difficulty, they should be inspected regularly.

Checks Two-Car Crash

State Trooper Lisman of the Lake Katrine outpost was called to investigate a two-car accident at 10:40 p. m. Tuesday at the junction of highway 9W and the Glasco road south of Saugerties. A car operated by James S. Brown of Teaneck, N. J., and a tractor-trailer owned by Marcus Trucking Company of Monroe and operated by Chester Decker of Monroe collided in the center of the road, Trooper Lisman reported. There were no serious injuries and no arrests. Occupants of the vehicles declined medical attention at the scene, the report states.

Pravda Gives Its Version of Firing

Moscow, April 18 (AP)—Pravda today asserted that President Truman had dismissed General MacArthur because the former Far East commander had been unable to accomplish the invasion of China.

The Communist Party newspaper—in the first Russian comment on MacArthur's dismissal—said the general had been given the job not only of taking all of Korea, but also "of invading Manchuria to attack the Chinese people's republic."

The U. S. President, Pravda said, was trying to shift to MacArthur the responsibility for American failures in Korea.

(President Truman said he had fired MacArthur because the general's public advocacy of an invasion of the Chinese mainland by troops of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist regime, contrary to U. S. government policy, threatened a third world war.)

"Precisely owing to his inability to effect these aggressive plans, the ill-starred MacArthur was removed from his post," Pravda said. "His inability to cope with the situation in Korea is the reason for the inglorious collapse of MacArthur's career."

The editorial demanded to know what the United States now proposes to offer as a peaceful settlement of the Korean conflict, then added that American policy in the Far East was unchanged by MacArthur's dismissal.

Pravda said "the heroic struggle of the Korean people and units of Chinese volunteers" had thwarted MacArthur's operations.

Predict Symington For RFC Position

Washington, April 18 (AP)—Administration leaders predicted today swift Senate approval of W. Stuart Symington for a new job—boss and trouble shooter at the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC).

There was no sign of serious opposition to his appointment.

President Truman announced yesterday selection of Symington to head the huge government lending agency, now under fire in Congress on charges that its loan policies have been influenced by a ring with contacts in the White House. A strong move is afoot to abolish RFC entirely.

Symington, a former secretary of the air force, now is chairman of the National Security Resources Board. In that job, he acted as overall coordinator of the defense mobilization program in its early stages.

Mr. Truman chose him for the newly created post of RFC administrator, to take over from the agency's board of directors, whose jobs were abolished in a reorganization plan freshly approved by Congress.

Senator Maybank (D.-S.C.) announced the Senate Banking Committee which he heads would start hearings on the nomination Tuesday. He predicted Symington's confirmation.

Oil Sought in Mojave

San Bernardino, Calif. (AP) — Western oil men are keeping an eye on drilling operations on the vast Mojave desert across the mountains. While no one has struck oil there yet in commercial quantities, some experts believe it's there to be found. In several areas derricks now point skyward among the yucca and joshua trees. Test wells are being drilled near Barstow, Victorville, Oro Grande, Helendale and Harvard.

'Y' Regional Conference Delegates Hear Of Women's Place in a Troubled World

The ways in which women can help solve the dangers of a critical world situation, and the ways in which the YWCA can better meet the needs of the 3,000,000 women and girls in the United States who are its members, particularly in relation to our present period of tension and fear, were twin subjects at the YWCA's eastern regional conference. The conference was held April 13 through 16 in Boston, Mass.

Local delegates to the conference included Miss Marcia Clarke, Mrs. Harold F. Davis, Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, Miss Esther Van Gaasbeck, and Miss Lucile Palmer, executive director of the Kingston YWCA.

The future of the YWCA in its national and international aspects, coupled with women's contributions to world peace, were discussed by five nationally known YW leaders: Mrs. Maurice T. Moore of New York, chairman of the foreign division committee; Mrs. Bartlett B. Heard of Berkeley, Calif., YWCA vice-president at large and an American representative of the world's YWCA council; Miss Leila Anderson, executive of the student YWCA; Mrs. Edward W. Macy, national board vice-president; and Mrs. Harrison S. Elliott, YWCA general secretary.

Need For Leaders

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Heard, who have both returned recently from trips into key countries, spoke of the need for YWCA leaders in each land to teach the women of the country in the ways of democracy. This need was particularly apparent, they said, in Germany.

In Korea, meanwhile, although YW leaders were either shot, or scattered, faith in the United Nations, and courage among the women there, is quite evident, where the YWCA is being rebuilt in war shattered Seoul. In other nations, as Greece, Italy, and Turkey, the YWCA is spreading the ways of democracy, they said, and is giving women of the world renewed hope and faith in God.

Calls on Americans

Miss Anderson, who has represented the YWCA at many world Christian Youth meetings abroad, called on American women to comprehend and assume their responsibility for today's tragic world situation. They must, she pointed out, understand the nature of the present world struggle, in which millions of men are rising against colonialism, imperialism, and poverty; in which men are striving for economic betterment, and human dignity.

Mrs. Elliott warned delegates that "if we are to live in the kind of world we find ourselves in today, we must be willing to break with our past, our outworn traditions, be they family, race, or economic class."

Helping The Young

Mrs. Macy expressed the belief that through the YWCA's far flung citizenship education, all associations are helping young people become aware of political issues, and are helping them to learn methods of responsible citizenship.

Y-Teens, the youngest YWCA membership group, held "provocative discussion sessions," as did other membership groups, including students, YW wives, and employed girls.

Entertainment at the conference included luncheons, a conference banquet, the famous "Boston tea party," skits, and dramatic presentations. The conference was under the chairmanship of Mrs. George L. West of Pittsburgh, Pa.

Hudela-Wrinn Nuptials Are Held Sunday In the Immaculate Conception Church

The marriage of Miss Rita Wrinn of 35 Third avenue, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wrinn, to Thaddeus Hudela of 423 Delaware avenue, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kasimir Hudela, was held Sunday in the Immaculate Conception Church. The Rev. Leonard M. Henry, O.F.M., formerly of this city, and now at the Franciscan Monastery, Washington, D. C., officiated at the double ring ceremony. The Rev. Father Henry was assisted by the Rev. Joseph Sieczek of the Immaculate Conception parish.

Soloist for the ceremony was Miss Margaret Bujak, who sang Ave Maria and Veni Creator. Miss Theresa Gehringer was organist. The church was decorated with white snapdragons.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, George McCullough. She was dressed in a navy blue suit, with navy blue and white accessories, and an orchid corsage.

Miss Alicia Wrinn was her aunt's only attendant. Miss Wrinn selected a gray gabardine suit, with navy and white accessories. Her corsage was of talisman roses.

Bronislaw S. Hudela of 540 Albany avenue, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at White Eagle Hall, with approximately 160 guests attending.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Hudela are visiting New York and Washington, D. C. The bride's traveling ensemble included a silk print dress, navy blue accessories, and an orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home at 507 Delaware avenue.

Mrs. Hudela attended Kingston High School, and is now employed at the Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen.

Mr. Hudela, who is associated with his brother in business, attended the Immaculate Conception School. He also served for four years with the army in the India, Burma and China theatre.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

INVITING NEWCOMERS

A reader tells me: "We are finding the following situation distressing. As a friendly gesture, we called on some new neighbors. They returned our call. Since that time they have invited a few of us together who called on them for cocktails. We found we had little in common with them and didn't dare to encourage further friendship. We ourselves are now giving a large cocktail party and having all of our friends and most of our neighbors. Can we ignore the new ones?"

If you were giving a very small party, then it would be quite all right to leave them out. But since you are giving so large and general a party, and including most of your neighbors, you would probably hurt their feelings by leaving them out. After this once you need not ask them again—certainly not to any small parties.

Bridegroom's Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: When the bridegroom is to wear a wedding ring, does he also buy his ring or does the bride? And what is the procedure so that the ring will be to his liking and fit?

Answer: The bride buys his ring, and usually does this when she goes with him to try on her ring.

Announcing Adopted Baby

Dear Mrs. Post: We sent announcements of our adopted baby. These were printed Mr. and Mrs. ..... announce the adoption of Mary Lou, and her age. Later we discovered that they were considered improper for an adopted child. We're soon going to adopt another baby and wanted to make sure before we made the same mistake again. Naturally we'd like to announce this second child too.

Answer: You were absolutely correct in sending out the announcements you did, and you should do the same exactly for as many babies as you might possibly adopt. The wording I like best is:

Mr. and Mrs. Whatever Name have the happiness to announce the adoption of etc.

YWCA Drama Group Elects New Officers

New officers were elected yesterday when the drama group of the YWCA met at 1 p. m. for its monthly luncheon and program. They are Mrs. William Ochs, chairman; Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, vice-chairman; Mrs. M. R. Coutant, recording secretary; Mrs. W. Dean Hays, treasurer.

The program was given by Mrs. Robert Pixley; a monologue, Miss Stone, (anonymous) and a reading, The Drowning Signal, by Marian Farningham.

Mrs. Ralph Harper, chairman, who conducted the business meeting, announced that Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, and Mrs. Maxwell Taylor will present a skit, Vengeance Heights, at the YWCA Women's Club luncheon, scheduled for April 25 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The group voted to present a one act play, Rocking Chair Row, at the County Home, New Paltz, May 15. Members are requested to attend, and a picnic lunch will precede the program. Mrs. Harper also announced that the New York regional conference of little theatre groups will be held in the North Congregational Church social hall, Linden avenue, Middletown, Saturday, April 28, from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. Those planning to attend are asked to contact Mrs. Harper.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. Earl F. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Adam C. Thiel, and Mrs. Ochs.

AAUW Hears Program On United Nations, Local Organizations

Mrs. George Dingee, chairman of the international relations group presented the program April 10 when Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women met in the new wing of Kingston High School vocational building. Highlights of the subject, (What Has the United Nations Accomplished?) were outlined by various members of the group.

The general structure of the United Nations was described in a report prepared by Mrs. Burton Schwab, and read by Miss Mary Kelly. Meanwhile, Mrs. Ida Sherman gave a detailed discussion of the Security Council's work, and the work of two special agencies, the FAO, and the WHO, were outlined by Mrs. Phyllis Craft Smith.

Attention was next given to the International Refugee Organization, which has moved over 675 displaced persons each day over a three and a half, year period with a total from 1947 to 1951 of 860,000 persons. The study of the agency was made by Mrs. Robert Groves, and read by Mrs. Dingee.

Other Accomplishments

Two other important United Nations' accomplishments were emphasized by Miss Ethel Hull, and Miss Kinkade. Miss Hull told of the difficulties the committee headed by Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt had to contend with in drawing up the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and Miss Kinkade told of the work done by the Narcotics Commission. Its work, she pointed out, is of growing concern to the United States, particularly when considered in the light of the increased drug traffic since World War 2 among teen-agers.

Local Organizations

The second portion of the program was devoted to a discussion of local organizations. Mrs. John H. Clair, chairman of the social studies group, introduced Miss Elma Kullman who spoke for Mrs. Willard Walker on the reorganization of the Day Nursery.

The next speaker, Mrs. Albert Kurdt, described Ulster county's many attractive features, pointing out its merits and rating as both a summer and winter vacationland.

Vital Issues

Two topic of vital interest today were handled by Mrs. Charles Forst, who spoke on civilian defense from a county-wide and city basis, and by Miss Angelina Boella who discussed price control.

Mrs. Forst gave a comprehensive picture of defense work, and displayed a map marked with the main routes out of New York and the metropolitan area in the event of an attack. She stressed how important it is for members to volunteer for work on various defense committees.

Miss Boella recalled the actions that have taken place since price control went into effect last January 26.

Officers Elected

During the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. Smith, president; Mrs. Forst, first vice-president; Mrs. Herman Roosa, second vice-president; Mrs. John Gill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Clair, recording secretary; Miss Ruth Herdman, treasurer.

Miss Marianne Davis, a graduate of New York State Teachers College, was accepted for membership, and tentative plans for a bridge party for the benefit of the scholarship fund were announced by the president.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Schwab, Miss Ilse Selmer, Mrs. Sherman, Miss Margaret Mullen, Mrs. James Murphy, and Mrs. Harry Streifer. Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw presided over the tea table.

Ulster Garden Club Hears Program Based On Planned Planting

Mrs. Erastus Corning of Albany, eastern zone chairman of the Garden Club of America was guest of honor yesterday afternoon when the Ulster Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Cutler, 16 John street. Mrs. Corning gave a brief description of her recent visit to the Williamsburg Symposium of Gardeners, which is held annually in the historic old town. She also described a tea and musical which was given at the Governor's Palace. The musical program was presented, she explained on colonial instruments, like the harpsichord, and the entire palace was lighted, as in the early days with candles. Particularly impressive, she said, were hundreds of candles winking in the depths of a crystal chandelier.

The group's regular program, Gardens Planned for a Succession of Blooms, was given by Herbert Cutler. Mr. Cutler told how each gardener is able to enjoy different blooms, and described the plants which should be used each month to insure flowers from May through November.

During its business meeting the club elected Mrs. Howard Lewis as president, and Mrs. Roger Loughran as delegate, to represent it at the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America, which will be held next month in the Hotel Pierre, New York.

At the close of the meeting tea was served. Mrs. William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, and Mrs. George V. D. Hutton poured.

The ways in which women can help solve the dangers of a critical world situation, and the ways in which the YWCA can better meet the needs of the 3,000,000 women and girls in the United States who are its members, particularly in relation to our present period of tension and fear, were twin subjects at the YWCA's eastern regional conference. The conference was held April 13 through 16 in Boston, Mass.

Local delegates to the conference included Miss Marcia Clarke, Mrs. Harold F. Davis, Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, Miss Esther Van Gaasbeck, and Miss Lucile Palmer, executive director of the Kingston YWCA.

The future of the YWCA in its national and international aspects, coupled with women's contributions to world peace, were discussed by five nationally known YW leaders: Mrs. Maurice T. Moore of New York, chairman of the foreign division committee; Mrs. Bartlett B. Heard of Berkeley, Calif., YWCA vice-president at large and an American representative of the world's YWCA council; Miss Leila Anderson, executive of the student YWCA; Mrs. Edward W. Macy, national board vice-president; and Mrs. Harrison S. Elliott, YWCA general secretary.

Need For Leaders

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Heard, who have both returned recently from trips into key countries, spoke of the need for YWCA leaders in each land to teach the women of the country in the ways of democracy. This need was particularly apparent, they said, in Germany.

In Korea, meanwhile, although YW leaders were either shot, or scattered, faith in the United Nations, and courage among the women there, is quite evident, where the YWCA is being rebuilt in war shattered Seoul. In other nations, as Greece, Italy, and Turkey, the YWCA is spreading the ways of democracy, they said, and is giving women of the world renewed hope and faith in God.

Calls on Americans

Miss Anderson, who has represented the YWCA at many world Christian Youth meetings abroad, called on American women to comprehend and assume their responsibility for today's tragic world situation. They must, she pointed out, understand the nature of the present world struggle, in which millions of men are rising against colonialism, imperialism, and poverty; in which men are striving for economic betterment, and human dignity.

Mrs. Elliott warned delegates that "if we are to live in the kind of world we find ourselves in today, we must be willing to break with our past, our outworn traditions, be they family, race, or economic class."

Helping The Young

Mrs. Macy expressed the belief that through the YWCA's far flung citizenship education, all associations are helping young people become aware of political issues, and are helping them to learn methods of responsible citizenship.

Y-Teens, the youngest YWCA membership group, held "provocative discussion sessions," as did other membership groups, including students, YW wives, and employed girls.

Entertainment at the conference included luncheons, a conference banquet, the famous "Boston tea party," skits, and dramatic presentations. The conference was under the chairmanship of Mrs. George L. West of Pittsburgh, Pa.

INVITING NEWCOMERS

A reader tells me: "We are finding the following situation distressing. As a friendly gesture, we called on some new neighbors. They returned our call. Since that time they have invited a few of us together who called on them for cocktails. We found we had little in common with them and didn't dare to encourage further friendship. We ourselves are now giving a large cocktail party and having all of our friends and most of our neighbors. Can we ignore the new ones?"

If you were giving a very small party, then it would be quite all right to leave them out. But since you are giving so large and general a party, and including most of your neighbors, you would probably hurt their feelings by leaving them out. After this once you need not ask them again—certainly not to any small parties.

YWCA Drama Group Elects New Officers

The program was given by Mrs. Robert Pixley; a monologue, Miss Stone, (anonymous) and a reading, The Drowning Signal, by Marian Farningham.

Mrs. Ralph Harper, chairman, who conducted the business meeting, announced that Mrs. Charles Terwilliger, and Mrs. Maxwell Taylor will present a skit, Vengeance Heights, at the YWCA Women's Club luncheon, scheduled for April 25 at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The group voted to present a one act play, Rocking Chair Row, at the County Home, New Paltz, May 15. Members are requested to attend, and a picnic lunch will precede the program. Mrs. Harper also announced that the New York regional conference of little theatre groups will be held in the North Congregational Church social hall, Linden avenue, Middletown, Saturday, April 28, from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. AAUWHearsProgram On United Nations, Local Organizations

Mrs. George Dingee, chairman of the international relations group presented the program April 10 when Kingston Branch of the American Association of University Women met in the new wing of Kingston High School vocational building. Highlights of the subject, (What Has the United Nations Accomplished?) were outlined by various members of the group.

The general structure of the United Nations was described in a report prepared by Mrs. Burton Schwab, and read by Miss Mary Kelly. Meanwhile, Mrs. Ida Sherman gave a detailed discussion of the Security Council's work, and the work of two special agencies, the FAO, and the WHO, were outlined by Mrs. Phyllis Craft Smith.

Attention was next given to the International Refugee Organization, which has moved over 675 displaced persons each day over a three and a half, year period with a total from 1947 to 1951 of 860,000 persons. The study of the agency was made by Mrs. Robert Groves, and read by Mrs. Dingee.

Other Accomplishments

Two other important United Nations' accomplishments were emphasized by Miss Ethel Hull, and Miss Kinkade. Miss Hull told of the difficulties the committee headed by Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt had to contend with in drawing up the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and Miss Kinkade told of the work done by the Narcotics Commission. Its work, she pointed out, is of growing concern to the United States, particularly when considered in the light of the increased drug traffic since World War 2 among teen-agers.

Local Organizations

The second portion of the program was devoted to a discussion of local organizations. Mrs. John H. Clair, chairman of the social studies group, introduced Miss Elma Kullman who spoke for Mrs. Willard Walker on the reorganization of the Day Nursery.

The next speaker, Mrs. Albert Kurdt, described Ulster county's many attractive features, pointing out its merits and rating as both a summer and winter vacationland.

Vital Issues

Two topic of vital interest today were handled by Mrs. Charles Forst, who spoke on civilian defense from a county-wide and city basis, and by Miss Angelina Boella who discussed price control.

Mrs. Forst gave a comprehensive picture of defense work, and displayed a map marked with the main routes out of New York and the metropolitan area in the event of an attack. She stressed how important it is for members to volunteer for work on various defense committees.

Miss Boella recalled the actions that have taken place since price control went into effect last January 26.

Officers Elected

During the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. Smith, president; Mrs. Forst, first vice-president; Mrs. Herman Roosa, second vice-president; Mrs. John Gill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Clair, recording secretary; Miss Ruth Herdman, treasurer.

Miss Marianne Davis, a graduate of New York State Teachers College, was accepted for membership, and tentative plans for a bridge party for the benefit of the scholarship fund were announced by the president.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Schwab, Miss Ilse Selmer, Mrs. Sherman, Miss Margaret Mullen, Mrs. James Murphy, and Mrs. Harry Streifer. Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw presided over the tea table.

Ulster Garden Club Hears Program Based On Planned Planting

Mrs. Erastus Corning of Albany, eastern zone chairman of the Garden Club of America was guest of honor yesterday afternoon when the Ulster Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Cutler, 16 John street. Mrs. Corning gave a brief description of her recent visit to the Williamsburg Symposium of Gardeners, which is held annually in the historic old town. She also described a tea and musical which was given at the Governor's Palace. The musical program was presented, she explained on colonial instruments, like the harpsichord, and the entire palace was lighted, as in the early days with candles. Particularly impressive, she said, were hundreds of candles winking in the depths of a crystal chandelier.

The group's regular program, Gardens Planned for a Succession of Blooms, was given by Herbert Cutler. Mr. Cutler told how each gardener is able to enjoy different blooms, and described the plants which should be used each month to insure flowers from May through November.

During its business meeting the club elected Mrs. Howard Lewis as president, and Mrs. Roger Loughran as delegate, to represent it at the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America, which will be held next month in the Hotel Pierre, New York.

At the close of the meeting tea was served. Mrs. William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, and Mrs. George V. D. Hutton poured.

'Y' Regional Conference Delegates Hear Of Women's Place in a Troubled World

The ways in which women can help solve the dangers of a critical world situation, and the ways in which the YWCA can better meet the needs of the 3,000,000 women and girls in the United States who are its members, particularly in relation to our present period of tension and fear, were twin subjects at the YWCA's eastern regional conference. The conference was held April 13 through 16 in Boston, Mass.

Local delegates to the conference included Miss Marcia Clarke, Mrs. Harold F. Davis, Mrs. W. Dale Swartzmiller, Miss Esther Van Gaasbeck, and Miss Lucile Palmer, executive director of the Kingston YWCA.

The future of the YWCA in its national and international aspects, coupled with women's contributions to world peace, were discussed by five nationally known YW leaders: Mrs. Maurice T. Moore of New York, chairman of the foreign division committee; Mrs. Bartlett B. Heard of Berkeley, Calif., YWCA vice-president at large and an American representative of the world's YWCA council; Miss Leila Anderson, executive of the student YWCA; Mrs. Edward W. Need For Leaders

Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Heard, who have both returned recently from trips into key countries, spoke of the need for YWCA leaders in each land to teach the women of the country in the ways of democracy. This need was particularly apparent, they said, in Germany.

Mrs. Macy expressed the belief that through the YWCA's far flung citizenship education, all associations are helping young people become aware of political issues, and are helping them to learn methods of responsible citizenship.

Highlights of the subject, (What Has the United Nations Accomplished?) were outlined by various members of the group.

The general structure of the United Nations was described in a report prepared by Mrs. Burton Schwab, and read by Miss Mary Kelly. Meanwhile, Mrs. Ida Sherman gave a detailed discussion of the Security Council's work, and the work of two special agencies, the FAO, and the WHO, were outlined by Mrs. Phyllis Craft Smith.

Attention was next given to the International Refugee Organization, which has moved over 675 displaced persons each day over a three and a half, year period with a total from 1947 to 1951 of 860,000 persons. The study of the agency was made by Mrs. Robert Groves, and read by Mrs. Dingee.

Other Accomplishments

Two other important United Nations' accomplishments were emphasized by Miss Ethel Hull, and Miss Kinkade. Miss Hull told of the difficulties the committee headed by Mrs. Franklin Roosevelt had to contend with in drawing up the Universal Declaration of Human Rights, and Miss Kinkade told of the work done by the Narcotics Commission. Its work, she pointed out, is of growing concern to the United States, particularly when considered in the light of the increased drug traffic since World War 2 among teen-agers.

Local Organizations

The second portion of the program was devoted to a discussion of local organizations. Mrs. John H. Clair, chairman of the social studies group, introduced Miss Elma Kullman who spoke for Mrs. Willard Walker on the reorganization of the Day Nursery.

The next speaker, Mrs. Albert Kurdt, described Ulster county's many attractive features, pointing out its merits and rating as both a summer and winter vacationland.

Vital Issues

Two topic of vital interest today were handled by Mrs. Charles Forst, who spoke on civilian defense from a county-wide and city basis, and by Miss Angelina Boella who discussed price control.

Mrs. Forst gave a comprehensive picture of defense work, and displayed a map marked with the main routes out of New York and the metropolitan area in the event of an attack. She stressed how important it is for members to volunteer for work on various defense committees.

Miss Boella recalled the actions that have taken place since price control went into effect last January 26.

Officers Elected

During the business meeting the following officers were elected: Mrs. Smith, president; Mrs. Forst, first vice-president; Mrs. Herman Roosa, second vice-president; Mrs. John Gill, corresponding secretary; Mrs. John Clair, recording secretary; Miss Ruth Herdman, treasurer.

Miss Marianne Davis, a graduate of New York State Teachers College, was accepted for membership, and tentative plans for a bridge party for the benefit of the scholarship fund were announced by the president.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Schwab, Miss Ilse Selmer, Mrs. Sherman, Miss Margaret Mullen, Mrs. James Murphy, and Mrs. Harry Streifer. Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw presided over the tea table.

Ulster Garden Club Hears Program Based On Planned Planting

Mrs. Erastus Corning of Albany, eastern zone chairman of the Garden Club of America was guest of honor yesterday afternoon when the Ulster Garden Club met at the home of Mrs. Herbert Cutler, 16 John street. Mrs. Corning gave a brief description of her recent visit to the Williamsburg Symposium of Gardeners, which is held annually in the historic old town. She also described a tea and musical which was given at the Governor's Palace. The musical program was presented, she explained on colonial instruments, like the harpsichord, and the entire palace was lighted, as in the early days with candles. Particularly impressive, she said, were hundreds of candles winking in the depths of a crystal chandelier.

The group's regular program, Gardens Planned for a Succession of Blooms, was given by Herbert Cutler. Mr. Cutler told how each gardener is able to enjoy different blooms, and described the plants which should be used each month to insure flowers from May through November.

During its business meeting the club elected Mrs. Howard Lewis as president, and Mrs. Roger Loughran as delegate, to represent it at the annual meeting of the Garden Club of America, which will be held next month in the Hotel Pierre, New York.

At the close of the meeting tea was served. Mrs. William Hasbrouck of Stone Ridge, and Mrs. George V. D. Hutton poured.

Frances Carpino Becomes the Bride Of Joseph Miuccio

Miss Frances Carpino of 39 Gill street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carpino, became the bride of Joseph J. Miuccio of Lincoln Park, son of James Miuccio, and the late Mrs. Miuccio, Sunday, April 8. The ceremony was held in St. Mary's Church, with the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiating.

Theodore Riccobono, organist, played traditional bridal music, while soloist Martin Kelly sang Ave Maria, and Mother Beloved.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Roscoe Carpino. She was dressed in a gown of white Skinner satin, cut with a fitted bodice. Her illusion neckline was trimmed with seed pearls and sequins, and she wore a fingertip veil caught to a crown of seeded pearls. She carried a prayer book with white stephanotis and roses.

Miss Frances Miuccio, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Miss Miuccio wore a gown of Nile green embroidered Swiss organdy. It was fashioned with an off-shoulder basque bodice, tiny sleeves, and a bouffant floor length skirt. She wore matching mitts and a headpiece of pale pink velvet forget-me-nots. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses centering pink forget-me-nots.

Anthony J. Miuccio, brother of the groom, was best man. George E. Countryman and Harold Van-Nosall were ushers.

Flood Drives Out Many Thousands

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands were homeless and other thousands were threatened with evacuation today by flood waters from the mighty Mississippi which is on a rampage in the midwest.

The Red Cross estimated 23,000 persons have been affected by spring floods in five midwest states.

Communities along the Mississippi from St. Paul to Quincy, Ill., braced for what may be the most disastrous floods in years.

The river, which hit a record 17.5 foot level at Winona, Minn., last night, was expected to crest slightly above that mark today in the worst flood in the upper valley in 70 years.

300 Families Evacuated

More than 300 families were evacuated in Winona, an industrial city of 25,000. Barriers, some as high as 10 feet and one of them 1,300 feet long, were erected north and south of the city.

South of Winona at La Crosse, Wis., water covered at least 30 city blocks and 300 families were forced to flee their homes. Downstream at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., about one-third of the city of 5,000 population was covered by four to five feet of water. About 150 families have been evacuated from the flooded homes.

The Red Cross and civil defense agencies are busy caring for the homeless in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and northern Iowa.

Mostly Mild Weather

It was mostly mild weather today from the Mississippi valley eastward through the southern and central plains and southern and central Rockies to the Pacific coast. Some cold moved southward over the northern plains and northern Rockies. Rain and light snow were reported in the cold belt. It also was cool in the northern Great Lakes region, and fair and cool over the eastern part of the country.

2,000 Delegates Are Expected for V.F.W. Convention

At a well-attended meeting Tuesday night in the Dugout on Delaware avenue, committees from Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, made plans for the convention of District No. 2, Department of New York, to be held June 2 and 3.

General Chairman William Jordan said approximately 2,000 delegates and representatives of V.F.W. posts in the district will be in Kingston for the convention. It is the eighth annual event of the sort, last year's having been held in Haverstraw, where Joyce-Schirick delegates issued the invitation to come to this city.

Commander Raymond Myers of the local V.F.W. said the post home on Delaware avenue will be used for registration on the opening day of the convention, and he anticipates that its facilities will be taxed to capacity.

Chairman Jordan reported that the Kingston Chamber of Commerce is assisting with reservations for living accommodations for delegates and indications are that hotels and tourist homes will be well patronized.

2,000 Delegates Are Expected for V.F.W. Convention

At a well-attended meeting Tuesday night in the Dugout on Delaware avenue, committees from Joyce-Schirick Post, 1386, Veterans of Foreign Wars, made plans for the convention of District No. 2, Department of New York, to be held June 2 and 3.

General Chairman William Jordan said approximately 2,000 delegates and representatives of V.F.W. posts in the district will be in Kingston for the convention. It is the eighth annual event of the sort, last year's having been held in Haverstraw, where Joyce-Schirick delegates issued the invitation to come to this city.

Commander Raymond Myers of the local V.F.W. said the post home on Delaware avenue will be used for registration on the opening day of the convention, and he anticipates that its facilities will be taxed to capacity.

Chairman Jordan reported that the Kingston Chamber of Commerce is assisting with reservations for living accommodations for delegates and indications are that hotels and tourist homes will be well patronized.

163 More Casualties

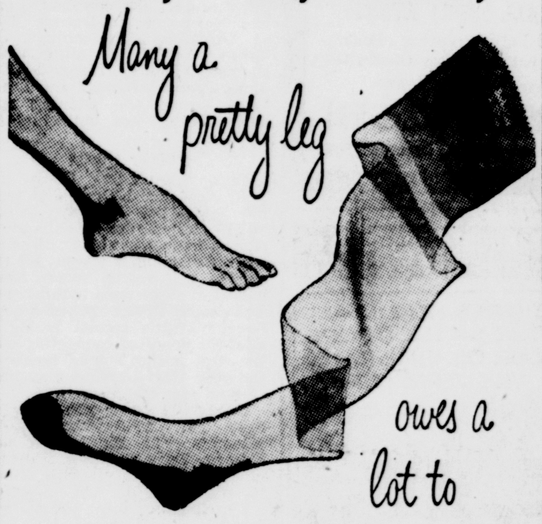

Washington, April 18 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 163 additional casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 280) reported 51 killed, 64 wounded, 10 missing in action and 38 injured in accidents.

Frances Carpino Becomes the Bride Of Joseph Miuccio

Miss Frances Carpino of 39 Gill street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Louis Carpino, became the bride of Joseph J. Miuccio of Lincoln Park, son of James Miuccio, and the late Mrs. Miuccio, Sunday, April 8. The ceremony was held in St. Mary's Church, with the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiating.

Theodore Riccobono, organist, played traditional bridal music, while soloist Martin Kelly sang Ave Maria, and Mother Beloved.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Roscoe Carpino. She was dressed in a gown of white Skinner satin, cut with a fitted bodice. Her illusion neckline was trimmed with seed pearls and sequins, and she wore a fingertip veil caught to a crown of seeded pearls. She carried a prayer book with white stephanotis and roses.

Miss Frances Miuccio, sister of the groom, was maid of honor. Miss Miuccio wore a gown of Nile green embroidered Swiss organdy. It was fashioned with an off-shoulder basque bodice, tiny sleeves, and a bouffant floor length skirt. She wore matching mitts and a headpiece of pale pink velvet forget-me-nots. Her colonial bouquet was of pink roses centering pink forget-me-nots.

Anthony J. Miuccio, brother of the groom, was best man. George E. Countryman and Harold VanNosall were ushers.

Flood Drives Out Many Thousands

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands were homeless and other thousands were threatened with evacuation today by flood waters from the mighty Mississippi which is on a rampage in the midwest.

The Red Cross estimated 23,000 persons have been affected by spring floods in five midwest states.

Communities along the Mississippi from St. Paul to Quincy, Ill., braced for what may be the most disastrous floods in years.

The river, which hit a record 17.5 foot level at Winona, Minn., last night, was expected to crest slightly above that mark today in the worst flood in the upper valley in 70 years.

300 Families Evacuated

More than 300 families were evacuated in Winona, an industrial city of 25,000. Barriers, some as high as 10 feet and one of them 1,300 feet long, were erected north and south of the city.

South of Winona at La Crosse, Wis., water covered at least 30 city blocks and 300 families were forced to flee their homes. Downstream at Prairie Du Chien, Wis., about one-third of the city of 5,000 population was covered by four to five feet of water. About 150 families have been evacuated from the flooded homes.

The Red Cross and civil defense agencies are busy caring for the homeless in Minnesota, the Dakotas, Wisconsin and northern Iowa.

Mostly Mild Weather

It was mostly mild weather today from the Mississippi valley eastward through the southern and central plains and southern and central Rockies to the Pacific coast. Some cold moved southward over the northern plains and northern Rockies. Rain and light snow were reported in the cold belt. It also was cool in the northern Great Lakes region, and fair and cool over the eastern part of the country.

Same Old Sox Away From Home; Jansen and Lemon Star on Mound

New Players Grab Spotlight

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this going to be another bridesmaid year for Boston's perennial left-at-the-altar Red Sox?

Vic Raschi's 5-0 handcuffing of the Sox sluggers for the New York Yankees yesterday may have been just one of those things. On the other hand, it might have been a sign of things to come. It smacks too much of "the same old Red Sox" of the past four years.

Watching the Sox being throttled with six little singles made it almost impossible to visualize them as the same pulverizing team that ran off 11 straight Grapefruit League victories.

It made it easy to recall the Red Sox of 1947-48-49-50. All-conquering on paper. All-powerful in spring training. All-mighty in the eyes of most experts. All-America choice for the flag.

Then they start to play for keeps. They stray away from friendly Fenway Park and Boston's blasting batters become brittle and its hurricane hurlers become harmless.

The season's opener proved a total loss so far as Boston was concerned. Not only were the Red Sox horse-collared, but the city's National League representatives, the Braves, were goose-egged as Larry Jansen of the Giants shut them out, 4-0, with five little singles.

Philadelphia's defending champion Phils downed Brooklyn's Dodgers, 5-2, at Ebbets Field. Robin Roberts, whose final-day triumph over the Brooks gave the Phils their first flag in 35 years last season, again thwarted the Dodgers.

Lemon's 2-Hitter

Bob Lemon, king of the 1950 pitchers, threw a brilliant two-hitter at the Tigers to pitch the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph in Detroit.

Outfielder Al Zarilla blasted St. Louis Brown pitching for a home run, double and single to lead the White Sox to a 17-3 romp before 5,660 at St. Louis.

Murry Dickson pitched and batted the Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in Pittsburgh. The little right-hander walloped his first major league home run and contributed a single in another scoring rally.

The Chicago Cubs made merry at the expense of Ken Raffensberger, whipping the Cincinnati Reds, 8-3. Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder, chipped in with a homer, triple and single.

Cold weather held the inaugural crowds to a disappointing 171,678 fans at the eight parks. Last year the eight openers drew 252,700 fans.

The biggest crowd of the day—44,860 Yankee Stadium fans—saw Jackie Jensen steal the show from Mickey Mantle, the publicized New York rookie flash. Jensen smashed a two-run homer and doubled in the sixth inning. Mantle singled in four times at bat.

A crowd of 43,470 watched a pitching duel between Lemon and Hal Newhouser in Detroit. Tied at 1-1 after eight innings, the Tribe won in the ninth when shortstop Johnny Lipon bobbled Jim Hegan's grounder and Larry Doby scored the winning run. Jerry Priddy got both hits off Lemon.

Sisler Clicks

Dick Sisler, Del Ennis and Mike Goliat led the Phils nine-hit attack at Brooklyn before 19,217 chilled fans. Sisler, whose three-run homer beat Brooklyn for the pennant last year, hit two singles and scored twice. Ennis batted in three runs with a homer and single. Goliat socked a four-bagger in the second inning to gain the honor of connecting with the first major league homer of the year. Carl Erskine, a surprise starter, was the loser.

Only 6,081 saw Jansen gain his first victory in four opening-day attempts. The righthander outpitched Vern Bickford, Boston's no-hit hurler, to give the Giants their first opening win since 1946.

Dutch Hiller went all the way for the Cubs before 18,211 at Chicago.

The Washington Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind Con Marerro in the first night opener in American League history.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Batting — Rookie Dee Fondy, Cubs, batted in four runs with a bases-loaded triple in his first major league time at bat and two singles as Chicago whipped the Reds, 8-3.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees, stopped the Red Sox sluggers with six singles as he pitched the Yankees to a 5-0 victory.

Snead's Golf Homer Settles Argument

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—Sammy Snead settled a long-standing argument today over whether a golf ball could be driven from home plate over the towering centerfield scoreboard at Wrigley Field. It can, by a golfer like Sam.

Wearing street clothes, Snead sent a ball zooming well over the scoreboard with a No. 2 iron after hitting the board with a swing with the No. 4 iron. Snead calculated the carry was 175 yards. The scoreboard rises 89 feet in the air some 50 feet behind the 400-mark on the centerfield wall.

Snead did the trick before the Cincinnati-Chicago Cubs opener.

Colonials In Again!

Pardon us while we stifle a polite yawn. But duty compels us to report that Pete Keresman's Colonials have nailed down another City Bowling League pennant.

As a matter of fact it has been fait accompli for a couple of weeks but the conclusion of the league schedule on Monday put the final, official touches on this momentous accomplishment.

Enhancing their own reputation, the Colonials proceeded to polish off the Old Capital Motors in three straight games on the final night of play. This feat will be the subject of considerable bantering between the rival team jockeys and on doubt will be a prime topic of discussion at the annual merry making at Jake's Grill on Monday, April 23.

Manfro Leads League

Charlie Manfro was the individual scoring leader in the final session with 186-202-250—638. Harold Broskie posted 257—622; Charlie Gildersleeve 212-224—619 and George Robinson 242-200—618.

Ruzzo opened his middle game with a miss in the first frame, spared and then tossed ten strikes in a row.

Jensen Out-Talked Casey Stengel and Made It Stick

New York, April 18 (AP)—It is extremely seldom that Casey Stengel finds himself out-talked, especially in the spring, but the manager of the Yankees must have been a happy man today that he let a brash youngster from out west stop him cold some six weeks ago.

The object of the unusual debate—and the winner—was Jackie Jensen batting hero of the bombers' opening victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday at the stadium.

When Casey opened training at Phoenix he was fully determined that Jensen, former football and baseball great at the University of California, was going to be a pitcher if he expected to remain with the Yankees.

Jensen had been a standout pitcher in college, but he reported to the Yanks last year as an outfielder. He sat around all season, played but little and proved, at least to Stengel's satisfaction that he couldn't hit big league pitching.

Stengel lost no time advising Jackie where his future lay when he reported this spring.

Told To Pitch

"You're going to be a pitcher," he informed the coast product. "You can throw harder than any man on my staff except maybe Allie Reynolds. You got four good pitches, all any pitcher needs. Some of those pitchers make pretty good money, too, just like outfielders. You can't play outfield for the Yankees if you can't hit."

Jensen wasn't impressed. He still wanted outfield. He was even a little stubborn.

"You fellows signed me as an outfielder," he said grimly. "All those other clubs that wanted me seemed to think I could play out there. I still think I can hit if I get a chance to play regularly."

This distressed Stengel, and he mourned to the correspondents.

"Can you imagine a boy with an arm like that not wanting to pitch for the Yankees?" he asked them. "We need pitchers. We got outfielders."

Brief Experiment

The upshot was that he finally induced Jackie to warm up two or three times. He and pitching coach Jim Turner made it a point to stand within earshot of Jackie and comment loudly on his blinding speed, his mastery of the curve.

After a few days of that, Casey announced that his problem boy was going to make his mound debut in an inter-squad game. There was considerable anticipation but a cold wind chose that day to strike, and the game was cancelled. And that was the end of Jackie as a pitcher.

The next day he was outfielding, and as game followed game he began to hit. Not only did he begin to bang the ball to every field, but he also flowered as a glove man. He went a long way and pulled them down with one hand. He was spectacular.

When the Sox started Bill Wight, a southpaw, in the inaugural yesterday there was Jensen in the left. Nobody much noticed because the phenom, Mickey Mantle was in right, and you can't watch two phenom's at once.

First time up, Jackie fanned, swinging at a bad ball. Next time he caught hold of one on the end of his bat and dumped the ball into the lower right field stands, driving in what proved to be the winning run ahead of him.

On his third trip he launched a three-run rally that finally put the skids under the Sox with a sizzling double down the right field line.

It looks as though the boy who didn't want to pitch for the world champions is on his way to proving his point.

Twelve Candidates Seeking Berths On Kingston High's Golf Squad

Bostic Brothers Top Candidates

Gone are the Leon Randalls and Johnny Gleasons, from the fabulous, undefeated Kingston High School golf powerhouse of the past few seasons, but the 1951 prospects are fairly encouraging.

At least, the 12-man field of candidates includes a number of young worthies who should be of considerable comfort and assistance to the new coach—Bob DeFeis.

DeFeis has been named replacement for Russ Cunningham, who was called to active duty by the navy in February.

Heading the group now battling for varsity berths are the Bostic brothers—Harvey and Charlie—Brian Smith and Norman Foster, the Woodstock youngster.

The Brooks brothers — Lowell and Lynn—and Harold Van Aken, the boy wonder of Wiltwyck Golf Club, and Jimmy Oulton are likely to develop into excellent prospects.

Other candidates include Gunther Polak, Bill Dekoskie and Robert Shellenberger.

Have 12 Matches

The 1951 schedule lists a dozen engagements, ten in the DUSO Golf League where each team is played on a home and home basis.

A similar series is planned with Catskill High.

The DUSO schedule opens with a home match against Poughkeepsie High at Wiltwyck Golf Club on Wednesday, April 25. The first road test will be in Middletown on May 5. The schedule concludes on May 31 at home against Liberty.

The DUSO League schedule:

(First Round)

April 25—Poughkeepsie, home.
May 5—Middletown, away.
May 7—Beacon, home.
May 10—Port Jervis, home.
May 14—Liberty, away.

May 17—Poughkeepsie, away.
May 21—Middletown, home.
May 24—Beacon, away.
May 28—Port Jervis, away.
May 31—Liberty, home.

Extra matches with Catskill High on May 1, home; and May 11, away.

Yonkers, April 18 (AP)—Stanley Dancer, who failed to win a race on opening night Monday, drove five straight winners last night at Yonkers Raceway before 13,469 trotting race fans.

J., reinsman brought in Galley Slave $6.40 in the first race; Butternut Rex $13.10 in the second; Gallonite $16.80 in the fourth; Shooting Star $14.60 in the fifth and Tokyo Express $10.60 in the sixth. Galley Slave and Butternut Rex combined for a $50.30 daily double.

Same Old Sox Away From Home; Jansen and Lemon Star on Mound

New Players Grab Spotlight

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

Is this going to be another bridesmaid year for Boston's perennial left-at-the-altar Red Sox?

Vic Raschi's 5-0 handcuffing of the Sox sluggers for the New York Yankees yesterday may have been just one of those things. On the other hand, it might have been a sign of things to come. It smacks too much of "the same old Red Sox" of the past four years.

Watching the Sox being throttled with six little singles made it almost impossible to visualize them as the same pulverizing team that ran off 11 straight Grapefruit League victories.

It made it easy to recall the Red Sox of 1947-48-49-50. All-conquering on paper. All-powerful in spring training. All-mighty in the eyes of most experts. All-America choice for the flag.

Then they start to play for keeps. They stray away from friendly Fenway Park and Boston's blasting batters become brittle and its hurricane hurlers become harmless.

The season's opener proved a total loss so far as Boston was concerned. Not only were the Red Sox horse-collared, but the city's National League representatives, the Braves, were goose-egged as Larry Jansen of the Giants shut them out, 4-0, with five little singles.

Philadelphia's defending champion Phils downed Brooklyn's Dodgers, 5-2, at Ebbets Field. Robin Roberts, whose final-day triumph over the Brooks gave the Phils their first flag in 35 years last season, again thwarted the Dodgers.

Lemon's 2-Hitter

Bob Lemon, king of the 1950 pitchers, threw a brilliant two-hitter at the Tigers to pitch the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph in Detroit.

Outfielder Al Zarilla blasted St. Louis Brown pitching for a home run, double and single to lead the White Sox to a 17-3 romp before 5,660 at St. Louis.

Murry Dickson pitched and batted the Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in Pittsburgh. The little right-hander walloped his first major league home run and contributed a single in another scoring rally.

The Chicago Cubs made merry at the expense of Ken Raffensberger, whipping the Cincinnati Reds, 8-3. Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder, chipped in with a homer, triple and single.

Cold weather held the inaugural crowds to a disappointing 171,678 fans at the eight parks. Last year the eight openers drew 252,700 fans.

The biggest crowd of the day—44,860 Yankee Stadium fans—saw Jackie Jensen steal the show from Mickey Mantle, the publicized New York rookie flash. Jensen smashed a two-run homer and doubled in the sixth inning. Mantle singled in four times at bat.

A crowd of 43,470 watched a pitching duel between Lemon and Hal Newhouser in Detroit. Tied at 1-1 after eight innings, the Tribe won in the ninth when shortstop Johnny Lipon bobbled Jim Hegan's grounder and Larry Doby scored the winning run. Jerry Priddy got both hits off Lemon.

Sisler Clicks

Dick Sisler, Del Ennis and Mike Goliat led the Phils nine-hit attack at Brooklyn before 19,217 chilled fans. Sisler, whose three-run homer beat Brooklyn for the pennant last year, hit two singles and scored twice. Ennis batted in three runs with a homer and single. Goliat socked a four-bagger in the second inning to gain the honor of connecting with the first major league homer of the year. Carl Erskine, a surprise starter, was the loser.

Only 6,081 saw Jansen gain his first victory in four opening-day attempts. The righthander outpitched Vern Bickford, Boston's no-hit hurler, to give the Giants their first opening win since 1946.

Dutch Hiller went all the way for the Cubs before 18,211 at Chicago.

The Washington Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind Con Marerro in the first night opener in American League history.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Batting — Rookie Dee Fondy, Cubs, batted in four runs with a bases-loaded triple in his first major league time at bat and two singles as Chicago whipped the Reds, 8-3.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees, stopped the Red Sox sluggers with six singles as he pitched the Yankees to a 5-0 victory.

Snead's Golf Homer Settles Argument

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—Sammy Snead settled a long-standing argument today over whether a golf ball could be driven from home plate over the towering centerfield scoreboard at Wrigley Field. It can, by a golfer like Sam.

Wearing street clothes, Snead sent a ball zooming well over the scoreboard with a No. 2 iron after hitting the board with a swing with the No. 4 iron. Snead calculated the carry was 175 yards. The scoreboard rises 89 feet in the air some 50 feet behind the 400-mark on the centerfield wall.

Snead did the trick before the Cincinnati-Chicago Cubs opener.

Colonials In Again!

Pardon us while we stifle a polite yawn. But duty compels us to report that Pete Keresman's Colonials have nailed down another City Bowling League pennant.

As a matter of fact it has been fait accompli for a couple of weeks but the conclusion of the league schedule on Monday put the final, official touches on this momentous accomplishment.

Enhancing their own reputation, the Colonials proceeded to polish off the Old Capital Motors in three straight games on the final night of play. This feat will be the subject of considerable bantering between the rival team jockeys and on doubt will be a prime topic of discussion at the annual merry making at Jake's Grill on Monday, April 23.

Manfro Leads League

Charlie Manfro was the individual scoring leader in the final session with 186-202-250—638. Harold Broskie posted 257—622; Charlie Gildersleeve 212-224—619 and George Robinson 242-200—618.

It made it easy to recall the Red Sox of 1947-48-49-50. All-conquering on paper. All-powerful in spring training. All-mighty in the eyes of most experts. All-America choice for the flag.

Then they start to play for keeps. They stray away from friendly Fenway Park and Boston's blasting batters become brittle and its hurricane hurlers become harmless.

The season's opener proved a total loss so far as Boston was concerned. Not only were the Red Sox horse-collared, but the city's National League representatives, the Braves, were goose-egged as Larry Jansen of the Giants shut them out, 4-0, with five little singles.

Philadelphia's defending champion Phils downed Brooklyn's Dodgers, 5-2, at Ebbets Field. Robin Roberts, whose final-day triumph over the Brooks gave the Phils their first flag in 35 years last season, again thwarted the Dodgers.

Lemon's 2-Hitter

Bob Lemon, king of the 1950 pitchers, threw a brilliant two-hitter at the Tigers to pitch the Cleveland Indians to a 2-1 triumph in Detroit.

Outfielder Al Zarilla blasted St. Louis Brown pitching for a home run, double and single to lead the White Sox to a 17-3 romp before 5,660 at St. Louis.

Murry Dickson pitched and batted the Pirates to a 5-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in Pittsburgh. The little right-hander walloped his first major league home run and contributed a single in another scoring rally.

The Chicago Cubs made merry at the expense of Ken Raffensberger, whipping the Cincinnati Reds, 8-3. Andy Pafko, veteran outfielder, chipped in with a homer, triple and single.

Cold weather held the inaugural crowds to a disappointing 171,678 fans at the eight parks. Last year the eight openers drew 252,700 fans.

The biggest crowd of the day—44,860 Yankee Stadium fans—saw Jackie Jensen steal the show from Mickey Mantle, the publicized New York rookie flash. Jensen smashed a two-run homer and doubled in the sixth inning. Mantle singled in four times at bat.

A crowd of 43,470 watched a pitching duel between Lemon and Hal Newhouser in Detroit. Tied at 1-1 after eight innings, the Tribe won in the ninth when shortstop Johnny Lipon bobbled Jim Hegan's grounder and Larry Doby scored the winning run. Jerry Priddy got both hits off Lemon.

Sisler Clicks

Dick Sisler, Del Ennis and Mike Goliat led the Phils nine-hit attack at Brooklyn before 19,217 chilled fans. Sisler, whose three-run homer beat Brooklyn for the pennant last year, hit two singles and scored twice. Ennis batted in three runs with a homer and single. Goliat socked a four-bagger in the second inning to gain the honor of connecting with the first major league homer of the year. Carl Erskine, a surprise starter, was the loser.

Only 6,081 saw Jansen gain his first victory in four opening-day attempts. The righthander outpitched Vern Bickford, Boston's no-hit hurler, to give the Giants their first opening win since 1946.

Dutch Hiller went all the way for the Cubs before 18,211 at Chicago.

The Washington Senators defeated the Philadelphia Athletics, 6-1, behind Con Marerro in the first night opener in American League history.

Batting — Rookie Dee Fondy, Cubs, batted in four runs with a bases-loaded triple in his first major league time at bat and two singles as Chicago whipped the Reds, 8-3.

Pitching—Vic Raschi, Yankees, stopped the Red Sox sluggers with six singles as he pitched the Yankees to a 5-0 victory.

Snead's Golf Homer Settles Argument

Chicago, April 17 (AP)—Sammy Snead settled a long-standing argument today over whether a golf ball could be driven from home plate over the towering centerfield scoreboard at Wrigley Field. It can, by a golfer like Sam.

Wearing street clothes, Snead sent a ball zooming well over the scoreboard with a No. 2 iron after hitting the board with a swing with the No. 4 iron. Snead calculated the carry was 175 yards. The scoreboard rises 89 feet in the air some 50 feet behind the 400-mark on the centerfield wall.

Snead did the trick before the Cincinnati-Chicago Cubs opener.

Colonials In Again!

Pardon us while we stifle a polite yawn. But duty compels us to report that Pete Keresman's Colonials have nailed down another City Bowling League pennant.

As a matter of fact it has been fait accompli for a couple of weeks but the conclusion of the league schedule on Monday put the final, official touches on this momentous accomplishment.

Enhancing their own reputation, the Colonials proceeded to polish off the Old Capital Motors in three straight games on the final night of play. This feat will be the subject of considerable bantering between the rival team jockeys and on doubt will be a prime topic of discussion at the annual merry making at Jake's Grill on Monday, April 23.

Manfro Leads League

Fred Rice near-missed with 235—598; Harry Smith shot 204-211—596; Chris Robinson 231—587; Larry Weishaupt 231-201—582; Howard Spaulding 221—581; Irv Alward 224—578; John MacLellan 209-215—578; Ken Joseph 219—574, and Joe Ruzzo 268—574.

Ruzzo opened his middle game with a miss in the first frame, spared and then tossed ten strikes in a row.

Jensen Out-Talked Casey Stengel and Made It Stick

New York, April 18 (AP)—It is extremely seldom that Casey Stengel finds himself out-talked, especially in the spring, but the manager of the Yankees must have been a happy man today that he let a brash youngster from out west stop him cold some six weeks ago.

The object of the unusual debate—and the winner—was Jackie Jensen batting hero of the bombers' opening victory over the Boston Red Sox yesterday at the stadium.

When Casey opened training at Phoenix he was fully determined that Jensen, former football and baseball great at the University of California, was going to be a pitcher if he expected to remain with the Yankees.

Jensen had been a standout pitcher in college, but he reported to the Yanks last year as an outfielder. He sat around all season, played but little and proved, at least to Stengel's satisfaction that he couldn't hit big league pitching.

Stengel lost no time advising Jackie where his future lay when he reported this spring.

Told To Pitch

"You're going to be a pitcher," he informed the coast product. "You can throw harder than any man on my staff except maybe Allie Reynolds. You got four good pitches, all any pitcher needs. Some of those pitchers make pretty good money, too, just like outfielders. You can't play outfield for the Yankees if you can't hit."

Jensen wasn't impressed. He still wanted outfield. He was even a little stubborn.

"You fellows signed me as an outfielder," he said grimly. "All those other clubs that wanted me seemed to think I could play out there. I still think I can hit if I get a chance to play regularly."

This distressed Stengel, and he mourned to the correspondents.

"Can you imagine a boy with an arm like that not wanting to pitch for the Yankees?" he asked them. "We need pitchers. We got outfielders."

Brief Experiment

The upshot was that he finally induced Jackie to warm up two or three times. He and pitching coach Jim Turner made it a point to stand within earshot of Jackie and comment loudly on his blinding speed, his mastery of the curve.

After a few days of that, Casey announced that his problem boy was going to make his mound debut in an inter-squad game. There was considerable anticipation but a cold wind chose that day to strike, and the game was cancelled. And that was the end of Jackie as a pitcher.

The next day he was outfielding, and as game followed game he began to hit. Not only did he begin to bang the ball to every field, but he also flowered as a glove man. He went a long way and pulled them down with one hand. He was spectacular.

When the Sox started Bill Wight, a southpaw, in the inaugural yesterday there was Jensen in the left. Nobody much noticed because the phenom, Mickey Mantle was in right, and you can't watch two phenom's at once.

First time up, Jackie fanned, swinging at a bad ball. Next time he caught hold of one on the end of his bat and dumped the ball into the lower right field stands, driving in what proved to be the winning run ahead of him.

On his third trip he launched a three-run rally that finally put the skids under the Sox with a sizzling double down the right field line.

It looks as though the boy who didn't want to pitch for the world champions is on his way to proving his point.

Twelve Candidates Seeking Berths On Kingston High's Golf Squad

Bostic Brothers Top Candidates

Gone are the Leon Randalls and Johnny Gleasons, from the fabulous, undefeated Kingston High School golf powerhouse of the past few seasons, but the 1951 prospects are fairly encouraging.

At least, the 12-man field of candidates includes a number of young worthies who should be of considerable comfort and assistance to the new coach—Bob DeFeis.

DeFeis has been named replacement for Russ Cunningham, who was called to active duty by the navy in February.

Heading the group now battling for varsity berths are the Bostic brothers—Harvey and Charlie—Brian Smith and Norman Foster, the Woodstock youngster.

The Brooks brothers — Lowell and Lynn—and Harold Van Aken, the boy wonder of Wiltwyck Golf Club, and Jimmy Oulton are likely to develop into excellent prospects.

Other candidates include Gunther Polak, Bill Dekoskie and Robert Shellenberger.

Have 12 Matches

The 1951 schedule lists a dozen engagements, ten in the DUSO Golf League where each team is played on a home and home basis.

A similar series is planned with Catskill High.

The DUSO schedule opens with a home match against Poughkeepsie High at Wiltwyck Golf Club on Wednesday, April 25. The first road test will be in Middletown on May 5. The schedule concludes on May 31 at home against Liberty.

The DUSO League schedule:

(First Round)

April 25—Poughkeepsie, home.
May 5—Middletown, away.
May 7—Beacon, home.
May 10—Port Jervis, home.
May 14—Liberty, away.

(Second Round)

May 17—Poughkeepsie, away.
May 21—Middletown, home.
May 24—Beacon, away.
May 28—Port Jervis, away.
May 31—Liberty, home.

Extra matches with Catskill High on May 1, home; and May 11, away.

Yonkers, April 18 (AP)—Stanley Dancer, who failed to win a race on opening night Monday, drove five straight winners last night at Yonkers Raceway before 13,469 trotting race fans.

The 24-year-old New Egypt, N. J., reinsman brought in Galley Slave $6.40 in the first race; Butternut Rex $13.10 in the second; Gallonite $16.80 in the fourth; Shooting Star $14.60 in the fifth and Tokyo Express $10.60 in the sixth. Galley Slave and Butternut Rex combined for a $50.30 daily double.

Dancer's streak ended in the seventh race when Don Pronto broke at the start and was never in contention. Dancer did not drive in the third or eighth races.

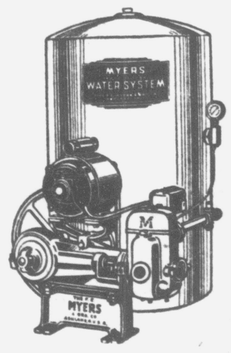

White Plains, N. Y. — Roger Donoghue, 155, Yonkers, outpointed Jackie O'Brien, 145½, Meriden, Conn., 8.

Ertel Named Colonial President; Ad Jones Is General Manager

Cold Weather Balks Drills

While Kingston Colonial hopefuls went through another chilly drill Tuesday at municipal stadium, the front office top brass completed its organizational details last night at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Frederick J. K. Ertel was a unanimous choice for presidency of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., a post to which he was temporarily designated a few weeks ago.

Addison Jones, the motivating power behind organized baseball in Kingston, was elected vice president and general manager.

Other selections:

First vice president—James L. Rowe.

Treasurer—Victor Roth.

Secretary—Howard C. St. John.

Other members of the Board of Directors will be Clarence S. Rowland, Dave Popick, C. H. Weidner and Nick Kaslich.

Jones, Rowland and Kaslich have been identified with organized baseball since its inception here in 1947.

Popick served as finance chairman for the 1951 season.

$8,000 on Hand

Although no figures were released last night, it is understood that more than $8,000 is already in the till for the Colonials.

Manager Hank Camelli, who is busy assembling a ball club for the Can-Am League pennant chase, was in session with the Board of Directors following the election but the nature of their discussion was not revealed.

Drills Stymied

Meanwhile, cold weather hampered the second workout on Tuesday but the Colonials were able to get in their first batting licks of the season.

New players arrived in town last night and Manager Camelli expected in the neighborhood of 25 players at the stadium for this morning's workout.

Manager and players complained bitterly about the miserable weather which has precluded any possibility of whipping the club into shape in a minimum of time.

"It's just too cold to bat, throw or do anything right," Camelli said this morning. "This cold wave has to break sooner or later . . . we hope."

Seek Players

Camelli said he had been in contact with the Albany Senators and club officials in the Canadian Provincial League with respect to player problems. He said that help would be forthcoming from the Albany Senators. He has also been in contact with James Hamilton in the Provincial League and expects the former Poughkeepsie business manager to deliver a few players before the week is out.

The Colonials were still without a business manager up to last night, with the 1951 Can-Am inaugural only 13 days away.

Meanwhile, the Oneonta Red Sox reported they would leave their Ocala, Florida training base on Saturday for the trip home. The Oneonta club has a working agreement with the Boston Red Sox and is managed by Owen Scheetz, former Red Sox hurler.

Steve Shields, Oneonta sports editor, quoted Charlie Wagner, assistant farm system director for the Red Sox, as saying "You'll (Oneonta) have a good ball club to start with, but we can't tell what is going to happen to the boys later on."

Wagner was obviously referring to the present military situation and he made no secret of the fact that the Boston organization is worried about the Canadian-American League. Wagner pointed out that Gloversville and Kingston have no working agreements and said he hoped they would be able to get ball players.

A three-fold objective was outlined to Rome and vicinity baseball fans over the week-end in a plea for support of the Can-Am club.

Stressing the fact that baseball is a community proposition, and that it is seldom a closed corporation, Howard C. Gordon, general manager of the Rome club, declared that it requires constant vigilance and hard work to stay in professional baseball.

In Amsterdam, a pre-season drive to sell 20,000 tickets has passed the half way mark.

Learn-to-Swim Program Starts In Y.M.C.A. Pool

The annual learn-to-swim campaign is now under way at the Y.M.C.A. swimming pool, with an all-time record enrollment of 72 boys from all eight public schools.

The system is applied every year to the fifth graders who do not know how to swim. This is considered the best age for swimming instructions.

The courses, organized in cooperation with the Board of Education as an important service to the community by the Y.M.C.A., will run for two weeks, Monday through Friday, with three classes each afternoon at 1 p. m., 2 p. m. and 2:45 p. m.

There is no charge for this service and each boy is required to bring a clean towel each day. Parents' consent in writing is necessary for enrollment in the courses.

The enrollment by schools is as follows:

Minnesota Kegler Fourth in Singles

St. Paul, April 17 (AP)—Clarence Bergland, 34, of Thief River Falls, Minn., walked right up to the 700 series door in the singles of the American Bowling Congress tournament today and then—like all others so far—failed to open it.

Bergland, who owns an ordinary 175 average for the season, finished with a 685 series to tie for fourth place in the singles on games of 246, 214 and 225.

Few keglers here have hit more strikes in a single series (he got 22) but three costly errors, two in the eighth and ninth frames of the second game, kept him from hitting the first 700 series in the individual event as well as taking the lead.

Bowling

Charlie Grunenwald, the sharpie emeritus of the Independent League, carried home a basket full of honors in the 1950-51 season.

He rolled high individual average of 186.11; had high single of 267; high triple 672 and most "200" games—22. He also achieved the 8-10 split conversion on Oct. 16. Junie Davis cleaned off the 7-10 on Oct. 2.

Other top average shooters were Don Vogel, 177.51; Ray Roux, 171.61; Gene Vogel, 172.21; Bobby Jones, 170.24; Milt Cole, Sr., 170.25; Tom Welch, 172.29; Jim Daniels, 172.34; Orv Van Alstyne, 172.49; Knute Beichert, 171.82 and Ralph Halbert, 173.44.

Beichert's Studebakers accounted for high team single of 983 and Vogel's Dairy shot 2739 for high team three. Handicap records were Cole's Market's 1013 and 2813.

Central Hudson keglers grabbed a spot on the standing board in the first week-end of the New York State bowling tournament with a gross score of 2962, according to scores exhumed today by a geological expedition. They clicked for game totals of 954, 945 and 1063.

E. Sass, with 116-159-160-435, was the top keglerette in the Business Girls League, while Helen Buchholtz accounted for the other "400" with 402. D. Wood posted 396; L. LaRocca 390; M. Bertram 385 and H. Harris 372.

Don Miller sandwiched a 163 with 221 and 225 to lead the Central Recreation League with a 609 blast last night. Don Peterson opened with 231 and finished with 579. C. Robinson shot 211-566; R. Houghtaling 208-561; Earl Sleight 554; R. Zeeh 546; E. S. Auchmoody 539; R. Mauro 536; Harry Hines 202-529; Carl Bowser 201-529; Chris Gallo 524; J. Keizer 208-517; F. Bruno 509; B. Lawrence 507 and Ed Heins 503.

Evelyn Gross emerged from her slump with a 193-180-157-530 performance in the Friendship League, while Phyl Gehringer shot 527 for the runnerup spot and Dot Flemings had 510 for show.

Others in the upper bracket included Eleanor Singer 202-496; Dot Bell 203-484; Rose Rhymer; 480; Reta Frederick 477; Dot Rawding 200-471; Kay Roosa 465; Bertha Schaller 461; F. Battaglino 460 and Marge Jansen 460.

Joe Tellier continued to pound the maples in the Booster League, firing a 220-154-196-570 blast, as the "cradle of bowling" comes down the stretch, with only one game separating the first three teams. Greenkill Rest and Montgomery Ward are tied for first place, with Morgan's Rest trailing the pace setters by a game.

J. Howard was runnerup to Tellier with 201-531; Ed Lindhurst socked 527; R. White 514; W. Schmitz 505; Ray DuBois 503 and R. Tierney 501. R. Hendricks posted 488; B. Goldstein 486; L. Goldstein 485; Lou Scism and Larry Hyatt 483.

Fair Street No. 2 has cinched the Y Federation National bowling crown by six games over First Dutch No. 1 and now awaits the start of the inter-league playoffs on April 24 at 7 p. m. at the Y drives. The newly crowned champions won 54 games and lost 30.

Dad Vail Regatta Is Canceled

Tampa, Fla., April 18 (AP)—The Dad Vail Regatta, moved here from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is canceled for 1951.

Ronnie Stewart, chairman of the Tampa committee, said yesterday he had word from Anthony P. Savarese, Jr., of New York, chairman of the regatta board, that the crew race for small colleges is off.

Most of the crews which planned to enter already have made trips to Florida for dual meets and could not make the trip again, Savarese explained. He also said examination time in some schools comes too close to the May 19 date the regatta was scheduled.

Traditionally held in the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, the Dad Vail Regatta was moved here because of difficulty in raising funds in Poughkeepsie, Savarese said last month.

Cold Weather Balks Drills

While Kingston Colonial hopefuls went through another chilly drill Tuesday at municipal stadium, the front office top brass completed its organizational details last night at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Frederick J. K. Ertel was a unanimous choice for presidency of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., a post to which he was temporarily designated a few weeks ago.

Addison Jones, the motivating power behind organized baseball in Kingston, was elected vice president and general manager.

Other selections:

First vice president—James L. Rowe.

Treasurer—Victor Roth.

Secretary—Howard C. St. John.

Other members of the Board of Directors will be Clarence S. Rowland, Dave Popick, C. H. Weidner and Nick Kaslich.

Jones, Rowland and Kaslich have been identified with organized baseball since its inception here in 1947.

Popick served as finance chairman for the 1951 season.

$8,000 on Hand

Although no figures were released last night, it is understood that more than $8,000 is already in the till for the Colonials.

Manager Hank Camelli, who is busy assembling a ball club for the Can-Am League pennant chase, was in session with the Board of Directors following the election but the nature of their discussion was not revealed.

Drills Stymied

Meanwhile, cold weather hampered the second workout on Tuesday but the Colonials were able to get in their first batting licks of the season.

New players arrived in town last night and Manager Camelli expected in the neighborhood of 25 players at the stadium for this morning's workout.

Manager and players complained bitterly about the miserable weather which has precluded any possibility of whipping the club into shape in a minimum of time.

"It's just too cold to bat, throw or do anything right," Camelli said this morning. "This cold wave has to break sooner or later . . . we hope."

Seek Players

Camelli said he had been in contact with the Albany Senators and club officials in the Canadian Provincial League with respect to player problems. He said that help would be forthcoming from the Albany Senators. He has also been in contact with James Hamilton in the Provincial League and expects the former Poughkeepsie business manager to deliver a few players before the week is out.

The Colonials were still without a business manager up to last night, with the 1951 Can-Am inaugural only 13 days away.

Meanwhile, the Oneonta Red Sox reported they would leave their Ocala, Florida training base on Saturday for the trip home. The Oneonta club has a working agreement with the Boston Red Sox and is managed by Owen Scheetz, former Red Sox hurler.

Steve Shields, Oneonta sports editor, quoted Charlie Wagner, assistant farm system director for the Red Sox, as saying "You'll (Oneonta) have a good ball club to start with, but we can't tell what is going to happen to the boys later on."

Wagner was obviously referring to the present military situation and he made no secret of the fact that the Boston organization is worried about the Canadian-American League. Wagner pointed out that Gloversville and Kingston have no working agreements and said he hoped they would be able to get ball players.

A three-fold objective was outlined to Rome and vicinity baseball fans over the week-end in a plea for support of the Can-Am club.

Stressing the fact that baseball is a community proposition, and that it is seldom a closed corporation, Howard C. Gordon, general manager of the Rome club, declared that it requires constant vigilance and hard work to stay in professional baseball.

In Amsterdam, a pre-season drive to sell 20,000 tickets has passed the half way mark.

Learn-to-Swim Program Starts In Y.M.C.A. Pool

The annual learn-to-swim campaign is now under way at the Y.M.C.A. swimming pool, with an all-time record enrollment of 72 boys from all eight public schools.

The system is applied every year to the fifth graders who do not know how to swim. This is considered the best age for swimming instructions.

The courses, organized in cooperation with the Board of Education as an important service to the community by the Y.M.C.A., will run for two weeks, Monday through Friday, with three classes each afternoon at 1 p. m., 2 p. m. and 2:45 p. m.

There is no charge for this service and each boy is required to bring a clean towel each day. Parents' consent in writing is necessary for enrollment in the courses.

The instructions will be under the direction and supervision of Charles W. Corell, boys' work director, and Louis H. Schafer, physical director.

The enrollment by schools is as follows:

Minnesota Kegler Fourth in Singles

St. Paul, April 17 (AP)—Clarence Bergland, 34, of Thief River Falls, Minn., walked right up to the 700 series door in the singles of the American Bowling Congress tournament today and then—like all others so far—failed to open it.

Bergland, who owns an ordinary 175 average for the season, finished with a 685 series to tie for fourth place in the singles on games of 246, 214 and 225.

Few keglers here have hit more strikes in a single series (he got 22) but three costly errors, two in the eighth and ninth frames of the second game, kept him from hitting the first 700 series in the individual event as well as taking the lead.

Bowling

Charlie Grunenwald, the sharpie emeritus of the Independent League, carried home a basket full of honors in the 1950-51 season.

He rolled high individual average of 186.11; had high single of 267; high triple 672 and most "200" games—22. He also achieved the 8-10 split conversion on Oct. 16. Junie Davis cleaned off the 7-10 on Oct. 2.

Other top average shooters were Don Vogel, 177.51; Ray Roux, 171.61; Gene Vogel, 172.21; Bobby Jones, 170.24; Milt Cole, Sr., 170.25; Tom Welch, 172.29; Jim Daniels, 172.34; Orv Van Alstyne, 172.49; Knute Beichert, 171.82 and Ralph Halbert, 173.44.

Beichert's Studebakers accounted for high team single of 983 and Vogel's Dairy shot 2739 for high team three. Handicap records were Cole's Market's 1013 and 2813.

Central Hudson keglers grabbed a spot on the standing board in the first week-end of the New York State bowling tournament with a gross score of 2962, according to scores exhumed today by a geological expedition. They clicked for game totals of 954, 945 and 1063.

E. Sass, with 116-159-160-435, was the top keglerette in the Business Girls League, while Helen Buchholtz accounted for the other "400" with 402. D. Wood posted 396; L. LaRocca 390; M. Bertram 385 and H. Harris 372.

Don Miller sandwiched a 163 with 221 and 225 to lead the Central Recreation League with a 609 blast last night. Don Peterson opened with 231 and finished with 579. C. Robinson shot 211-566; R. Houghtaling 208-561; Earl Sleight 554; R. Zeeh 546; E. S. Auchmoody 539; R. Mauro 536; Harry Hines 202-529; Carl Bowser 201-529; Chris Gallo 524; J. Keizer 208-517; F. Bruno 509; B. Lawrence 507 and Ed Heins 503.

Evelyn Gross emerged from her slump with a 193-180-157-530 performance in the Friendship League, while Phyl Gehringer shot 527 for the runnerup spot and Dot Flemings had 510 for show.

Others in the upper bracket included Eleanor Singer 202-496; Dot Bell 203-484; Rose Rhymer; 480; Reta Frederick 477; Dot Rawding 200-471; Kay Roosa 465; Bertha Schaller 461; F. Battaglino 460 and Marge Jansen 460.

Joe Tellier continued to pound the maples in the Booster League, firing a 220-154-196-570 blast, as the "cradle of bowling" comes down the stretch, with only one game separating the first three teams. Greenkill Rest and Montgomery Ward are tied for first place, with Morgan's Rest trailing the pace setters by a game.

J. Howard was runnerup to Tellier with 201-531; Ed Lindhurst socked 527; R. White 514; W. Schmitz 505; Ray DuBois 503 and R. Tierney 501. R. Hendricks posted 488; B. Goldstein 486; L. Goldstein 485; Lou Scism and Larry Hyatt 483.

Fair Street No. 2 has cinched the Y Federation National bowling crown by six games over First Dutch No. 1 and now awaits the start of the interleague playoffs on April 24 at 7 p. m. at the Y drives. The newly crowned champions won 54 games and lost 30.

Dad Vail Regatta Is Canceled

Tampa, Fla., April 18 (AP)—The Dad Vail Regatta, moved here from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is canceled for 1951.

Ronnie Stewart, chairman of the Tampa committee, said yesterday he had word from Anthony P. Savarese, Jr., of New York, chairman of the regatta board, that the crew race for small colleges is off.

Most of the crews which planned to enter already have made trips to Florida for dual meets and could not make the trip again, Savarese explained. He also said examination time in some schools comes too close to the May 19 date the regatta was scheduled.

Traditionally held in the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, the Dad Vail Regatta was moved here because of difficulty in raising funds in Poughkeepsie, Savarese said last month.

Ertel Named Colonial President; Ad Jones Is General Manager

Cold Weather Balks Drills

While Kingston Colonial hopefuls went through another chilly drill Tuesday at municipal stadium, the front office top brass completed its organizational details last night at the Hotel Stuyvesant.

Frederick J. K. Ertel was a unanimous choice for presidency of Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., a post to which he was temporarily designated a few weeks ago.

Addison Jones, the motivating power behind organized baseball in Kingston, was elected vice president and general manager.

Other selections:

First vice president—James L. Rowe.

Treasurer—Victor Roth.

Secretary—Howard C. St. John.

Other members of the Board of Directors will be Clarence S. Rowland, Dave Popick, C. H. Weidner and Nick Kaslich.

Jones, Rowland and Kaslich have been identified with organized baseball since its inception here in 1947.

Popick served as finance chairman for the 1951 season.

$8,000 on Hand

Although no figures were released last night, it is understood that more than $8,000 is already in the till for the Colonials.

Manager Hank Camelli, who is busy assembling a ball club for the Can-Am League pennant chase, was in session with the Board of Directors following the election but the nature of their discussion was not revealed.

Drills Stymied

Meanwhile, cold weather hampered the second workout on Tuesday but the Colonials were able to get in their first batting licks of the season.

New players arrived in town last night and Manager Camelli expected in the neighborhood of 25 players at the stadium for this morning's workout.

Manager and players complained bitterly about the miserable weather which has precluded any possibility of whipping the club into shape in a minimum of time.

"It's just too cold to bat, throw or do anything right," Camelli said this morning. "This cold wave has to break sooner or later . . . we hope."

Seek Players

Camelli said he had been in contact with the Albany Senators and club officials in the Canadian Provincial League with respect to player problems. He said that help would be forthcoming from the Albany Senators. He has also been in contact with James Hamilton in the Provincial League and expects the former Poughkeepsie business manager to deliver a few players before the week is out.

The Colonials were still without a business manager up to last night, with the 1951 Can-Am inaugural only 13 days away.

Meanwhile, the Oneonta Red Sox reported they would leave their Ocala, Florida training base on Saturday for the trip home. The Oneonta club has a working agreement with the Boston Red Sox and is managed by Owen Scheetz, former Red Sox hurler.

Steve Shields, Oneonta sports editor, quoted Charlie Wagner, assistant farm system director for the Red Sox, as saying "You'll (Oneonta) have a good ball club to start with, but we can't tell what is going to happen to the boys later on."

Wagner was obviously referring to the present military situation and he made no secret of the fact that the Boston organization is worried about the Canadian-American League. Wagner pointed out that Gloversville and Kingston have no working agreements and said he hoped they would be able to get ball players.

A three-fold objective was outlined to Rome and vicinity baseball fans over the week-end in a plea for support of the Can-Am club.

Stressing the fact that baseball is a community proposition, and that it is seldom a closed corporation, Howard C. Gordon, general manager of the Rome club, declared that it requires constant vigilance and hard work to stay in professional baseball.

In Amsterdam, a pre-season drive to sell 20,000 tickets has passed the half way mark.

The annual learn-to-swim campaign is now under way at the Y.M.C.A. swimming pool, with an all-time record enrollment of 72 boys from all eight public schools.

The system is applied every year to the fifth graders who do not know how to swim. This is considered the best age for swimming instructions.

The courses, organized in cooperation with the Board of Education as an important service to the community by the Y.M.C.A., will run for two weeks, Monday through Friday, with three classes each afternoon at 1 p. m., 2 p. m. and 2:45 p. m.

There is no charge for this service and each boy is required to bring a clean towel each day. Parents' consent in writing is necessary for enrollment in the courses.

The instructions will be under the direction and supervision of Charles W. Corell, boys' work director, and Louis H. Schafer, physical director.

The enrollment by schools is as follows:

Minnesota Kegler Fourth in Singles

St. Paul, April 17 (AP)—Clarence Bergland, 34, of Thief River Falls, Minn., walked right up to the 700 series door in the singles of the American Bowling Congress tournament today and then—like all others so far—failed to open it.

Bergland, who owns an ordinary 175 average for the season, finished with a 685 series to tie for fourth place in the singles on games of 246, 214 and 225.

Few keglers here have hit more strikes in a single series (he got 22) but three costly errors, two in the eighth and ninth frames of the second game, kept him from hitting the first 700 series in the individual event as well as taking the lead.

Bowling

Charlie Grunenwald, the sharpie emeritus of the Independent League, carried home a basket full of honors in the 1950-51 season.

He rolled high individual average of 186.11; had high single of 267; high triple 672 and most "200" games—22. He also achieved the 8-10 split conversion on Oct. 16. Junie Davis cleaned off the 7-10 on Oct. 2.

Other top average shooters were Don Vogel, 177.51; Ray Roux, 171.61; Gene Vogel, 172.21; Bobby Jones, 170.24; Milt Cole, Sr., 170.25; Tom Welch, 172.29; Jim Daniels, 172.34; Orv Van Alstyne, 172.49; Knute Beichert, 171.82 and Ralph Halbert, 173.44.

Beichert's Studebakers accounted for high team single of 983 and Vogel's Dairy shot 2739 for high team three. Handicap records were Cole's Market's 1013 and 2813.

Central Hudson keglers grabbed a spot on the standing board in the first week-end of the New York State bowling tournament with a gross score of 2962, according to scores exhumed today by a geological expedition. They clicked for game totals of 954, 945 and 1063.

Dad Vail Regatta Is Canceled

Tampa, Fla., April 18 (AP)—The Dad Vail Regatta, moved here from Poughkeepsie, N. Y., is canceled for 1951.

Ronnie Stewart, chairman of the Tampa committee, said yesterday he had word from Anthony P. Savarese, Jr., of New York, chairman of the regatta board, that the crew race for small colleges is off.

Most of the crews which planned to enter already have made trips to Florida for dual meets and could not make the trip again, Savarese explained. He also said examination time in some schools comes too close to the May 19 date the regatta was scheduled.

Traditionally held in the Hudson river at Poughkeepsie, the Dad Vail Regatta was moved here because of difficulty in raising funds in Poughkeepsie, Savarese said last month.

Returning to Seoul Despite UN Warning

Seoul, Korea, April 18 (AP) — War-deadened Seoul is gradually coming back to life again.

The ancient capital of Korea still lacks many city essentials. But residents are returning at the rate of 10,000 a day—against the advice of the United Nations command.

Water is short and the city won't have an ample supply for at least two months. Power and food also are short.

Seoul, normally a city of 1,000,000, now has about 400,000.

The U.N. command is feeding the entire population daily rice rations from the supplies sent in from the south.

Farmers are being used to return to their homes around Seoul to get the new rice crop planted.

Collins' One-Man Show Opens April 23

Woodstock, April 18—Pat Collins, who recently purchased the house formerly owned by George Berk on the Glasco Turnpike, will have a one-man show of his paintings at the Charles Barzansky Galleries, 644 Madison avenue, New York, opening April 23.

Collins' paintings have been shown in group exhibitions in London, Paris and Rome. His last one-man show in New York was held in March 1941, and at that time Carlyle Burrows of New York Herald Tribune wrote:

"Symbolizing New York in several paintings, he constructs cheerful patterns of architecture and fills them with the delights and occasional horrors of big-city life. He is all out for lively inventiveness, and the 'Wizard of Oz' atmosphere he imputes to the city is made to be enjoyed . . . That's why one lingers among his pictures."

The exhibition comprising 24 canvases will be on view until May 12, at the Barzansky Galleries.

The Home Bureau's class in glove making will begin Thursday at the Legion Hall with Mrs. Joseph Holdridge as leader.

An all-day session on meals for many will be held at the Dutch Reformed Church basement Friday, April 20, to which the public is invited.

Statewide Drive Mapped on Fuel

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—A statewide drive was mapped today to insure full collection of New York's diesel fuel tax after July 1, when the levy increases two cents a gallon.

The state tax commission said examiners would be assigned to check diesel fuel sales and use, including the operations of interstate truckers.

The 1951 Legislature increased the levy from four to six cents a gallon.

The tax measure was part of the Dewey administration's drive to force big trucks to pay a larger share of the cost of highway construction and maintenance.

Another bill imposed a weight-distance tax on vehicles weighing more than 18,000 pounds, effective Oct. 1.

Rowley Appointed

Gerald E. Rowley of Rye, deputy state rent administrator, was appointed last night to administer the new highway-use tax. He will resign his rent post on April 30 to take the $11,405-a-year tax post the following day.

He will be director of the newly created truck mileage tax bureau in the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

Rowley, 44, was director of the State Veterans' Bonus Bureau from July, 1948, to April, 1950, when he resigned to become downstate rent administrator at $10,400 a year.

Gardiner Gets 3 Months

Clinton F. Gardiner, who gave his address as Farrelly street, Kingston, was sentenced to a three months term in the county jail Tuesday afternoon on his plea of guilty to escape from jail. The sentence will begin at the expiration of the present sentence. Gardiner, who was a trusty engaged in cleaning up the court house, left by means of a window in the rear of the court house. He was represented by Howard C. St. John.

No Cause Action Verdict Returned

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Tuesday afternoon in the two negligence cases brought by Harold Tirsch and his son, Martin C. Tirsch, against the Board of Education of the City of Kingston. The jury was out only a few minutes before arriving at a verdict.

The actions were brought to recover for injuries which young Tirsch, a student at No. 7 school, sustained while he was playing on the school grounds after being dismissed from school. The boy testified he had tripped over a stone at the entrance to the school while playing with two other boys. It was alleged the flagstone at the foot of the school entrance steps protruded from a half inch to an inch above the school ground pavement. His father sued for medical bills and loss of wages while he remained at home after the accident with the lad. Young Tirsch sought damages for a cut on the head which left a considerable scar.

Returning to Seoul Despite UN Warning

Seoul, Korea, April 18 (AP) — War-deadened Seoul is gradually coming back to life again.

The ancient capital of Korea still lacks many city essentials. But residents are returning at the rate of 10,000 a day—against the advice of the United Nations command.

Water is short and the city won't have an ample supply for at least two months. Power and food also are short.

Seoul, normally a city of 1,000,000, now has about 400,000.

The U.N. command is feeding the entire population daily rice rations from the supplies sent in from the south.

Farmers are being used to return to their homes around Seoul to get the new rice crop planted.

Collins' One-Man Show Opens April 23

Woodstock, April 18—Pat Collins, who recently purchased the house formerly owned by George Berk on the Glasco Turnpike, will have a one-man show of his paintings at the Charles Barzansky Galleries, 644 Madison avenue, New York, opening April 23.

Collins' paintings have been shown in group exhibitions in London, Paris and Rome. His last one-man show in New York was held in March 1941, and at that time Carlyle Burrows of New York Herald Tribune wrote:

"Symbolizing New York in several paintings, he constructs cheerful patterns of architecture and fills them with the delights and occasional horrors of big-city life. He is all out for lively inventiveness, and the 'Wizard of Oz' atmosphere he imputes to the city is made to be enjoyed . . . That's why one lingers among his pictures."

The exhibition comprising 24 canvases will be on view until May 12, at the Barzansky Galleries.

Home Bureau Plans Card Party for May 3

Woodstock, April 18 — A card party will be given at the Town Hall Thursday, May 3, by the Woodstock Home Bureau, at 8 p. m. The following committee has been appointed for the occasion: Mrs. Harry Froot, chairman; Mrs. Elizabeth Clough, Mrs. Joseph Holdridge, Mrs. Harry Kutzschbach, Mrs. Joseph Wagner, Mrs. George Laws, Mrs. Albert Montgomery, Miss Maude Shelton, and Mrs. Renninger.

The Home Bureau's class in glove making will begin Thursday at the Legion Hall with Mrs. Joseph Holdridge as leader.

An all-day session on meals for many will be held at the Dutch Reformed Church basement Friday, April 20, to which the public is invited.

County Legion Meeting

Woodstock, April 18—A county meeting of the American Legion will be held at the Woodstock Legion Hall Thursday, April 26, the time to be announced. The regular meeting of the American Legion Post 1026, will be held Monday, April 23, at 8 p. m.

Painting Is Sold

Woodstock, April 18—A painting of the San Capistrano Mission, one of the 12 watercolors by John W. Bentley now on view at the Village Kitchen, has been purchased by Frederick Gross, who spent the winter in Woodstock. Gross will leave in the near future for California.

Plan Third Play

Woodstock, April 18 — Aileen Cramer of the Loft Players has announced that the Circle in the Square, 5 Sheridan Square, New York, will close its second production, "Amata," by Eugene Raskin Saturday, April 21. The third production to be presented by the Loft Players in New York's newest theatre-cabaret will be "Antigone" by Jean Anouilh, translated by Lewis Galantiere, which will open Thursday, April 26.

Jordan to Speak

Woodstock, April 18 — Fritz Jordan, athletic coach of the Arlington High School, will be the guest speaker at the Woodstock basketball dinner to be held at Deanies Thursday.

Village Notes

Woodstock, April 18—Mr. and Mrs. George Schoeppler of Bearsville have returned to their home after spending the winter in Florida.

Mrs. Mary Brown, of Lake Hill, has returned to her home.

Mrs. Harry Froot will be in New York next week-end.

Statewide Drive Mapped on Fuel

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—A statewide drive was mapped today to insure full collection of New York's diesel fuel tax after July 1, when the levy increases two cents a gallon.

The state tax commission said examiners would be assigned to check diesel fuel sales and use, including the operations of interstate truckers.

The 1951 Legislature increased the levy from four to six cents a gallon.

The tax measure was part of the Dewey administration's drive to force big trucks to pay a larger share of the cost of highway construction and maintenance.

Another bill imposed a weight-distance tax on vehicles weighing more than 18,000 pounds, effective Oct. 1.

Rowley Appointed

Gerald E. Rowley of Rye, deputy state rent administrator, was appointed last night to administer the new highway-use tax. He will resign his rent post on April 30 to take the $11,405-a-year tax post the following day.

He will be director of the newly created truck mileage tax bureau in the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

Rowley, 44, was director of the State Veterans' Bonus Bureau from July, 1948, to April, 1950, when he resigned to become downstate rent administrator at $10,400 a year.

Gardiner Gets 3 Months

Clinton F. Gardiner, who gave his address as Farrelly street, Kingston, was sentenced to a three months term in the county jail Tuesday afternoon on his plea of guilty to escape from jail. The sentence will begin at the expiration of the present sentence. Gardiner, who was a trusty engaged in cleaning up the court house, left by means of a window in the rear of the court house. He was represented by Howard C. St. John.

No Cause Action Verdict Returned

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Tuesday afternoon in the two negligence cases brought by Harold Tirsch and his son, Martin C. Tirsch, against the Board of Education of the City of Kingston. The jury was out only a few minutes before arriving at a verdict.

The actions were brought to recover for injuries which young Tirsch, a student at No. 7 school, sustained while he was playing on the school grounds after being dismissed from school. The boy testified he had tripped over a stone at the entrance to the school while playing with two other boys. It was alleged the flagstone at the foot of the school entrance steps protruded from a half inch to an inch above the school ground pavement. His father sued for medical bills and loss of wages while he remained at home after the accident with the lad. Young Tirsch sought damages for a cut on the head which left a considerable scar.

Returning to Seoul Despite UN Warning

Seoul, Korea, April 18 (AP) — War-deadened Seoul is gradually coming back to life again.

The ancient capital of Korea still lacks many city essentials. But residents are returning at the rate of 10,000 a day—against the advice of the United Nations command.

Water is short and the city won't have an ample supply for at least two months. Power and food also are short.

Seoul, normally a city of 1,000,000, now has about 400,000.

The U.N. command is feeding the entire population daily rice rations from the supplies sent in from the south.

Farmers are being used to return to their homes around Seoul to get the new rice crop planted.

The ancient capital of Korea still lacks many city essentials. But residents are returning at the rate of 10,000 a day—against the advice of the United Nations command.

Water is short and the city won't have an ample supply for at least two months. Power and food also are short.

Seoul, normally a city of 1,000,000, now has about 400,000.

The U.N. command is feeding the entire population daily rice rations from the supplies sent in from the south.

Farmers are being used to return to their homes around Seoul to get the new rice crop planted.

Collins' One-Man Show Opens April 23

Woodstock, April 18—Pat Collins, who recently purchased the house formerly owned by George Berk on the Glasco Turnpike, will have a one-man show of his paintings at the Charles Barzansky Galleries, 644 Madison avenue, New York, opening April 23.

Collins' paintings have been shown in group exhibitions in London, Paris and Rome. His last one-man show in New York was held in March 1941, and at that time Carlyle Burrows of New York Herald Tribune wrote:

"Symbolizing New York in several paintings, he constructs cheerful patterns of architecture and fills them with the delights and occasional horrors of big-city life. He is all out for lively inventiveness, and the 'Wizard of Oz' atmosphere he imputes to the city is made to be enjoyed . . . That's why one lingers among his pictures."

The exhibition comprising 24 canvases will be on view until May 12, at the Barzansky Galleries.

Statewide Drive Mapped on Fuel

Albany, N. Y., April 18 (AP)—A statewide drive was mapped today to insure full collection of New York's diesel fuel tax after July 1, when the levy increases two cents a gallon.

The state tax commission said examiners would be assigned to check diesel fuel sales and use, including the operations of interstate truckers.

The 1951 Legislature increased the levy from four to six cents a gallon.

The tax measure was part of the Dewey administration's drive to force big trucks to pay a larger share of the cost of highway construction and maintenance.

Another bill imposed a weight-distance tax on vehicles weighing more than 18,000 pounds, effective Oct. 1.

Rowley Appointed

Gerald E. Rowley of Rye, deputy state rent administrator, was appointed last night to administer the new highway-use tax. He will resign his rent post on April 30 to take the $11,405-a-year tax post the following day.

He will be director of the newly created truck mileage tax bureau in the State Department of Taxation and Finance.

Rowley, 44, was director of the State Veterans' Bonus Bureau from July, 1948, to April, 1950, when he resigned to become downstate rent administrator at $10,400 a year.

Gardiner Gets 3 Months

Clinton F. Gardiner, who gave his address as Farrelly street, Kingston, was sentenced to a three months term in the county jail Tuesday afternoon on his plea of guilty to escape from jail. The sentence will begin at the expiration of the present sentence. Gardiner, who was a trusty engaged in cleaning up the court house, left by means of a window in the rear of the court house. He was represented by Howard C. St. John.

No Cause Action Verdict Returned

A verdict of no cause of action was returned Tuesday afternoon in the two negligence cases brought by Harold Tirsch and his son, Martin C. Tirsch, against the Board of Education of the City of Kingston. The jury was out only a few minutes before arriving at a verdict.

The actions were brought to recover for injuries which young Tirsch, a student at No. 7 school, sustained while he was playing on the school grounds after being dismissed from school. The boy testified he had tripped over a stone at the entrance to the school while playing with two other boys. It was alleged the flagstone at the foot of the school entrance steps protruded from a half inch to an inch above the school ground pavement. His father sued for medical bills and loss of wages while he remained at home after the accident with the lad. Young Tirsch sought damages for a cut on the head which left a considerable scar.

Democrats Kill Hague Comeback

Newark, N. J., April 18 (AP)—Democratic voters rejected a comeback bid by Frank "I Am the Law" Hague and Republicans shrugged off Senate crime committee gambling revelations in yesterday's state primary election.

Administration Democrats, led by Jersey City Mayor John V. Kenny, kept control of heavily-populated Hudson county by nominating their slate for State Assembly and county offices over the Hague forces.

In nearby Bergen county, GOP stronghold of New Jersey, the organization slate defeated an insurgent group which had campaigned on Senate crime committee testimony to bigtime gambling in the wealthy, suburban county. Nominated were State Assembly and county candidates.

In addition to Bergen, the Senate crime problers also cited Hudson county as a center of waterfront racketeering. Hudson is New Jersey's Democratic bastion.

Voting was heavy in Hudson but elsewhere in the state balloting was sparse, customary in off-year elections. There were no statewide nominations.

Throughout the state voters named major party candidates for 11 State Senate seats, 60 Assembly posts and various county and municipal offices.

In May, 1949, Kenny ousted the Hague regime, which had controlled the Democratic Party in the state for 30 years. Hague, whose "I am the law" remark was made innocently but used as a campaign barb by his opponents, did not take part publicly in the primary fight.

Yesterday's rebuff was the second suffered by the 75-year-old Hague since his fall from power. In the 1949 general election his candidate for governor was defeated by GOP Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

Meets With Premier

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—Special Ambassador John Foster Dulles today met with Premier Shigeru Yoshida and other Japanese leaders to discuss allied progress towards the proposed Japanese peace treaty. No announcement of the talks was made but one person present said discussions covered the British attitude.

History Quiz Is Set at High School

Could you name a father and son, both of whom served as presidents of the United States? Do you know what famous trial established freedom of press in New York state.

More than a hundred brain teasers similar to these examples will be used to test the alertness of 12 Kingston High School social studies students in the second annual history quiz sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The quiz, to which the public is invited, will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

Twelve competitors were selected on the basis of high scores made in a preliminary quiz held in the American history classes last month. Those appearing in tomorrow night's contest are Wayne Burton, Michael Dugan, Anthony Gardecki, Harold Hutton, Marion Misove, Ernest Myer, Louis Nosenzo, Ruth Paley, Elsie Pardee, Neil Poley, Marguerite Schaeffer and Priscilla Tandy.

Morgan Ryan will act as quizmaster and the judges will include John Henry Martin, principal, and two others selected by the auxiliary. Prizes include a $25 war bond and $10 and $5 in cash to the three highest scores.

Will Take Applications

Abram F. Molyneaux, Jr., who was recently appointed clerk of the Ulster County Pistol Permit Bureau, will be at the county judge's office in the court house Tuesday and Thursdays from 2 until 4 p. m. to receive applications for permits.

Sailor Is Held On Dope Charges

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Narcotics worth $25,000 were smuggled from Japan aboard the battleship Missouri, which arrived here Thursday.

A crewman, Francis Pastoria, Breckenridge, Pa., was arraigned here yesterday on dope smuggling charges. He was arrested Saturday just before the Missouri sailed for Norfolk, Va.

The Missouri radioed yesterday that a quantity of morphine was found on the ship after it left here and that several other sailors are under suspicion.

Nearly the entire life of the cicada, or common locust, is spent underground.

Democrats Kill Hague Comeback

Newark, N. J., April 18 (AP)—Democratic voters rejected a comeback bid by Frank "I Am the Law" Hague and Republicans shrugged off Senate crime committee gambling revelations in yesterday's state primary election.

Administration Democrats, led by Jersey City Mayor John V. Kenny, kept control of heavily-populated Hudson county by nominating their slate for State Assembly and county offices over the Hague forces.

In nearby Bergen county, GOP stronghold of New Jersey, the organization slate defeated an insurgent group which had campaigned on Senate crime committee testimony to bigtime gambling in the wealthy, suburban county. Nominated were State Assembly and county candidates.

In addition to Bergen, the Senate crime problers also cited Hudson county as a center of waterfront racketeering. Hudson is New Jersey's Democratic bastion.

Voting was heavy in Hudson but elsewhere in the state balloting was sparse, customary in off-year elections. There were no statewide nominations.

Throughout the state voters named major party candidates for 11 State Senate seats, 60 Assembly posts and various county and municipal offices.

In May, 1949, Kenny ousted the Hague regime, which had controlled the Democratic Party in the state for 30 years. Hague, whose "I am the law" remark was made innocently but used as a campaign barb by his opponents, did not take part publicly in the primary fight.

Yesterday's rebuff was the second suffered by the 75-year-old Hague since his fall from power. In the 1949 general election his candidate for governor was defeated by GOP Gov. Alfred E. Driscoll.

Meets With Premier

Tokyo, April 18 (AP)—Special Ambassador John Foster Dulles today met with Premier Shigeru Yoshida and other Japanese leaders to discuss allied progress towards the proposed Japanese peace treaty. No announcement of the talks was made but one person present said discussions covered the British attitude.

History Quiz Is Set at High School

Could you name a father and son, both of whom served as presidents of the United States? Do you know what famous trial established freedom of press in New York state.

More than a hundred brain teasers similar to these examples will be used to test the alertness of 12 Kingston High School social studies students in the second annual history quiz sponsored by the Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars. The quiz, to which the public is invited, will be held at 8 p. m. Thursday in the high school auditorium.

Twelve competitors were selected on the basis of high scores made in a preliminary quiz held in the American history classes last month. Those appearing in tomorrow night's contest are Wayne Burton, Michael Dugan, Anthony Gardecki, Harold Hutton, Marion Misove, Ernest Myer, Louis Nosenzo, Ruth Paley, Elsie Pardee, Neil Poley, Marguerite Schaeffer and Priscilla Tandy.

Morgan Ryan will act as quizmaster and the judges will include John Henry Martin, principal, and two others selected by the auxiliary. Prizes include a $25 war bond and $10 and $5 in cash to the three highest scores.

Will Take Applications

Abram F. Molyneaux, Jr., who was recently appointed clerk of the Ulster County Pistol Permit Bureau, will be at the county judge's office in the court house Tuesday and Thursdays from 2 until 4 p. m. to receive applications for permits.

Sailor Is Held On Dope Charges

Los Angeles, April 18 (AP)—Narcotics worth $25,000 were smuggled from Japan aboard the battleship Missouri, which arrived here Thursday.

A crewman, Francis Pastoria, Breckenridge, Pa., was arraigned here yesterday on dope smuggling charges. He was arrested Saturday just before the Missouri sailed for Norfolk, Va.

Asst. U. S. Atty. Richard Hayden said Pastoria tried to peddle the morphine to a taxi driver, who turned him over to a federal agent.

The Missouri radioed yesterday that a quantity of morphine was found on the ship after it left here and that several other sailors are under suspicion.

Nearly the entire life of the cicada, or common locust, is spent underground.
